SENATE PASSES 6 RELIEF BILLS; GO TO GOVERNOR

Boost State's Share of Financing.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 13 [Thursday.] —[Special.]—Within the period of a few minutes' time the Illinois senate early this morning placed its approval on the six bills of the agreed relief program, which makes available for relief purposes an additional 5½ millions of state sales tax money in the months August to January, inclusive. The vote was 44 to 0.

Only three signatures are needed now to transform the bills into law. The names to be written on the measures are those of Gov. Henry Horner, Thomas F. Donovan, lieutenant governor and presiding officer of the senate, and John P. Devine, speaker of the house.

Meets Cook County Demands.

The appropriation bill is the key measure and embodies the insistent demand of Cook county Democrats for an increase in the state's share in relief financing, a position to which the governor finally was won over. The state's contribution, which has been 2 millions monthly, will be raised to 2½ millions for August and 3 millions for each of the remaining months until Feb. 1 of next year.

Companion bills remedy the situation in which Chicago and the townships throughout the state that took over relief administration from the Illinois Emergency Relief commission on July 1 found they could not use relief funds to pay relief workers. These governmental units are authorized in one bill to pay costs out of relief funds and are compelled to keep costs in Cook county to 8 per cent of total relief expenditures and to 5 per cent downstate.

Wrangle Over "Ghosts."

The short session of the upper chamber this morning was preceded by one equally brief, at noon yesterday, in which the senators advanced to third reading the program measures adopted earlier in the week by the house. No amendments were offered, and it took only several seconds, literally, for Senator Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago], Mayor Kelly's spokesman in the senate, to push them up to the passage stage.

This action was followed by the usual wrangle over "ghost" voting, which concluded with a few of the members getting unanimous consent to leave their votes and skip the early hour meeting. The senators scattered then to various retreats from Springfield's sunbaked streets, some going to St. Louis for the Cubs-Cardinals ball game, while others plunged into the city's "made" lake or found sanctuary in air conditioned barrooms.

May Call Another Session.

Speculation continued among the legislators whether or not the governor will call the general assembly into a fifth special session. If he does, two new records will be set: this would be the first assembly to be called into special session five times, and it would be the ninth such session to be convened by Gov. Horner in his gubernatorial span of four years.

A fifth special session would be convened mainly, according to the governor's advisers, to enact school legislation recommended by his educational commission. This legislation would be confined, it was said, to the establishment of an unsalaried, nonpartisan state board of education [whose executive officer would be the state superintendent of public instruction] to advise as to school needs and policies.

Convention Proposal in Mind.

The governor is determined, according to reports, to include also a proposal to submit to the voters at the November election the question of calling a constitutional convention. The purpose of the convention, it is believed here, would be to permit downstate agriculturists to change the revenue article of the state constitution so an income tax could be laden on city earners.

Early yesterday the governor said he was at the point of deciding if he will issue the call, but the day passed without any announcement from him. It was reported that he has been advised both ways on the question.

TERMS SECRET; JUDGE TO RULE ON PACT TODAY

Attorneys Expect Court's O. K.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Complete agreement concerning custody of 4 year old Marylyn, the daughter over whom Mary Astor has been suing her ex-husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, and for disposition of the screen star's famous lavender diary was announced tonight as having been worked out. R. R. Woolley, attorney for Miss Astor, and Joseph Anderson, counsel for Thorpe, said the plan in writing would be submitted to Superior Judge Goodwin Knight in court at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Anderson and Woolley both said they had "no doubt the judge will approve the settlement."

It was the first time attorneys in the case had issued a formal statement presaging official end to the "dirty linen" case, in which bitterness and highly spiced testimony involving famous names had kept all Hollywood divided between apprehension and anticipation for several weeks.

Silent Until Court Rules.

"The entire matter of a settlement has been gone over, and Miss Astor's attorneys and I will submit it to Judge Knight in the morning," Anderson stated. "We will not discuss the particulars until Judge Knight reviews them."

Certain sections of the settlement draft never will be known, he said, adding that disposition of the diary "always will remain a mystery."

Anderson also stated that "we have not placed possession or control of the diary out of our hands."

Other sources with weight of influence and information in the case insisted that, following a visit by County Clerk L. E. Lempton to Judge Knight's chambers during one of today's conferences over the out-of-court agreement, an understanding had been reached under which the famous diary was to be surrendered by Dr. Thorpe and placed in a strong box in the county hall of records, where neither Miss Astor nor her ex-husband would have a key to it, but access would, instead, be through judiciary offices of the county.

Insists They "Control" Diary.

When asked tonight if this report were correct, Anderson said "we still have control of the diary." When asked its present whereabouts he replied, "I cannot say."

The diary became the outstanding issue today when a three cornered battle developed for possession of the two volume document in which Miss Astor described with amazing frankness her friendships with at least six of Hollywood's outstanding male stars.

Miss Astor, who had testified on the witness stand that the book was stolen from her home by her former husband, demanded the diary's return. Dr. Thorpe, contending the diary was his only defense against possible future suits by Miss Astor, insisted that it remain with him.

Film Magnates Step In.

Then the motion picture industry—itself jittery for days over the possibility of the intimate journal tarnishing the most brilliant names on its roster, with a consequent loss in box office millions—stepped in with the demand that the dynamite diary and all its copies be burned.

The negotiations which led up to the out-of-court agreement consumed the five scheduled court hours of the day, with witnesses being held for possible resumption of testimony that never materialized.

Anderson would not comment upon

U. of C. Prof. Is Run Out of Illinois Town

Maynard C. Krueger, assistant professor of economics at the University of Chicago and state secretary of the Socialist party, yesterday forwarded a complaint to Gov. Horner concerning the treatment that was accorded him and two union organizers last Saturday at Warsaw, Ill., 225 miles southwest of Chicago on the Mississippi river.

The professor related that he and his companions, Samuel Laderman, an official of the Chicago local of the Pocketbook Workers union, and C. H. Mayer of Carlinville, also an adherent of the organization, had been "run out of town" by Warsaw vigilantes.

Planned Public Meeting.

"We went there to arrange for a public meeting, at which we planned to tell the Warsaw people about sweatshop conditions in the pocketbook industry," he said. "There is a factory there and we wanted the people to hear the truth about its treatment of employés.

"We had notified the state's attorney of Hancock county, Louis Irwin, that we were coming. When we arrived a tense atmosphere prevailed, as the American Legion had already published notices that its members would tolerate no outside interference from union organizers.

"We began driving up and down the main street, looking for a vacant store to rent for the meeting, and some men began following us. They were close to us when we stopped at the postoffice to see the mayor, Esper Ziegler, who is also postmaster, and ask if a permit was necessary for the gathering.

Charges Protection Refused.

"Five of these men, all tall, strong fellows, approached and told us we had ten minutes to get out of town. Then they changed and told us to go at once. One man tried to drag Laderman out of the car. We sought out the town marshal, Guy Bell, and asked him to take us under his protection to the mayor. He advised us to get out of Warsaw. So we went."

Prof. Krueger said that he and his companions planned to return to Warsaw with "proper witnesses" and to carry their fight into court if their right to speak and organize the pocketbook workers is threatened again.

He added that his family was well known in Warsaw, which is near Keokuk, and that most of his relatives were "on the other side—bankers and manufacturers and the like."

GIVES BIRTH TO TENTH BABY IN 10 YEARS IN $500,000 STORK RACE

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. John Nagle last night gave birth to her tenth baby in ten years to place her well up among the leaders in the Charles Vance Millar "baby marathon" for a prize of $500,000.

Under the terms of the late Toronto lawyer's will, the mother giving birth to the most babies here in the ten years following his death will receive the residue of his estate. The deadline is Oct. 31, 1936.

Mrs. Martin Kenny, with twelve children, insists she leads the race. Mrs. Arthur Timleck, Mrs. Grace Bagnato, and Mrs. Nagle dispute Mrs. Kenny's claim.

A TRICK RULING PERILS JOB OF POSTMISTRESS

West Point, N. Y., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The latest maneuver in the political sleight-of-hand which seems certain to oust Miss Grace A. Harrington, 62, as postmistress at West Point appeared today. The trick evidently is foolproof, as it technically eliminates not only Miss Harrington but every one else.

The reason given for her disqualification as a contender in the examination for the position was that she did not meet the requirements that such a contender must have lived within the delivery limits of the post for at least a year before application for examination.

Miss Harrington during her eight years as postmistress has lived outside the limits of the army post. This, however, was not her fault, for the only persons permitted to live on the reservation are officers, enlisted men, and cadets at the military academy. None of these, however, are permitted to hold government posts.

Previously rumors that Miss Harrington was to be ousted in a political patronage deal aroused such widespread protests that Postmaster General Farley's hand was temporarily stayed.

LINDBERGH MAY RETURN TO U. S. WITHIN 6 MONTHS

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, friends said tonight, "hopes to be able to return home within six months." It was explained that the colonel, who left America last December because he wished to escape the spotlight of publicity, was as determined as ever to live his own private life.

He made up his mind, friends here asserted, that he will not return to the United States until guaranteed respect for his wish to live quietly, but hopes now this may be possible within six months.

He Has Double Trouble and It Comes by Air

Retribution, riding on the radio waves, caught up yesterday with Thomas Cavallone, 22 years old, 5165 Wentworth avenue, and ruined his honeymoon before it was three hours old.

In 1935 a young girl loved Thomas [it is her own story] not wisely but too well. Then Thomas left and went to Brooklyn. No letters came from him and the hapless young woman gave him up for lost. She began sewing tiny garments and trying to hide them from her friends.

Gets Happiness Second Hand.

Three months ago there came into this life an unwanted mite without a father's name. And ever since a young mother has been listening to the happy statements of the brides and grooms at the marriage license bureau, as broadcast three times a week over W-G-N—and contrasting their lot with hers.

Yesterday Thomas Cavallone and Miss Rose Curcia, 18 years old, of Brooklyn, were among the couples interviewed for the radio. Thomas said they had met at a party in Brooklyn and that he was going to place on the bride's finger his own mother's wedding ring. The wedding would be solemnized immediately in the marriage court and there would be a party in the evening in his brother's tavern on the south side.

Police Separate Newlyweds.

When the young mother heard this she hurried to the police. At 4:30 p. m. policemen appeared at the home of Bridegroom Cavallone and carted him off to the Stockyards station, leaving the bride weeping.

Cavallone was still behind bars last night, hoping that some one would furnish $1,100 bonds for his release.

Expose County Office Fraud Ring; 3 Held

State's attorney's investigators held three men in custody last night as principals in a bold swindle by which $9,451 of estate funds was taken from the office of John E. Conroy, clerk of the Circuit court.

Three other men, employès in the clerk's office, also were reported to be under arrest, although this could not be confirmed. It was said that the fraud ring may be found responsible for the embezzlement of more than $50,000 in public funds from county offices.

Neither Clerk Conroy nor Eugene J. O'Connor, investigator for the blue sky division of the state's attorney's office, would disclose details of the swindles or the identities of those held. Such information as was available came from other sources.

Not an Uncommon Practice.

Misuse of public funds held in trust has not been uncommon in Cook county offices during recent years. Robert M. Sweitzer, former county clerk, left office owing the county $414,000, according to an audit of his accounts. This sum is still unpaid. Two investigations have been made concerning the embezzlement of nearly $200,000 from jury funds.

Those known to be under arrest last night are James N. Tilton, 57 years old, a disbarred lawyer; Benjamin Shear, 46 years old, a WPA worker, the father of three children, and Ernest Eckels, 43 years old, a saloon keeper at 1318 East 63d street. They were held at outlying stations last night after questioning throughout the day.

Questioned with them was Nick Juffra, former boss of Al Capone's beer delivery service. He is now an employé of the Englewood Wholesale Liquor company.

Obtained Insurance Money.

The swindle about which these men have been questioned concerned the $9,451 of life insurance left by Weir Williams, former sales director of a finance company, who committed suicide a year ago in his home at 6039 Sheridan road.

His father, Carl S. Williams, 70 years old, 2233 Orrington avenue, Evanston, and his divorced wife, Mrs. Vera Beryl Williams, both sought the estate. A ruling by Circuit Judge Stanley Klarkowski giving the money to Mrs. Williams was reversed by the Illinois Appellate court, which awarded it to the father.

When, last June 25, his attorneys sought the money in Conroy's office, where it was held in escrow, they learned it had been paid by check five months before to a man representing himself as Carl S. Williams.

Signatures Are Forged.

Subsequent investigation disclosed that the pseudo Williams had obtained a release order for the money from Judge George Fred Rush. The petition for this order revealed that the signatures of Williams and a witness were forged.

The check for $9,451 issued by the clerk's office also bore the forged signature of Williams, and the indorsement of Juffra and the liquor company.

Juffra told investigators he indorsed the check as a favor to Saloonkeeper Eckels, who was a customer of the liquor concern. The man introduced to Juffra as Williams was Shear, it was learned.

REBELS PUSHED BACK IN SIEGE OF SAN SEBASTIAN

Women Fight to Hold City for Madrid.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 12. —(AP)—Government forces tonight defeated rebels besieging the twin communities of San Sebastian and Irun as a prelude, their leaders said, to an offensive against Gen. Emilio Mola's rear guard.

In the day-long hard fighting, shared by men and women of the Popular Front militia, the insurgents were dislodged from favorable positions before the two cities—positions which yesterday seemed to give the rebels a key to the northern coast through the port of Pasajes.

[Rebel headquarters at Burgos said government forces are fleeing from San Sebastian and that its surrender is imminent.]

Fascist artillery was blown off Picoketa mountain, commanding Irun, by fire from Fort Guadalupe and San Sebastian. Three-fourths of the rebel militia was in retreat toward Pamplona.

Rebels Fear Rear Guard Attack.

The projected march against the Mola rear guard had been feared by Fascist forces and was a major reason for their attack on the San Sebastian area. By capture of this seaport they had hoped to remove any chance of attack from the rear when the army turned southward to lay siege to Madrid.

Positions at Tolosa, which the rebels captured yesterday, were reported unchanged with little fighting. Government officers said the rebels were pushed back less than a half mile outside Renteria.

The government artillery at Arliaz, from atop a mountain in front of Oyarzun, shelled the rebel communications road two miles away. The loyalist gun crews were aided by instruction from French socialist artillerymen. Several direct hits were scored, tearing up the highway and blocking it to rebel convoys.

Evidence of Coaching.

Among machine gun squadrons atop Three Crowns mountain there also was evidence of coaching by expert machine gunners. Men and women in the militia were wasting fewer cartridges and their aim was much better, improved by lessons in marksmanship from French comrades.

The loyalist field guns, constructed at least 15 years ago, were using shells many of which had been manufactured in 1910.

Women dressed in overalls with bandanas around their foreheads swabbed the guns while the men pointed and fired them. The women also carried shells from the ammunition dump.

Inhabitants Relieved.

San Sebastian was jubilant tonight over the "successful resistance" of its comparatively untrained militia which up to three weeks ago had been virtually unarmed.

Although water and food still were rationed, inhabitants for the first time felt a sense of relief from the siege which oppressed this city for three weeks.

Twenty-five Belgian volunteers, who were stopped at the frontier, finally were welcomed into Irun today to fight with the Popular Front troops. They said 2,000 of their countrymen are coming by boat to Pasajes with a full cargo of arms.

Government military headquarters here said rebels are rushing new guns and ammunition from Pamplona to reinforce their columns. Three batteries of new French 75's passed through Vera today en route to the Oyarzun front.

The popular front government at San Sebastian decreed all arms in the hands of citizens must be handed over immediately to the commissar of war under penalty of death for refusal.

Rebel Bomb Badajoz.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

CAIA, Portugal, Aug. 12.—Badajoz, which is now surrounded by Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel troops, was subjected to a terrific bombardment by rebel airplanes this afternoon.

Four tri-motored planes returned again and again dropping loads of bombs into the panic stricken town. From a position on the hills on the Portugese side of the frontier, civilians could be seen rushing into the open from all directions.

In the town itself the civil guard, after an abortive rising last week, again has risen on the side of the insurgents. They are said to have won over the carabineers and custom officers and all three are reported to have attacked the loyalist militia.

Street fighting has flared everywhere and barricades are being rushed into position, paving stones, furniture, automobiles, carts, and even mattresses are all being used indiscriminately. The shooting is incessant.

60 German Flyers Aid Rebels.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

SEVILLE, Spain, Aug. 12.—[By courier to Gibraltar.]—Gen. Francisco Franco, the rebel commander-in-chief, is preparing to launch an insurgent air fleet, including newly received German Junker bombers, five German pursuit planes and seven Italian Caproni bombers on Madrid.

At the Tablada airport 26 planes, not including those put on patrol, were counted.

It is an amazing sight to go up behind the front lines and see the befezzed Moorish troops greedily eating a special stew with their fingers while waiting to move into action, and then to return to the airport and see German and Italian aviators manning the Junkers and Capronis.

Junkers Painted Over.

The Junkers are painted dark green and their original markings are covered with a large black ball toward the tail. Red, yellow and purple Spanish insignia are rudely painted on the wings and there is a white rebel cross, as opposed to Madrid's red, on the tail. The Capronis are painted more carefully.

About sixty German aviators, copilots, and radio men, and seventeen Italians are staying at the Hotel Cristina here, and instructions regarding buses to the airport are posted in the hotel lobby in German.

All evidence is that the German and Italian military aviators expect to fly the planes themselves.

Madrid Set for Purge.

MADRID, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Spanish loyalist troops today battered again at the gates of Oviedo, close by besieged San Sebastian on the bay of Biscay, and sought to turn back the Fascist march in that sector.

Far to the south, troops reinforced with new militia volunteers were flung against the African forces imported by Rebel General Francisco Franco. Aerial bombardment of Fascist Granada, Cordoba and Seville impended.

[Contact between the rebel army of the south and Gen. Emilio Mola's northern Fascists was reported today by the Seville insurgent radio station. A broadcast from there asserted the two armies met 60 miles east of Badajoz and predicted fall of that city momentarily. Dispatches from Tangier indicated Gen. Franco's troops were poised for the march north to Madrid. Twelve thousand Moroccan soldiers were expected to participate in the advance.]

Chicago Consul Dropped.

Continuing the purge of suspected Fascists on the diplomatic rolls, the government today dropped the name of Sebastian de Romero, consul at Chicago, and José Gonzales, secretary of the consulate at Galveston, Tex.

President Manuel Azana ordered dissolution of religious orders and courts of justice in territory controled by the rebels.

The government, summarizing its position tonight, insisted substantial gains were apparent in the campaign to put down rebellion.

Capture of Albacete, Toledo, Guadalajara, and the Island of Ibiza in the Mediterranean were listed as victories. Rebel attempts to crush San Sebastian, Malaga, Valencia, Alicante, and Barcelona were crushed, the government insisted.

Two Rebel Generals Executed.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

BARCELONA, Spain, Aug. 12.—Gen. Manuel Goded and Gen. Alvaro Fernandez Burriel paid the penalty for treason today. They were executed by a firing squad in the historic fortress of Montjuich, the scene of innumerable military executions, for their part in the rebellion. The sentence of the court martial, which yesterday convicted the two generals, was executed by a picket from the loyal Tarragona regiment.

In the patio of the fortress the two generals, who were calm, were placed side by side facing the picket which, at a drop of the sword, fired a volley, then another. After the execution some one shouted, "Viva La Republica!" which all present repeated.

Goded was undersecretary of war during the Berenguer uprising in 1930, and as such made an effort to save the lives of the republican heroes, Capt. Fermyn Galan and Capt. Garcia Hernandez, executed for their part in the Jaca uprising in December, 1930.

SPANISH REBELS MOVE TO HOIST MONARCHY FLAG

Plan to Fly Red and Yellow Banner Saturday.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 12.—The mask came off the rebel movement tonight. All pretense of "saving" the republic was abandoned—they are to hoist the red and yellow banner of the monarchy.

His voice trembling with emotion, Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, rebel commander at Seville, announced on his radio that on Saturday, which is the fiesta of the Virgen de los Reyes, long venerated by Spanish men at arms, the new colors would be hoisted and a military review would be held in Seville in honor of the historic event.

The Virgen de los Reyes is the 13th century wooden image that, gorgeously appareled and resplendent with a million dollars' worth of jewels, glows above the high altar of the cathedral at Seville. She is associated with feats of arms and, as Queipo put it, "all the grandeur of the Spanish monarchy."

Back to Old Flag.

Queipo did not say that the movement was to be henceforth monarchist. He simply said that the red and yellow flag was the one to which "we all swore allegiance."

This correspondent saw the same Queipo swear allegiance to the red, yellow and purple—the purple added from the ancient pendon of Castile—when the republic came to Spain in an atmosphere of carnival in 1931 after a year of abortive military conspiracy in which Queipo took an active part. There was the night, too, when José Antonio Primo de Rivera and his brothers attempted in a Madrid café to beat up the flamboyant general to whom everybody pointed as leading a republican conspiracy.

Which Bourbon?

Whether, if successful, the rebels would call on the Bourbons [the former reigning family] and if so which, remains to be seen.

Queipo was pushed to his sensational announcement by the Fascist-monarchist elements in Seville who have got him in their grasp. And Franco?

This is the mystery of the movement. Franco says nothing. Queipo takes the bows. The prestige of the little generalissimo of the rebellion is sorely battered as a result of his failure to get his troops across from Spanish Morocco in time to attack Madrid jointly with Gen. Emilio Mola, commander of the northern rebel army.

Queipo Denounces Franco.

It is reported that at a conference of Gens. Queipo, Franco, Orgaz, and Varela in Seville, Queipo read telegrams from Gen. Mola and Gen. Miguel Cabanellas, head of the provisional government at Burgos, reflecting on Franco's courage, and then he denounced the general in whom they all put their hopes. He used lurid language in casting the doubt of the chiefs on Franco's essential manliness.

Gen. Franco's columns have suffered a setback at Badajoz, near the Portuguese frontier, but are prepared, it is said, to cut off the town and continue the drive northward as there is no time to lose.

Two Frenchmen here who had been two days with the Foreign Legion, in the vanguard of the invaders, reported many atrocities by the enemy.

No Amnesty or Pardon.

"The masses, when they saw the troops coming, dynamited wells and executed rightist prisoners," they said. "And then the Tercio [Carlists, or royalists] entered, as their famous namesakes must have done in Holland, burning, pillaging and executing. Within twenty minutes every able bodied man who looked as though he might have been fighting was shot in the plaza. One hundred, two hundred in every town. Naturally they are pillaging."

Firing squads were functioning in Algeciras last night, proving that Gen. Queipo meant it when he said: "Amnesty and pardon are two words erased from the dictionary."

My friend, Lieut. Antonio Herrera Corpas, was stood against a wall after a summary court martial. He was a republican. When the rebels failed to take the La Linea garrison the night the rebellion broke [July 18] he was on sick leave. He was hardly able to stand the next morning when he appeared and took command from Sergt. Sanchez.

He refused to give more arms to the populace. It was he who ran up the white flag and arranged for a peaceful surrender; not a shot was fired while he was in command. He was nevertheless charged with "betraying the nation." His widow, a refugee at Gibraltar, was allowed to attend his burial. There is a baby, and another on the way.

In the early hours of the evening, four prisoners, republicans, were taken from the dungeons of the barracks where the Moors were quartered at La Linea and escorted to the customs house at the frontier, where they were told they were released. Exultant, they started across neutral ground. Then somebody raced the engine of a motor truck and, covered by this, the Moors fired. One only of the four reached the British gates.

Alfonso Confers with Sons.

DELLACH, Austria, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Alfonso of Spain, who gave up his throne in a rebellion without bloodshed five years ago, conferred with his two sons tonight and was believed debating his chances of returning to power in the midst of the present bitter civil war.

Jaime and Juan, his two younger sons, were called here by the one time monarch and there were rumors he might also discuss a plan of action with Queen Mother Marie of Rumania.

Juan, prince of the Asturias, is heir presumptive to the vacated Spanish throne and his conference with his father was deemed so important that a scheduled memorial service for a third late son, Gonzalo, was postponed until tomorrow.

Neutrality Pact Is Snagged by German Demand on Spain

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—The German answer to the French note proposing nonintervention in the Spanish civil war will be delayed until the Spanish leftist government in Madrid has given a satisfactory reply to German protests regarding the recent execution of four German nationals by a Marxist tribunal at Barcelona, it was indicated in official quarters today.

The German answer, it was said, is all ready for delivery and is represented as being what might be called "a conditional agreement in principle," the conditions being: first, nonintervention must be "of indivisible meaning" and must comprise all the powers including soviet Russia.

Second, it must be "of totalitarian meaning and must extend not only to arms but also to money, men and materials."

Awaits Reply to Protest.

But Germany, it was indicated, is unwilling to tie her hands even to the extent of such an agreement while the Spanish reply to her protest is still outstanding. The Madrid government, it was pointed out, apparently is taking its time about replying and it was hinted that Germany does not intend to have her protests ignored.

The German press is full of reports about aid and comfort given to the Madrid government, especially its communist adherents, by the French Popular Front and soviet Russia, and according to German charges, this aid involves arms, especially war planes, as well as money, men, and materials.

France Sets Aug. 17 Deadline.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The French council of ministers was summoned into special session for tomorrow to cope with a crisis in the Blum government's drive for a general European neutrality accord applying to the Spanish civil war.

Setting Aug. 17 as the absolute deadline for completion of the agreement, said informed sources, France looked toward the possibility of lending aid to the Madrid government in keeping with its statement that it reserved the right to dispatch war supplies if general neutrality could not be achieved.

Sweden, Norway, and Denmark informed the foreign office today they had approved the French formula for nonintervention.

Belgium Blocks Arms Shipment.

ANTWERP, Belgium, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A rebel agent for Spanish Fascists, it was reported here today, had purchased 2,500 pistols, 650 machine guns, and 50,000,000 cartridges, but was unable to move them from the Antwerp docks because of this government's neutrality stand.

Stevedores refused to load a Dutch steamer cargo of 49 railway cars containing arms, partly of Belgian and partly of German manufacture, which the workers said were consigned to Spain.

Spain Speeds Yank Evacuation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D C., Aug. 12.—The state department today announced that the American embassy at Madrid has obtained special authority from the Spanish minister of finance to supply all Americans in need of dollar exchange with travelers' checks or bank drafts through the International Banking corporation of Madrid. This arrangement, at the official peseta rate of exchange, will make it possible for many people to leave the country who otherwise could not do so.

It was announced, meanwhile, by William H. Standley, acting secretary of the navy, that two destroyers from the scouting force would replace the battleship Oklahoma in Spanish waters.

SPANISH CONSUL IN CHICAGO, OUSTED AS REBEL, LEFT IN APRIL

Sebastian de Romero, Spanish consul in Chicago who was reported in dispatches from Spain yesterday to have been removed from his duties because of suspected Fascist sympathies, has been on a leave of absence since April 6, it was learned last night at the Spanish consulate, 116 South Michigan avenue.

Luis Perez, secretary of the consulate, said that Romero and his wife are visiting her relatives in Athens, Greece.

"If the reports are true," Perez continued, "I doubt if Señor Romero will return to Chicago. We have received no mail from Spain since the war started. Señor Romero had planned to be back by early October."

AUSTRIA SIGNS ECONOMIC PACT WITH GERMANY

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Initialing of an economic accord between Austrian and German ministerial officials was announced here tonight.

The signatures were a first step toward facilitating trade between Austria and Germany.

They removed obstacles blocking free travel between the neighboring countries and raised such quotas for Austrian exports to Germany as horses, cattle, lumber, and dairy produce in exchange for increased coal shipments from Germany to Austria. Further economic arrangements are pending.

DUBLIN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Countess Louise de Brantes, the former Lady Moira-Forbes, has obtained a French decree annulling her marriage to Count de Brantes, it was announced today by her father, the Earl of Granard. Countess de Brantes, who married the French nobleman Dec. 20, 1934, is the granddaughter of the late Ogden Mills, and a niece of Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the United States treasury.

GREEN ASSERTS A. F. OF L. STAND TO BE NEUTRAL

Denies Organization Will Back Roosevelt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor today insisted that the organization as such would remain strictly neutral in the forthcoming presidential election despite efforts of the so-called labor "Non-Partisan league," John L. Lewis, and other radical labor leaders to line up the entire federation membership behind President Roosevelt.

Mr. Green, in an interview, strongly denied that Maj. George L. Berry, president of the so-called non-partisan league, which has just closed a convention here, could claim general federation backing of President Roosevelt.

Seen as Helpful to Landon.

Green's statement tended to emphasize indications that the warfare between the A. F. of L., and ten insurgent unions headed by Lewis, which have been suspended for their industrial organization activities, will have widespread political repercussions favorable to Gov. Landon, the Republican presidential candidate. It was all the more significant because Green personally has indorsed the candidacy of President Roosevelt.

Green acknowledged that the word is going around among the craft unions of the A. F. of L.—those opposed to the mass union principle advocated by Lewis—that "a vote for Roosevelt is a vote for Lewis."

"There is a lot of that going on," he declared.

Intimates Zeal Cools.

Green even intimated that his own zeal for Roosevelt has been somewhat cooled by his antagonism to ambitious Lewis, whose 1940 presidential aspirations are well known. Although he is on record as favoring the reelection of the President when asked whether he would participate in the Roosevelt drive, Green replied:

"I have no plans for speeches."

It also was disclosed that Green will not be a member of the Democratic labor committee being organized by Daniel J. Tobin, president of the Teamsters' union and a member of the A. F. of L. council. Tobin claims that all other A. F. of L. council members, except William Hutcheson, head of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Jobbers, who is chairman of the Republican labor committee; Fran! Duffy, another Carpenters' officer; John Coefield, head of the Plumbers' and Steamfitters' union, and eastern Republican labor chairman, and Matthew Woll, head of the Photo Engravers, will be on the Democratic committee.

Claims Are Discounted.

Discounting claims made by Lewis and Berry, the latter a New Deal pay roller since the inception of the NRA, at the so-called Non-Partisan league's convention here, Green declared:

"The American Federation of Labor is not in the league. We will not indorse any candidate. Our non-partisan committee will merely prepare parallel reports on the labor records of the two chief candidates and on the platforms. We will send out all data to our membership and they will have to make up their own minds."

The 10 unions suspended by the A. F. of L. executive council on charges of insurrection in their efforts to spread industrial unionism have a combined membership of fewer than 1,000,000, while the remaining membership of the federation is approximately 3,000,000. The great majority of these 3,000,000 members, labor leaders here declare, are loyal to the traditional craft union principle and bitterly opposed to the ambitions of John L. Lewis.

Berry Again Attacks Landon.

Berry came out today with another blast directed at Gov. Landon's labor record, quoting a report issued by Leslie Doud, president of the Kansas branch of the so-called Non-Partisan league, which charged that the Landon administration in Kansas was dominated by "the school book trust and the light and power trust."

"Of the two, the school book trust is the most rotten and the stench of it reaches to the high heavens," Doud's "report" said. "The light and power trust reaches into other business groups, however, and is the direct alliance between Landon and the 'big business' of Kansas."

FRENCH SENATE VOTES 1,500 NEW PLANES FOR ARMY OVER 5 YEARS

PARIS, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The French senate today voted a five year program to keep the French army constantly supplied with at least 1,500 new planes. Enactment of the program followed quickly reports here that Germany now has more than 2,500 planes.

Air Minister Pierre Cot asserted a special fund of 2,775,000,000 francs [about $182,595,000] would be spent in keeping present aircraft up to date and for replacements. Some machines already are being added to the fleet, which, with those provided under the new program, will give France approximately 2,500 planes fit for active service.

French Army Chief in Poland.

WARSAW, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A new French rearmament loan to Poland predicated on coöperation between the French and Polish armies may result from a five day visit of Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of staf of the French army, here. The Frenchman, arriving today, was welcomed by Inspector General Edward Rydz-Smigly of the Polish army and other dignitaries, including the French ambassador.

DENIES GUILT IN SLAYING OF WIFE BY TORCH

St. Petersburg, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Tearfully pleading innocent, John Spanglehour, 48 year old self-styled herb doctor, heard a first degree murder indictment read today charging him with the torch death of his wife at their auto trailer home near here.

"I didn't do it, I tell you, I didn't do it," Spanglehour cried while a constable read the charges ordered by a coroner's jury which investigated the death of the 48 year old mother of five children.

Mrs. Spanglehour died in flames Monday on an outdoor bed at their trailer home in an isolated woods south of St. Petersburg.

Spanglehour and his 12 year old son, Ray, gave testimony before the coroner's jury in which the father discussed Indian witchcraft and told of a "curse" which he said neighbors placed on his wife and boy.

Plane Takes A.W. Mellon's Son to Hospital at Miami

Miami, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Paul Mellon, 29, son of Andrew W. Mellon, the former treasury secretary, was flown here today from Bimini and placed in a Miami hospital for treatment of an "acute febrile condition." The plane was sent from Miami to pick up young Mellon at the request of Capt. Ed Moore of the cruiser Osprey, who radioed an air line here. Hospital attendants said Mellon's condition was not serious.

FOREST FIRES ON NEW RAMPAGES; WORST IN YEARS

Roar Out of Control on Shifting Winds.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Threatening a repetition of the 1918 holocaust, when damage amounted to $60,000,000, several forest fires roared out of control in the north woods tinderbox again today. State officials meantime acted to arrest persons charged with starting blazes in the woods.

At least seven fires in the northern part of the state broke away on renewed rampages during the day. Shifting winds set at naught much of the fire fighters' work in building fire breaks.

Clouds of smoke rolled into Duluth and Cloquet, almost obscuring the sun and inspiring fears a repetition of the Moose Lake fire of 1918 might be in the offing.

Even in St. Paul, 200 miles south of the nearest fire zone, a haze of smoke from the northern blazes invaded the city. Motorists here were cautioned to be particularly careful in driving at night.

Shortage of Equipment.

Battling against conditions described by State Forester Grover Conzet as the "worst in 25 years and growing worse daily," fire fighters were handicapped by lack of sufficient equipment and absence of needed rain.

One of the worst blazes was in the Markham-Palo area, near where the body of one fire victim already has been found. That fire is spreading toward Bassett, Toimi and Fairbanks, small communities of settlers. It was completely out of control.

The scenic Gunflint trail, through the border forests northwest of Grand Rapids, Minn., was closed to trafic.

The Belden and Sandstone fires, the latter a new blaze, were raging out of control and hundreds of firefighters were seeking to get ahead of the flames to build fire breaks.

Blaze Defies 400 Men.

The Pequayan lake fire, 25 miles southeast of Duluth, got away from the 400 fighters in that area and more men were being rushed to the scene.

East of Nogas, about five miles southeast of Nashwauk, another fire started and was out of control. At Crusier lake, 30 miles east of International Falls and north of Lake Kabetogama, where the Superior National forest is ablaze, a large fire was reported and men were being hurried to the scene.

North of Hovland, near the Arrowhead river, a blaze was blackening timber land between Otter lake and Devil's Fish lake. From 12 to 15 fires, some started by heat lightening were known to be burning in the Moose Bay and Basswood Falls region.

Periled Towns May Be Saved.

Residents of Bennett and Hawthorne, Wis., prepared to evacuate their homes today as a blaze which shifted three times placed the towns in danger, but late tonight a fire crew appeared to be getting the flames under control.

The fire which has swept over 27,000 acres of timberland on Isle Royale, in Lake Superior, for more than a week, had moved to within a mile of a Chippewa harbor resort before a shift in the wind tonight saved the place from destruction. A motorship and a coast guard cutter stood by. The naval training ship Paducah and the steamer Seminole arrived today with 600 Wisconsin CCC youths, who were put to work aiding the other 1,200 fire fighters.

Fire Reaches Banff Park.

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 12.—(AP)—A forest fire that climbed over the ridge of the great divide from British Columbia and gained the northwest corner of Banff National park worried forestry officials today.

Located in the almost inaccessible Howse River valley, the blaze got its start when embers from a fire in the Blue Berry river district of British Columbia spread into Alberta.

PAIR CHARGED WITH CAR TEST BRIBE ATTEMPT

Two men were booked on bribery charges by the Summerdale police last evening after Milton Robinson, 1619 Edgewater avenue, supervisor of an automobile testing lane at Argyle street and the Marine drive, charged that they offered him $1 for an official O. K. sticker.

The men are William J. Wencil, 43 years old, 7356 Greenview avenue, and Frederick Tabert, 33, of 4451 Kimball avenue. They were locked up for lack of bond and will be arraigned in the Felony court today.

Robinson told Policeman John Douglas, who arrested the men, that the bribe was offered after the brakes on Wencil's 1927 model car were found to be in unsatisfactory condition.

"We were told that we'd lose our jobs if we took bribes," Robinson said. "Well, the person who offers bribes should be punished, too."

Charges were recently placed against several policemen and several WPA workers were dismissed for allegedly accepting money for passing defective cars through the city testing lanes.

WOMEN ON JURY TO HEAR HEWITT MAYHEM CHARGE

Heiress Not in Court, but Will Testify.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 12.—(AP)—With the prosecution seeking to put as many women as possible on the jury, two physicians went to trial today on mayhem conspiracy charges growing out of the sterilization of Ann Cooper Hewitt, young heiress.

Both the accused, Dr. Tilton E. Tillman and Dr. Samuel G. Boyd, sat tight-lipped. Four men and eight women remained tentatively in the jury box when court adjourned.

Diminutive Miss Hewitt, who charged her mother, Mrs. Maryon Hewitt McCarter, tricked her into submitting to the operation, did not appear, but an assistant district attorney said she would testify.

Miss Hewitt, daughter and heir of the late Peter Cooper Hewitt, started the sensational case by filing a $500,000 damage suit against her mother and the physicians. She contended Mrs. McCarter, custodian of the family fortune, plotted the sterilization operation to gain personal possession of the estate, estimated variously at from $1,300,000 to $10,000,000.

Shortly thereafter Mrs. McCarter appeared at a New Jersey hospital and was charged with attempting to commit suicide. She also faces mayhem conspiracy charges here, but New Jersey recently refused her extradition because of litigation pending over her stewardship of Ann's inheritance.

The penalty for mayhem is 1 to 14 years imprisonment.

Woman Seeks $25,000 for Injuries in 'L' Train

Mrs. Celia Stollery, 4660 Broadway, filed suit in the Circuit court yesterday asking $25,000 damages against the Rapid Transit company for injuries allegedly incurred on Dec. 29 when she says she was pushed to the floor of an overcrowded elevated train. Her suit cited a city ordinance provision that enough cars and trains shall be provided by the elevated company to carry passengers comfortably.

PLOTS A WRECK TO GET REVENGE ON HIS PARENTS

Holdredge, Neb., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Sherif Royal Anson tonight revealed a scheme by which, he said, Cecil Hollenhors, 27, attempted to wreak revenge on his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hollenhors of Holdredge, by derailing the Burlington railroad's Silver Streak Zephyr train here last July 24.

Hollenhors was arrested Monday night, and Anson said he confessed he attempted to wreck the fast passenger train by wiring two heavy angle bars to the rails 200 yards west of the Holdredge depot. He told the sherif he sought revenge on his parents, but he did not explain his grudge or how he considered the wreck would give him revenge.

BROKER'S SON FREE ON BOND IN AUTO DEATH

Brother Recently Jailed as Tipsy Driver.

Ford R. Carter Jr., 30 years old, of Barrington, son of a former president of the Chicago Stock exchange, posted bonds of $2,000 at the Wheeling police station yesterday to insure his appearance at the next hearing of the inquest into the death of Ludwig Wittmann, 31 years old, employed as a farm hand near Palatine.

Wittmann was riding a bicycle in Dundee road five miles west of Wheeling on Tuesday night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Carter, whose brother Robert, 28 years old, was sentenced to 10 days in the Bridewell for driving while intoxicated by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the Safety court last May 8.

Police to Investigate.

Wittmann was killed almost instantly. Carter said that he was driving at moderate speed and did not see Wittmann because there were no lights on the bicycle. Deputy Coroner Edward Edelstein ordered the police to make a further investigation and continued the hearing until Aug. 20.

A coroner's jury investigating the deaths of Melvin Goetz, 19 years old, 14733 Loomis street, Harvey, and Gilbert Westenberg, 20 years old, 14543 Myrtle avenue, Harvey, yesterday recommended that the Illinois Central railroad install gates or bell signals at its suburban line crossing at 124th street and Ashland avenue, Calumet Park. Blinker lights are now in use. The two men were killed when their beer truck was struck at the crossing by a suburban train on Tuesday.

Death Toll Hits 584.

The coroner's office reported 584 persons killed in trafic accidents in Cook county from Jan. 1 to 4 p. m. yesterday. Of these deaths 445 occurred in Chicago. In the same period 10,900 persons were injured within the city limits.

FIVE DANGEROUS DRIVERS JAILED IN SAFETY COURT

Five autoists were sentenced to jail for unsafe driving by Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Safety court yesterday.

Benjamin Ansay, 48 years old, 704 Oakton street, Evanston, a machinist, was sentenced to serve ten days when policemen testified that he was "so intoxicated that he fell out of his car" when they attempted to question him. Howard Renner, 23 years old, 6811 East End avenue, sentenced to serve ten days for reckless driving, was allowed five days in which to file an appeal.

Others sentenced were Charles Brandt, 48 years old, 3553 Wallace street, fifteen days, driving while intoxicated; Edward McGrath, 22 years old, 2935 North Natchez avenue, golf caddy, twenty days, reckless driving, and William Bonner, 30 years old, colored, 3721 South La Salle street, fifteen days, leaving the scene of an accident.

Judge Charles S. Dougherty of the Jury court sentenced Norman Connolly, 38 years old, 2225 South Kostner avenue, to five days in jail for reckless driving after his car crashed into another machine.

BRING FULLER'S BODY HOME BY WAY OF ALASKA

Canadian Airways officials announced last night that the body of Dr. Leslie Elmer Fuller, Northwestern university professor who was drowned near Aklavik on the Arctic ocean, is being flown back to Chicago by way of Fairbanks, Alaska.

Dr. Fuller's sons, John and Charles, and two others who accompanied the professor into the Arctic wilds, Arthur L. Gore of Riverside, Cal., and Robert Clutter, 2215 Maple avenue, Evanston, are returning with the body. The message announcing they had taken the Alaskan route home was received by A. W. Clutter, father of Robert.

WORLD JEWISH CONGRESS DRAFTS RELIEF PROGRAM

GENEVA, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The World Jewish congress, split into committee groups, tonight drafted a program for a permanent organization to aid Jews throughout the world and considered a special department to coordinate boycotts of Nazi Germany.

The assembly, first international meeting of Jews, will act on the various committee proposals tomorrow and Friday. One dealt with organization of the congress into a permanent body, to be directed by a council elected for a two year period and meeting annually. An executive committee would supervise administration in coöperation with a number of commissions.

A central bureau on anti-Semitism was suggested by one committee, headed by Prof. Horace M. Kallen of New York. Other suggestions were creation of a Jewish people's fund for aid of needy communities through local national Jewish communal organizations and establishment of a financial institution capitalized by Jewish communities throughout the world.

THREE TEACHERS OUSTED; PROTEST RALLY PLANNED

Taxpayers of the Union Ridge school district, No. 86, are to hold a massmeeting in the schoolhouse, which is at 4600 North Oak Park avenue, tomorrow evening to protest against the school board's dismissal of three teachers.

The teachers, Mrs. Mary Hammond, and Misses Clarabelle Lindsay and Laurine Cleary, were discharged on the formal ground that they had violated their contracts by carrying a complaint over the heads of the local school board to the office of Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools.

Charles O'Hearn, who has been principal of the school for several years, has resigned and it was indicated that the taxpayers want to know whether the board put pressure on him to obtain his letter of resignation.

The Union Ridge district lies outside the city limits in Norwood Park township.

First German Beheaded Under Nazi Kidnaping Law

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Hans Eduard Giese, 32, was beheaded today for the kidnaping on June 16 of the 12 year old son of a Bonn merchant and holding him for ransom. The law making kidnaping a capital offense was introduced by Nazi lawmakers after Giese kidnaped the boy and sent a note threatening to let the boy die a painful and lingering death.

PARDON ASKED FOR CROARKIN, SLAYER OF BOY

Felon Only Accessory to 1926 Crime, Is Claim.

A petition for a pardon or commutation of sentence for Harold J. Croarkin, 36 years old, who is now serving a life sentence in Joliet prison as the slayer nearly ten years ago of 6 year old Walter Frederick Schmith, has been filed with the state pardon and parole board, the state's attorney's office was informed yesterday. The petition was filed by the slayer's uncle, Attorney Francis E. Croarkin, former school trustee.

The slaying of the Schmith boy, call by the authorities at the time the work of a moron, occurred on Dec. 17, 1926. The child was found fatally beaten in the barn loft of the Devon Riding academy at 2100 Devon avenue. The discovery was made by two Catholic priests who were led to the place by Croarkin. The child died several hours after being taken to St. Francis hospital in Evanston.

Hunted Nearly a Week.

Croarkin fled after the finding of the dying boy and was not apprehended for nearly a week. He confessed that he beat the child on the head with a hammer but denied committing any moronic acts.

Attorneys for the slayer entered a defense of insanity at the trial in which a half dozen psychiatrists testified. The defendant did not take the witness stand.

In the pardon petition filed in behalf of Croarkin, who has been a Joliet convict since March, 1927, it is alleged that he was not the actual slayer of the boy, but that the beating was committed by a colored stable hand. The petition alleged that Croarkin, who assisted the Negro in carrying the boy to the loft, had been threatened by the stable hand and was afraid to tell what he knew.

"Misunderstood," Is Claim.

The petition said further that the attorneys representing Croarkin at the trial misunderstood their client and that the only crime he is guilty of is accessory to murder. Affidavits of Croarkin's good conduct in prison were attached to the petition.

His mother, Mrs. Mary J. Croarkin, lives at 6317 Winthrop avenue. He has two sisters and a brother.

The Schmith boy's father, Walter Schmith, a Niles Center policeman, appeared at the state's attorney's office yesterday and asked that the office oppose any move to free Croakin. "If he is released he will be a menace to other children," Schmith declared.

Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Moynihan said that he would recommend that a member of the state's attorney's staf be present when the case comes before the pardon board Oct. 13.

According to police, Powlak was discovered Tuesday bumping his head against the cell bars.

CALLS ON COUNTY G. O. P. CHIEFS TO AID VOLUNTEERS

McCullough Rallies His Forces to Movement.

Perry B. McCullough, state Republican chairman, yesterday urged downstate county chairmen to cooperate with THE VOLUNTEERS, which is enlisting Landon workers in headquarters on the 17th floor of Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan avenue. Mr. McCullough praised THE VOLUNTEERS as "an independent, patriotic organization to restore safe, sane and sound government in America."

MRS. T. J. DONDERS [New Volunteer] [TRIBUNE Photo]

Similar approbation and encouragement has already been given by Mrs. Mary Silvis, state chairwoman. A number of county chairmen have visited VOLUNTEER headquarters, enrolled as members, and gone out with literature to organize units in their communities.

Need of Coöperation Stressed.

Chairman McCullough began his letter to the downstate leaders by saying that "this is a very important communication that requires immediate attention and wholehearted cooperation."

"In order to win in November," it continues, "we must enlist the many thousands of independent voters and Jeffersonian Democrats, who will readily join THE VOLUNTEERS. It is the aim of THE VOLUNTEERS to enroll one million members in Illinois, classified by counties and districts, as canvassers, co-watchers, and speakers.

Organization of Patriots.

"This organization was conceived and launched by a group of patriotic citizens with the sole motive of seeking a method of helping us win the election in November. To this end they have been in consultation with us since the beginning.

"THE VOLUNTEERS are bound to be of tremendous help to you in the campaign. Your coöperation is vital to the success of the Republican party."

THE VOLUNTEERS are already organized in several downstate counties, including Du Page, Macon, Livingston, Morris, Kane, and Kendall. In Cook county they have the support of the entire county committee, headed by Edward F. Moore.

Women's Leaders Join.

New strength to the movement came yesterday to Miss Ruth De Young, chairman of the women's division, from Mrs. Walter Scudder Hart, president, and the board of directors of the Illinois League of Republican Women. Mrs. Hart brought the 25 directors to VOLUNTEER headquarters, where they pledged their support. The membership of the league will be invited to join at a meeting next Monday afternoon in the Morrison hotel.

Miss De Young also announced that Mrs. Clarence G. Goodwin, former president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, will become south side leader of THE VOLUNTEERS' women's division. Mrs. Goodwin and eleven women from south side wards came to Miss De Young's office and as a result of their conference organizations were started in the 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th wards.

Among others who signed membership cards yesterday was Mrs. T. J. Donders, program chairman of the Oak Park Women's club and a precinct committeewoman in the suburb.

Ward Leaders Meet.

More than 50 ward leaders met at headquarters last night to hear the general work of THE VOLUNTEERS explained by Chauncey McCormick, chairman, and specific details from Miss De Young and Julius Miner, director of organization and speakers. Those attending the meeting participated often in the discussion, offering suggestions and commendation, and all left with membership cards to start units in their wards.

Phil Maxwell, head of the music division, coached more than 250 children in the singing of Landon songs in headquarters yesterday and announced that other children's rehersals would be held each Wednesday at 3 p. m.

SISTERS OF SLAIN ACTRESS DEFEND SUITOR SUSPECT

New York, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Mary and Myrtle Takaoka, Japanese actresses, today defended the man sought in Los Angeles in the murder of their older sister, Midi, 25, also an actress.

"If he did it, I understand perfectly," said Myrtle, 18. And Mary, 20, who attended the University of California for two years added: "He was very faithful. He never was fickle."

The man sought by west coast police is Ray Johnson, 39, restaurant owner, who paid court to Midi for two years.

Midi ran screaming from her home in Los Angeles yesterday, her throat slashed. She fell dead on the lawn.

"Three way love," said Detective Captain Hubert Wallis, of the Los Angeles police, and named the other suitor as a New York man, William J. Barchand.

Midi left New York by bus Aug. 2. Barchand was among the passengers, and a romance was blossoming before they reached Chicago.

"But this other man, Johnson, you see, he just loved her so much," said Mary today.

"She is to blame," repeated Myrtle.

Rob Two Couples in Auto; Girls Save Their Jewelry

Two couples, riding in an automobile, were held up early today at 67th street and Knox avenue by four men and compelled to surrender a total of $61. Most of the money was taken from James Bragler, 24 years old, 7123 South Racine avenue. Joseph De Letto, 25 years old, 830 Garibaldi place, gave up only a small amount. The young women with them, Miss Evelyn Wagner, 21 years old, 1905 South Elmwood avenue, Berwyn, and Miss Mildred Bilza, 20 years old, 5124 West 29th place, saved their jewelry by tossing it on the floor of Bragler's car, which the bandits did not take.

HURT IN FALL FROM PORCH.

Lewis Bibel, 75 years old, 3103 Lyndale avenue, was seriously injured yesterday in a fall from a porch he was repairing at 3101 Lyndale avenue. He was taken to the Lutheran Deaconness hospital.

'THE FISHING'S FINE,' IS DAWES' ANSWER TO POLITICS QUERY

Denver, Colo., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The fishing was fine, said Gen. Charles Gates Dawes and a party of well known United States and English business men when asked about politics here today.

With Gen. Dawes, former vice president and ambassador to Great Britain, were Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington railroad; Rufus Dawes, Chicago; Col. Harry Maud, retired British army officer; George B. Dryden, business man; Barney Henry, secretary to Budd; John D. Ames, Chicago publisher, and E. J. Liebold, representative of Henry Ford.

"What do you think of the current political picture?" asked a reporter, knowing that Dawes had fished with former President Hoover in Idaho.

"They say the fish are already biting up at Wagon Wheel Gap," he commented.

ALBERT SARRAUT, FORMER PREMIER OF FRANCE, HERE

Albert Sarraut, who has been twice premier of France, was a dinner guest last evening at the home of Rene Weiller, 1420 Lake Shore drive, French consul in Chicago.

M. Sarraut, who landed in New York on Tuesday, came directly to Chicago, arriving in the afternoon. He and his party left at 10:45 p. m. for Yosemite national park, in California, where they are to attend the sixth annual conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations. The former premier, after the meeting, will tour the United States for two weeks.

Accompanying him are Roger Levy, secretary of the French delegation; Andre Touzet, director of finance for the government of French Indo-China; Jean Laurent, director of the Bank of Indo-China; Etienne Dennery, professor of economics at the University of Paris, and Henry Bonnet, French representative in the league of nations.

RECOVER BODY OF GIRL DROWNED IN BOAT ACCIDENT

The body of Miss Irene Kotowski, 21 years old, of Ivanhoe, Minn., was found in the harbor off Montrose beach last night. She had been missing since Sunday evening when she and Dr. Bernard G. Rux, 31 years old, 5730 Huron street, a dental surgeon, went rowing just before the sudden violent storm. An oar of the boat was washed ashore Tuesday.

Convinced that the dentist also was drowned when the rowboat overturned, coast guardsmen and police concentrated their dragging activities near the spot where the body of Miss Kotowski came to the surface. Her body was identified by her father, L. H. Kotowski, who, with his wife and daughter, has been visiting Dr. Rux and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Rux.

William McGowan, 6 years old, 1518 Schreiber avenue, was saved from drowning yesterday after he had been carried into deep water by the waves off Foster avenue beach. His father and a life guard plunged in after the boy sank and dragged him ashore unconscious. He was revived and taken to the Edgewater hospital, where it was said he was suffering from shock.

FARLEY ASSAILED AS NEW DEAL'S BLUE PENCIL MAN

U. S. Reports Suppressed, Hamilton Charges.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—John Hamilton, Republican national chairman, tonight dubbed James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, the "blue pencil man" of the New Deal.

In a speech here Mr. Hamilton declared that the placing of Farley on leave as postmaster general was a "most constructive step" and that, with the "official censor" away from Washington, some real facts are now coming out in government reports.

Mr. Hamilton also called the roll on several government reports that were suppressed and pigeonholed because they didn't paint acts of the New Deal in bright colors.

Takes Wallop at "Straw Man."

These accusations of "censorship" and "suppression" at Washington followed an onslaught by Mr. Hamilton earlier in the day at Reno, Nev., against the New Deal's attack on state rights and the constitution, which he implied might wipe out the rights of every state to equal representation in the senate if carried to a logical conclusion. Also he took a wallop at Labor's Nonpartisan league as a "political straw man."

"Mr. Farley's absence from Washington has removed from that city the political censor of government reports," said Mr. Hamilton tonight in the Memorial auditorium where he was introduced by Gov. Frank Merriam.

"Doubtless it is by mistake that some of the real facts are beginning to slip out now. For example, a department of commerce report indicated that the silver policy followed by the treasury is making progress by going backwards. It points out that the proportion of silver stocks to gold stocks held by the treasury was smaller at the end of 1935 than it was at the beginning, although the purposes of the law are to increase this proportion. The treasury went out of its way to disapprove the report.

Cites Economic Review.

"The department of commerce has issued an economic review which warns that American business recovery is dependent upon a balanced budget. This review lists as an unfavorable development the increase in the national debt, in violation of Mr. Roosevelt's optimistic report that the 'credit of the government is at its highest.'"

Government reports that have been suppressed at Washington, including one signed by Secretary Wallace, were taken up by Mr. Hamilton.

He spoke of a report by the bureau of agricultural economics which showed that the cotton plow-under and cotton restriction worked hardships on cotton raisers, especially share croppers.

"This report," said Mr. Hamilton, "was suppressed."

Recalls Airmail Cancellation.

Mr. Hamilton spoke of another "famous report which was suppressed," the investigation of the airmail contracts which "Mr. Farley summarily canceled."

"Mr. Farley's action," he said, "and the executive order issued by the President on the same day, calling on the army to fly the air mail, resulted in the death of twelve army flyers.

"The subject was investigated and the investigation apparently proved Mr. Farley was talking through his hat when he charged the airplane companies with collusion and fraud. The fact that the government has recently settled with four of the companies to a total of $601,511 indicates it was Mr. Farley that was guilty of error."

The silver inquiry was taken up by Hamilton, and later the benefit payments under AAA.

Findings Not Made Public.

"There was an investigation as to silver speculation," he said. "It was not made public, either. Of course, I do not want to believe the rumors that the investigation did uncover that certain people connected with the administration made themselves profits by their inside information."

Turning to the AAA, he said: "Were it not for a Republican senator's insistence the country would not yet know to whom the AAA was making out checks. It was through the insistence of Senator Vandenberg of Michigan that Mr. Wallace was finally forced to reveal the figures. They showed the AAA had paid millions to individual corporations, to banks owning an interest in such corporations, and even to one company which is owned by British capital and managed by an official of the New Deal."

EDWARDS COUNTY HAILS BROOKS AS 'NEXT GOVERNOR'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albion, Ill., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—After a busy week in the Democratic areas of downstate Illinois Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, entered rock-ribbed Republican territory today to discuss campaign issues at the Edwards county fair.

The fervor and enthusiasm of last week was missing here today because the Republicans in these parts have been so long accustomed to winning that they can't get excited about it. They calmly told the nominee that there is complete harmony in the party in the 24th congressional district, that the Republican party around here will win with its customary landslide, and that the only unusual thing about it is that Mr. Brooks will get a bigger vote here than any candidate for governor ever received before.

Despite this complacency the Albion Community High school band was out to greet the nominee and the crowd cheered wildly as Bruce Thompson, Republican committeeman in Edwards county, introduced Mr. Brooks as the next governor of Illinois.

In his speech here Mr. Brooks discussed the farm problem and old age pensions.

"The first step toward solving the farm problem is to preserve the market for the farmer, and I am going to use all my energy and any influence I may possess in that direction," he said.

"The aged of Illinois who have contributed through their lives to the development of the state have a right to expect help from the state in a time of difficulty."

COLORADO GIVES GLAD WELCOME TO GOV. LANDON

Crowds Greet Kansan on Return for Visit.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Estes Park, Colo., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Mountain air and sunshine apparently brought a quick recovery today to Gov. Alf M. Landon, who arrived here at noon. He has been ill with a cold and a slight attack of pleurisy for several days and remained in bed last evening while Kansas folk sought him out at the railroad stations on his way to Denver.

"I feel fine today," he said as he waved good-by and disappeared toward the hills where he will rest for a week with his family at the McGraw ranch. He will have no appointments and will undertake no strenuous exercise for two or three days. A physician, Dr. F. M. Loveland of Topeka, accompanied him to Denver.

Hails Borah Victory.

Gov. Landon this morning heard of the victory of Senator William E. Borah in Idaho's Republican senatorial primary yesterday.

"It is a victory for great leadership and statesmanship," he said.

Senator Borah may visit the Republican presidential nominee before the latter leaves here Aug. 20 for his campaign trip to the east.

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war under Woodrow Wilson, a Democrat who is dissatisfied with many of the aspects of the New Deal, is somewhere in Estes Park and may see Landon as soon as the governor has recovered fully.

Gov. Landon appeared at the window of his drawing room last night, pajama clad and with ruffled hair, as his Kansas neighbors sought to bid him good-by. He waved to the crowds in several towns, but did not speak to them.

Throngs Hail Landon.

Thousands came to wish him good luck on his campaign. They crowded around the car and at one town struck up the Landon song of "O, Susanna."

At Denver this morning hundreds crowded round the candidate as he left the train and walked to his automobile to make the trip to the mountains.

The trip to Estes Park was made by way of Boulder. At the University of Colorado there the dean and hundreds of students were out to greet him. He told them it was the most beautiful campus in the country.

Coming out of the burned Kansas plains into this land of green fields, pines and immense rolling vistas of park and mountains, the contrast struck him sharply. The alfalfa fields were green. The wheat was being harvested. The sugar beet fields stretched away in miles of green. Water rolling down from the hills, impounded, did the work that the rains had failed to do in Kansas.

In Boulder several thousands citizens, gathered in front of the courthouse, mobbed the Landon car with kind greetings. The town was decorated with the sunflower emblem.

From Boulder to Estes Park the way wound through valleys and over high passes and dusty roads.

Cool winds swept from the upland passes. There were pines and aspens, white foaming streams, changing cloud shadows on pasture and mountain side, and glimpses of snow and mighty crags. Under these quiet voices Gov. Landon will prepare for the strenuous weeks ahead of him.

CLAIMS 3D PARTY WILL RUN TICKET IN EVERY STATE

In connection with announcement of the complete ticket of the Union Progressive party in Illinois, John Nystul, manager for Congressman William Lemke, whose name as a candidate for President heads the list, declared his confidence yesterday that the Lemke-O'Brien third party ticket will be on the ballot in all forty-eight states either as the Union party ticket or under some other label.

The Illinois state ticket is headed by Newton Jenkins, candidate for United States senator, and a former Republican mayor of Chicago, candidate for governor. The other candidates for state offices are Fred R. Wolf, Rapineau, for lieutenant governor; Stanley J. Pietrowicz, for secretary of state; Harry A. Steinmeyer, Chicago, for state auditor; H. W. Trovillion, Godfrey, for treasurer; Thomas V. Sullivan, Chicago, for attorney general; and Severin H. Hanson, Waukegan, and Rad Burnett, Anna, for congressmen at large.

The petition requires 25,000 signatures which must include 200 from each of fifty counties in the state. Circulation is to be begun at once.

QUEENA MARIO.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Reno, Nev., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Queena Mario, a soprano with the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, obtained an uncontested divorce here today from Wilfred Pelletier, whom she married while he was musical director for the opera company. The hearing was held privately before Judge T. F. Moran. She charged cruelty.

Miss Mario is the daughter of Frank K. Tillotson of Akron, O. She was a newspaper reporter in New York before she entered opera. She was married to Mr. Pelletier on Nov. 23, 1925, in the home of Thomas H. McInerney in Winnetka, Ill. The couple separated several months ago "for professional reasons."

Miss Mario was the author of a mystery novel, "Murder in the Opera House," published in 1934, which attracted widespread notice.

CLOUDS GATHER ON DEMOCRATIC HORIZON AGAIN

Expect Split Over Horner Day at State Fair.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Inquiry around political headquarters and elsewhere yesterday disclosed that the current assertions that peace has been restored between Gov. Horner and the Cook county regular Democratic organization since the April primary battle will be shot to pieces at the state fair at Springfield next week.

While the Republicans are enthusiastically working to put on a big demonstration on Republican day on Wednesday, no trace could be found of Democratic organization plans to participate in the doings of Governor's day on Thursday.

Republicans Charter Specials.

G. O. P. headquarters in the Hotel La Salle was buzzing with arrangements for special trains to carry delegations from every one of the fifty wards and the thirty townships in the suburbs. The Democratic headquarters was deserted except for a young man who said he had not heard of any special trains for Governor's day.

County Chairman Edward F. Moore said that Republican day will be the biggest thing of its kind ever seen at Springfield, that all of the officers of the county committee and practically its entire membership will lead the parade to the capital to honor the state nominees.

No official estimate of the number of Democratic county committeemen who will attend "Horner day," as some of them call it, could be obtained, but it is known that a large number of them have "previous engagements." One prediction from a source considered reliable was that not half of the eighty members of the committee will be on hand Thursday.

Nash, Kelly May Skip It.

Significance also was attached to grave uncertainty whether P. A. Nash, county chairman and national committeeman, or Mayor Kelly will attend the ceremonies in honor of the governor. Both were absent from Governor's day last year, the first public evidence of the break between them and Horner. Apparently this year is to be a repetition of that demonstration of a lack of argreement.

Chairman Nash is in the east and it is reported that he will spend the rest of this month there. It is certain he left no orders to put on a show for Governor's day.

Mayor Kelly was noncommittal when he was asked whether he would be in Springfield on Thursday.

"I'm not sure whether I'll be able to go," he said.

Golf Harmony Misleading.

The most recent arguments that peace has been restored in the Democratic family have been based on a golf party given in honor of Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [Twenty-fourth] at the Medinah Country club Tuesday evening. Gov. Horner appeared there during an evening floor show and told his hearers that everything was rosy. But the only leaders who echoed this assertion were men who had been Horner supporters in the primary. Among the speakers were Michael L. Igoe, United States attorney, and State's Attorney Courtney. They were not in sympathy with the fight against Horner last April.

Refuses to Give Back Jobs.

It also is pointed out that Horner has not put back to work the hundreds of state employés in Cook county whom he fired last winter and spring because they clung to the county organization and refused to support him. Many ward committeemen say that restoration of these hundreds to their old places is the price of peace and that Gov. Horner has taken no step in that direction.

For the first time in many years the occupant of the executive mansion will not occupy the center of the stage on Governor's day. Gov. Horner has obtained United States Attorney General Cummings' services as the speaker of the day.

The speakers on Republican day will be Wayland Brooks, nominee for governor, and Otis F. Glenn, nominee for United States senator.

2 MORE EX-AIDS ASK TO JOIN COURT SUIT AGAINST TOWNSEND

Attorney Benjamin F. Sacharow of Cleveland, who is in charge of the million dollar accounting suit against Dr. Francis E. Townsend and other officials of the Old Age Revolving Pension plan, announced in Chicago yesterday that Dr. Clinton Wunder of New York and Nathan J. Roberts of Jacksonville, Fla., two Townsend leaders, have asked to be joined with the plaintifs in the action.

Dr. Wunder was one of the three directors ousted from the organization Tuesday by Dr. Townsend. Roberts has had charge of the southern regional office and was hit by Dr. Townsend's order closing all offices of that kind. Sacharow said Roberts telephoned that both he and Wunder want to join him in the court battle against their old chief.

The Cleveland lawyer came to Chicago to exercise his court permission to examine the Townsend books at the organization's office at 720 North Michigan avenue. His formal request for access to them was delayed until the arrival of Gilmour Young, national secretary, who is expected today.

FLASH!

By CALEB

PARIS, August 11.—Before a small group of intensely interested fashion authorities from the Continent and the United States a Paris manikin steps forth, displaying a striking new garment in an elusive new color. It is the first time this style and color have been beheld!

There are some "Ah's" and excited whisperings. The manikin disappears. The fabric of the garment is brought, under specified light conditions, into proximity to a weird machine we are using in Paris. A man with penetrating directness selects a few from ninety colored discs, adjusts them on an axle, and they are whirled to blend the several into one solid tone!

Now the fabric is held against the color of the whirling disc. A slight adjustment is made. The whirling recommences. Checks verify a precise match. An expert clucks his satisfaction at the duplication. The man dictates a cable message to a waiting secretary.

YELLOW NINETY-SEVEN STOP NINETEEN DEGREES STOP RED SIXTY-TWO STOP FORTY-EIGHT DEGREES STOP NEUTRAL SIX STOP EIGHTEEN DEGREES STOP BLUE THIRTY-ONE STOP TWENTY-SIX DEGREES

In New York a group of Marshall Field people are gathered around a similar machine where they have been awaiting the message. An operator under identical light conditions selects the discs indicated, arranges them on the axis, exposing the required number of degrees, and the whirling is started. The group sees precisely the same color the couturier has just shown for the first time in Paris! A skilled water colorist makes exact color duplicates of the color fused by the whirling discs.

A messenger hastens it at once to our dyeing plant where vats are waiting, together with quantities of "gray" (undyed) goods. The water colorist's sample is used as the basis for formulating dyes which are tested with feverish speed, but with nonetheless infinite care.

A matter of several days later, when the actual Paris garment arrives at our headquarters in New York, cutters are waiting to duplicate it, with dyed cloth of the precise color ready for work! At the same time, shipments of yard goods are on their way from our mills to this store, thus practically synchronizing the offering in Chicago with the offering of the identical new colors in Paris.

This is new. It is simple—but unique. It is scientific, but it's fashion. And it's the only way the world has yet found for conveying color by wire. Science develops remarkable things in the modern world. It always finds forward-moving businesses ready to utilize immediately what it develops.

INSURANCE GROUP SUPPORTS G. O. P. STATE NOMINEES

Assails 'Political Grip' on Business.

A call to the insurance business to support Republican candidates for state offices pledged to break "political control of insurance," which is declared to have grown up during the present Democratic administration, was issued yesterday by the Republican Insurance Committee of Illinois. Charles H. Burras of Chicago is chairman and Gail Reed of Wheaton is secretary of the committee.

In a letter to insurance executives, company representatives, general and local agents, and insurance brokers, the committee said that a delegation had called upon and received the promise of coöperation from the following Republican state candidates:

Wayland Brooks, for governor.
George Hatzenbuhler, for lieutenant governor.
William J. Stratton, for secretary of state.
Arthur J. Bidwill, for auditor.
Clarence F. Buck, for treasurer.
Charles W. Hadley, for attorney general.

Explained to Candidates.

"The principle involved and the objects of our organization," the letter said, "were explained fully and each of the above name candidates heartily endorsed our program and agreed that if he were elected to the office for which he was nominated, he would do all in his power to end political interference with business."

The letter does not name the present officeholders whom the insurance men charge with engineering the political control of the business. Specific information was promised in further letters by Secretary Reed.

"Political control of the insurance business in Illinois," said the letter, "has reached such proportions during the present Democratic administration that its continuance constitutes a serious menace to every established agent, broker and insurance employé in the state—in the smaller cities as well as the larger centers.

Declares Business Ruined.

"Overnight it [the control] uproots business that may have taken years of patient service to build. The very men who were elected to protect the rights of the people are using the power of their offices to take these rights away.

"While the present situation is vitally serious, the menace of its further exploitation is of greater concern. That the demand for heavier tributes will be made is natural to expect unless the insurance men and women, regardless of party affiliation, awake and act."

As typical of the recations of the candidates questioned, the committee quotes from a letter from Mr. Brooks, as follows:

"I wish your committee and those interested in insurance throughout Illinois to know that I heartily indorse the efforts to stop the diversion of insurance business from its natural channels by political coercion, as now practiced by the Democratic régimé in this state. If I am elected governor of Illinois I will do all in my power to end such political interference with business."

GIFTS OF WPA TO U. S. CULTURE TOLD AT CONCERT

The contributions of the Works Progress administration to American culture were praised by Dr. Martin H. Bickman, administrative assistant on the state WP.. staf, in a speech made last night in Wilmette.

Dr. Bickham took up seven minutes of an intermission between halves of a concert given by a WPA band of seventy-five pieces at Wilmette beach. Permission to speak was granted him by the Wilmette committee on arrangements, headed by Walter C. Farrar, with the proviso that he would not refer to political matters.

"These musicians are fighting their way out of the cultural as well as the economic depression," Dr. Bickham asserted. "They are creating a new interest in good music. The government has said they shall have a chance to earn a cultural living. This enterprise represents American democracy at its best; it is a far cry from the brutality of commuist Russia."

The large crowd which was present for this concert, the second of a series, applauded the musicians.

Keynoter at Church Rally Dares Radicals to 'Come Out'

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—More than 1,000 Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish clerical and lay leaders meeting here tonight for the opening of a four day conference under auspices of the America Forward movement heard a keynote call for restoration of old fashioned American honesty and abolition of vacillation and elusiveness on issues facing the country today.

The keynote speaker before this conference, first conceived as a national movement to staunch the seepage of communistic doctrins into churches, politics, and American institutions but later broadened to defend the country also against Nazilsm, Fascism, and anti-Semitism, was the Rev. Dr. William R. White, pastor of the First Baptist church of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Radicals Challenged.

Dr. White called on Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal area of New York, whom he specifically named, and his radical following to come from behind smoke screens of vagueness and state their positions.

"There needs to be an intensive campaign in our churches, on the streets, in offices, and in every patriotic organization calling for old fashioned forthright honesty and a return to first principles," said Dr. White.

"We call on Bishop McConnell and all those following a similar course to state their positions frankly with reference to all these radical movements with which they are associated, or to which they are giving friendly counsel. We believe that all people occupying such positions of advantage in great religious bodies should be willing to take the full consequences of transparent frankness with all their constituencies.

People's Verdict Trusted.

"All these movements should be exposed to full light, giving all facts about ultimate purposes, direct and indirect. Let the issues be sharply drawn; the differences clearly stated! We trust the verdict of the American people."

Dr. White declared that every epoch of history in the English speaking world which has promoted prosperity, progress, freedom, and human security first was introduced by a great spiritual awakening. Such awakenings, he said, revive basic convictions, create proper attitudes, and inspire courageous action.

"We believe that basic American institutions, the organic law of our land, and the American way will prove adequate to our present crisis," he said. "The wild theories and vagaries of the old world, which never have worked successfully anywhere, constitute a dangerous substitute."

Dr. White explained that religion's chief contribution to the state is to provide the controls and confidence of genuuine character through good citizenship. He assailed the subtle and premeditated attacks of collectivist leadership on public respect for constitutional authority, law and order, and condemned those who covertly attempt to weaken basic institutions while seeming to pursue accredited ideals.

"Sacred contracts, treaties, and solemn pledges now are treated as scraps of paper in high places and low," he said.

Earlier in the day several persons registering from New York, Washington, and Los Angeles were lobbying among delegates in an attempt to inject Nazi ideas into the convention's deliberations.

States Aims of Conference.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph E. Nollner of Dallas, Tex., chairman of the conference, read the following statement at tonight's meeting in answer to those he said were seeking to divert the course of the conference toward Fascist aims:

"This is a nonpartisan and nonsectarian movement for Americanism, religion, and righteousness. It is opposed to communism and those forces which seek to destroy faith in God, the church, the home, and the rights and liberties of the American people. This movement does not exclude any one on religious or racial grounds, but stands for the preservation of our religious and civil liberties.

"The purpose of the national conference is to present the results of a survey as to the prevalence of communistic propaganda and influence in the United States."

The Rev. Dr. Pierre B. Hill of San Antonio, Tex., pastor of one of the largest Presbyterian churches in America and a captain of the Texas rangers, declared the conference to be the first on record in which Catholic, Protestant, Jewish and colored leadership of the nation have consulted on common ground concerning basic religious and civic situations.

Call Rump Conference.

A second national conference of clergymen and laymen, but limited to Protestant Christians, was called here here tonight to open tomorrow at the Asheville Christian church. The call was issued by several delegates who had planned to attend and gain control of the original conference which opened tonight. They charged the original committee with a shift permitting Jewish rabbis and Catholics to take part.

Signing the call are Dr. Charles Caughn, Los Angeles; Dr. Gerald B. Winrod, publisher, Wichita, Kas.; Dr. J. E. Conner, Mount Pleasant, Ia.; C. G. Campbell, Indianapolis, Ind.; W. S. Bryant, Boston, Mass.; Harry Johnston, Dayton, O., and Mrs. R. C. Dodge, Baltimore, Md.

TOWNSEND VOTE HOAX CHARGED TO DEMOCRATS

Boston, Mass., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—A political hoax perpetrated by an unnamed Democratic politician was charged tonight by Glenn Richardson, state manager of the Townsend plan, who repudiated five "Townsend pension party" candidates for state offices and said all would withdraw from the race before tomorrow night.

Richardson refused to name "the high Democratic politician" or to implicate the Democratic state committee in the unsuccessful move to get the five Townsendites on the ballot. He said he did not know who the Democrats were who had obtained 12,000 signatures for the candidates. The Townsend organization, he said, had no intention of putting up any candidates for governor or other state offices, except United States senator.

HE TALKS THREE DEAF MUTES OUT OF $75; JAILED

Harry Luft, 32 years old, 2321 Belmont avenue, was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell for swindling three deaf mutes by Judge Jay A. Schiller in the Felony court yesterday. Luft is deaf himself, but is not a mute.

The three complainants appeared in court and made their charges through an interpreter. They are George Walnoha, 7402 Dante avenue; Roy Coble, 2321 Belmont avenue, and Floyd Smith, '652 Stewart avenue. The interpreter was Clifford Coble, brother of Roy.

Luft was charged with having obtained $25 as a loan from each of the three after convincing them he could pay it back by displaying a telegram which said that he had inherited $3,000. He admitted that the telegram was spurious and said that he had lost the money playing the races.

BORAH WINS 6TH NOMINATION; HIS FOE IS GOV. ROSS

Idaho Senator Easily Beats Townsendite.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah and Gov. C. Ben Ross were matched tonight for a general election senatorial contest.

The enigmatic dean of the United States senate, who is seeking his sixth term, swamped Townsend-supported Byron Defenbach for the Republican senatorial nomination in yesterday's primary election.

Unofficial returns from 591 of the state's 850 precincts gave Borah 29,390 and Defenbach 8,727.

Ross piled up 25,698 votes against Carver's 20,247 in 611 precincts.

"I am grateful," Borah told visitors solemnly. "It is apparent that I received a great many Townsend votes. I cannot be other than greatly pleased."

E. C. Davis, Idaho Townsend manager, had predicted Borah's defeat. Borah has contended that part of the Townsend plan is unconstitutional.

Robinson Wins; Goes Fishing.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Senator Joseph T. Robinson left today for a fishing trip in eastern Arkansas after defeating two opponents for the Democratic senate nomination by a margin expected to exceed 100,000 votes.

Unofficial returns in yesterday's primary from 1,995 of 2,156 precincts gave Senator Robinson 151,528 votes to 35,639 for Cleveland Holland of Fort Smith, who ran on a Townsend platform, and 18,657 for J. Rosser Venable of Little Rock.

Governor Race Is Close.

The race for governor developed into the closest in Arkansas history, with Attorney General Carl E. Bailey holding a slight lead over Secretary of State Ed F. McDonald.

Bailey, critic of the present state administration headed by Gov. J. M. Futrell, had 71,824 to 68,472 for McDonald, actively supported by Futrell, with returns from 2,028 out of 2,156 precincts tabulated.

Chancellor, Renominated, Dies.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Chancellor Harvey R. Lucas died of a heart attack at his home last night, unaware that he had been renominated for the bench in the Fourth judicial district in Tuesday's Democratic primary. He defeated United States Commissioner Coy M. Nixon by more than 1,175 votes.

Wins House Race by 13 Votes.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Richard M. Atkinson, 42, Nashville attorney, won his race for the congressional seat held by the late Joseph W. Byrns by a margin of 13 votes, according to results of an official count announced today. He won the Democratic nomination in the Aug. 6 primary and the count was completed last night. It gave Atkinson, the Townsend supported candidate, 14,144 votes to 14,131 for Will T. Cheek.

MORON HUNTED AFTER ATTEMPT TO RAPE WIFE, 19

Police yesterday were searching for a moron who early in the day tried to drag Mrs. Angela Rock, 19 years old, of 2137 Bissell street, into the yard of St. James Catholic church. The church is on Fullerton avenue between Mango and Menard avenues. Mrs. Rock successfully fought her assailant, inflicting deep scratches on his face, she told police. Mrs. Rock, mother of an 8 week old baby, was on her way to work in a bakery at 5839 Fullerton avenue. She described the moron as a man about 30 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, with brown eyes and a small brown mustache.

SEEKS RELEASE OF SHAPIRO IN CONTEMPT CASE

Judge John P. McGoorty in the Superior court yesterday issued a writ of habeas corpus, returnable tomorrow, for the release of Louis Shapiro, 70 years old, from the County jail where he has been a prisoner since Jan. 17 for contempt of court. The contempt arose from his failure to account to Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski for $10,361 of the funds of an apartment building at 612 Sheridan road, Evanston, for which Shapiro was manager.

The petition for the writ, brought by Shapiro's son, Sol, contends that Shapiro is unable to stand the rigors of jail life. It was accompanied by statements from Dr. M. S. Mazel and Dr. M. L. Busch that Shapiro is suffering from angina pectoris and myocarditis.

Shapiro formerly owned a $125,000 equity in the 42 apartment building he managed, on which a mortgage was foreclosed in 1933. The money he owes represents rents from February, 1934, to April, 1935. Shapiro declared he turned the money over to Attorney Isaac K. Goodman, but Goodman produced receipts to show he had returned the money to Shapiro.

ASKS PRESIDENT TO REVEAL LIST OF 'ROYALISTS'

Economist Insists Nation Has Right to Know.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Dr. Gus W. Dyer, professor of economics at Vanderbilt university and a southern Democrat, today demanded in a letter to President Roosevelt that he name some of the "economic royalists" whom he denounced in his Philadelphia acceptance speech.

"No intelligent Socialist or communist, perhaps, ever made a more sweeping condemnation of American constitutional freedom than you made in your address," declared Prof. Dyer in his open letter to the President, which was made public by the American Liberty league.

"Your address will be hailed in all lands by radicals as the strongest evidence that American industrial freedom has been a miserable failure."

Asserts Right to Knowledge.

Dr. Dyer said he believed American citizens had a right to know the names of some of Mr. Roosevelt's "economic royalists" because "if we could recognize these highwaymen we might be able to hide some of our small earnings under a rock on their approach."

Dr. Dyer wondered whether the President had reference to the General Elctric company, and in this connection stated:

"The General Electric company is one of the great corporations of this country, and has been doing an enormous business in selling equipment for electric power development. This company, of course, is prominent among the 'economic royalists.'

Roosevelt Family Stockholders.

"One of the leading newspapers in this country published the names of stockholders in this royalist corporation some time ago, and you and your family were recorded as among the largest stockholders. Is it possible that you are one of the royalists against whom Farley is soon to lead his army of officeholders and pulmonary patriots?"

Dr. Dyer reminded the President that Thomas Jefferson, in submitting the Declaration of Independence for approval, gave 35 specific grounds on which he urged war on George III. "One of the chief grounds," the letter stated, "was as follows: 'He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of new officers to harass our people and eat out our substance.'

Officeholders' Convention.

"If Jefferson had looked in on the Philadelphia convention and beheld the 'swarm' of officeholders in charge his comments would have been interesting. It was reported that 64 per cent of the 2,000 delegates in that convention were office holders. Such a 'swarm' might move a man of Jefferson's ideals to say: 'This is not a convention of the Democratic party; this is the convention of the F. O. P.—the Federal Officeholders' Party.'"

Dr. Dyer marshaled statistics to refute Mr. Roosevelt's assertion that "there is no place among this royalty for our many thousands of small business men and merchants who sought to make a worthy use of the American system of initiative and profit."

"Your declaration that the business of this country is controled by powerful monopolies that crush every one that gets in their way is difficult to understand," the letter stated. "There are rigid federal laws against monopolies, and you are the chief executive. Why don't you give the facts to the attorney general instead of broadcasting them to a political convention on the eve of an election?

Cites Lack of Indictments.

"You have been in office nearly four years and in all this time not a single monopoly has been indicted. The inevitable conclusion from your attitude is that either you have no facts against these supposed monopolies or you don't want to see them indicted.

"Monopoly means conspiring to limit the supplies of commodities in order to raise the prices to consumers. Your experience in plowing up millions of acres of cotton, prohibiting grain production, and in having more than 5,000,000 pigs, weighing up to sixty pounds each, killed and converted into soap grease and fertilizer in order that you might make food and clothing scarce and force the millions of consumers to pay high prices for the necessities of life, qualifies you as a great champion of the monopoly principle.

"In giving publicity to the facts you have in hand to support your position, I will ask you to give consideration to the following facts with reference to general business conditions before you came into office:

"In 1929, 1,543,158 retail stores were in operation in this country. These stores were classified as follows:

"Chain stores [royalists], 144,598.

"Single store independents, 1,230,300.

"Two and three store independents, 64,583.

"There was one single independent retail store for every 100 of the 122 million people in the country, and yet you say 'there was no place among this royalty for our many thousands of small business men.'

"In 1929 there were 210,959 factories of all types in operation in this country. Seven thousand four hundred and twenty-six of these factories had no employés. The owners did the work. Ninety-five thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven had from one to five employés, 53,524 had from six to twenty employés, 25,022 had from twenty-one to fifty. This means that 181,739 of the 210,959 factories in this country are small, and with reference to size, are of the same general type that were in operation before the civil war.

Many with Small Assets.

"Although you say in your address: Throughout the nation opportunity was limited by monopoly, in 1931, 381,088 corporations gave income tax returns. Total assets of these corporations were as follows:

"182,447 had assets of less than $50,000.

"61,144 had assets of $50,000 to $100,000.

"63,428 had assets of $100,000 to $250,000.

"This means that 307,019 of the total number of corporations were small. Practically one-half of the whole number had less than $50,000 in total assets."

DOLLY GANN TELLS WOMEN THEY CAN PUT AN END TO NEW DEAL

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Southwestern Michigan Republican women voters were urged by Mrs. Edward [Dolly] Gann of Washington, D. C., to carry on the crusade against the New Deal by voting for the Landon-Knox ticket in the November election.

Mrs. Gann addressed a meeting of 500 women, sponsored by the St. Joseph Women's Republican club.

Mrs. Gann told the gathering there are enough women voters in the country to control the election and bring to an end "the ruthless spending of the New Deal and the Roosevelt administration."

After the meeting Mrs. Gann left for the New England states for a two weeks' vacation, after which she will continue her speaking tour.

PRESIDENT BUSY DRAFTING PLANS FOR VOTE BATTLE

Leaves Today for Flood Area Tour.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight prepared to leave the White House tomorrow morning for a three day inspection tour of flood areas in Pennsylvania and New York with a brief stop at the Great Lakes exposition in Cleveland before going to his family estate at Hyde Park, N. Y., for a week to plan his campaign.

The President began his campaigning last night in a secret meeting with Maryland Democrats at the summer estate of Assistant Secretary of State Sumner Welles a few miles from the capital. The meeting was not announced and after it was discovered White House attachés said Mr. Roosevelt went to the Welles home for tea.

Delivers "Pep" Talk.

Senator George L. Radcliffe [Dem., Md.], who was a White House caller during the day, revealed the President gave an extemporaneous "pep" talk to the assembled Democrats. Radcliffe predicted the state will go Democratic by a substantial majority although observers have said the state is certain to go Republican.

At Hyde Park, according to Democratic political leaders, the President will confer with state leaders on his prospects. At the same time he will decide what part he will play in the campaign. Mr. Roosevelt leans to the fiction of nonpolitical inspection tours as a method of vote getting, but leaders are urging that he step out as a militant stumper.

Mr. Roosevelt will leave Washington about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning for Johnstown, Pa., where flood waters reached great heights last spring. From Johnstown he will go to Cleveland for a Friday morning visit. Friday night he will deliver an address on international relations at Chautauqua, N. Y., where his Republican opponent, Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, had already announced he will speak during the summer. Mr. Roosevelt's address at Chautauqua will be broadcast.

In Pennsylvania Saturday.

On Saturday Mr. Roosevelt will visit flood areas at Binghamton, N. Y., and at Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., before turning toward Hyde Park. He will remain at Hyde Park until about Aug. 23 when he will return to Washington for a day or two before setting out on an inspection tour of the drouth areas Aug. 25, which will bring him a meeting with Gov. Landon about Labor day, probably at Des Moines, Ia.

During the day S. Davis Wilson, Republican mayor of Philadelphia, host to the Democratic national convention, expressed a desire to coöperate with the administration in a White House call. At the same time he laid before the President the cost of his coöperation. He asked that the navy construction awards for a battleship, two submarines, and a destroyer be placed with the Philadelphia navy yard and also that Mr. Roosevelt allocate 30 million dollars in PWA funds to the city.

Calls Before Admiral.

Wilson saw the President immediately before Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations. The admiral said the construction program was not discussed.

Controler of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor called to report bankers are purchasing federal long term securities in increasing amounts. He promised to release statistics within ten days.

Late in the afternoon the White House announced that Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], chairman of the senate finance committee, and Representative Robert L. Doughton [Dem., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, had been summoned to a special conference at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The nature of the impending conference was not revealed but it was believed to have been called to consider summoning their committees into session looking toward revival of NRA legislation. Senator Harrison will fly from Mississippi for the conference.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

RAILWAY CHORUS FIRST IN COOK CO. FESTIVAL FINALS

North Western Group Defeats Four Others.

The Chicago and North Western Railway Choral club won the Cook county mixed choral contest of the seventh Chicagoland Music Festival, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in the Drake hotel last night. It defeated four other entries for the right to compete in the Chicagoland finals at the Drake hotel Saturday night, when one chorus will be selected to sing before 100,000 persons at the festival concert in Soldiers' field Saturday night.

The winning chorus, directed by Harry Slater, consisted of 65 voices, its women all in white, its men numerous. The Uptown chorus of 50 voices, directed by Emerson Abernethy, won second place in the contest, and third place went to the South Park Junior choir of 67 boys and girls from the South Park Methodist Episcopal church, colored. James T. Campbell directed it. Their choir made a picturesque appearance. The little girls wore robes of white, fairly long, showing socks beneath the hems. The boys wore white pants and dark coats.

SELECT SINGERS TONIGHT

The Cook county vocal and instrumental finals of the music festival will be held in the grand ballroom of the Drake hotel at 7 o'clock.

Eighteen singers, nine men and nine women who have won district contests, will compete for the right to represent the county in the Chicagoland vocal finals to be held at the Drake Saturday, when the winning man and winning woman will be selected to appear at the festival concert. Tonight's winners, one man and one woman, will be pitted against vocalists from more than 100 cities in America, entrants coming from 14 states and Canada.

List of Singers.

The 18 Cook county finalists are:

WEST SIDE—Marie Saviniemi, soprano; Hannah Millicent Morgan, mezzo; Lenore Peckat, contralto; Michael Signorelli, tenor; Bob Oehrlein, baritone, and Alexander Kulpak, bass.

SOUTH SIDE—Esther Hardie, soprano; Mrs. Mildred Hall McCord, mezzo; Sarra Radoff, contralto; Story Turner, tenor; Max Vinsonhaler, baritone, and Marston H. Pearson, bass.

Rollin Pease, Hanna Butler, and Lawrence Salerno will serve as judges of the singers. After the vocalists have been judged, the winning instrumentalists will be selected by Fritz W. Itte, Oscar Anderson, and Dr. Frank L. Waller. Then Franklin Earl Hathaway and the vocal judges will choose the best yodeler.

Band to Reherse Today.

The all-Chicago high school massed band will hold a dress rehersal at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Soldiers' field. Capt. Howard Stube, president of the Chicago High Schools Band association, has asked that the boys and girls be there at that time. The parade across Soldiers' field of these 1,000 and more young bandsmen promises to be a high light of the Saturday night festival.

With thousands of reserved seat tickets already sold for the festival, persons wishing to obtain them before going to Soldiers' field are advised to purchase them now from two Tribune Public Service offices, in the lobby of Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street. They are 50 cents each.

Two Girls Still Missing; Political Worker Booked

Fred DeLacuso, 36 years old, 4540 Sheridan road, who is also known as Fred DeLux and Frank DeLucas, was booked by the police last night on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of two girls. The girls, Cordelia Chalzaretta, 19 years old, 1115 Oak Grove avenue, and Mildred Hicks, 13 years old, 1227 North La Salle street, have been missing from their homes for several days. DeLacuso, a precinct captain in the 48th ward, asserted that he did not know where the girls are and had not seen either of them since Aug. 3.

Owner of Hotel Wounded in Mystery Shooting Dies

Max Cantor, professional bondsman and owner of the Broadway Crescent hotel at 4052 Broadway, died in the American hospital yesterday of a bullet wound in the abdomen incurred under mysterious circumstances in the hotel office on Monday. Cantor insisted that he had shot himself accidentally, but the police are holding Don Crawford and Ben Karl, residents of the hotel, and are seeking Steve Kasper, a janitor, who were with Cantor just before he was shot.

STAND OF COUGHLIN'S AID THREATENS SPLIT WITH DR. TOWNSEND

Cleveland, O., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Walter D. Davis, the impresario whom the Rev. Charles Coughlin drafted to help make good a boast that the first annual convention of Father Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice would make the Republican convention "look like a side show," stirred a witch's broth here today by declaring that Dr. Francis E. Townsend and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith would address the convention "only over my dead body." The convention will open Friday.

Informed of this, Gilmour Young, the young national secretary of Dr. Townsend's Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd., declared that if the floor at the convention is denied to his chieftain and the Rev. Mr. Smith they will call off their projected barnstorming tour of the country with Father Coughlin on behalf of Representative William Lemke, Union party candidate for President.

Only three weeks ago Father Coughlin, Dr. Townsend, and the Rev. Mr. Smith, who lays claim to the following of the late Senator Huey P. Long, stood with arms around each other's necks before 11,000 cheering Townsendites. They were pledged to stump the country from Maine to California for Mr. Lemke and his running mate, Thomas C. O'Brien.

DEPUTY CORONER IN CELL 6 HOURS FOR TAVERN ROW

Deputy Coroner Lawrence Rasmussen, 40 years old, 8011 St. Lawrence avenue, spent about six hours in the Lake county jail in Waukegan yesterday, as the aftermath of a tavern party in Mundelein, before a $200 fine which he refused to pay was reduced to $100 and paid.

Justice of the Peace Dwight S. Dolph of Mundelein sent Rasmussen to jail for forty days to work out the $200 fine for disorderly conduct. There Rasmussen sat until late last night, when the fine was reduced. It was paid by an unidentified person represented as coming from the Cook county coroner's office.

Late Tuesday night Chief of Police Clayton Tiffany of Mundelein was called to a tavern to quiet several patrons. He found Rasmussen and a party of friends, he told Justice Dolph, and continued: "I tried for half an hour to restore order and make this man behave. He was drunk. He told me he would 'get' my job through his influence with Sherif Toman of Cook county. So I finally had to lock him up."

Chief Tiffany said a number of Chicago telephone callers tried to "fix" the case.

LAWYER DENIES RECEIVING CASH FROM BANNISTER

New York, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Jerome A. Jacobs, lawyer who is on trial with Harry S. Hechheimer and Raymond Derringer, charged with extorting $1,800 from Harry Bannister, theatrical producer, today took the stand and denied having received any money from Bannister.

He testified payments were made to Derringer in his presence but insisted they were pay for Derringer's work in obtaining affidavits favorable to Bannister.

Bannister was, at the time of the payments in 1934, engaged in litigation with Ann Harding, his former wife, over custody of their child. The state charges the three on trial conspired to get money exchanged for affidavits damaging to Bannister.

Assistant District Attorney Eugene J. Finnegan gave Jacobs an opportunity to deny that he had "shaken down" Lester Parsons of Jersey City in connection with a suit against him by a girl named May Tierney.

Woman Sherif Silent on Plans for Public Hanging

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 12.—(AP)—With the public hanging of Rainey Bethea, 22 years old, confessed colored assault-slayer of Mrs. Elza Edwards, 70, set for sunrise Friday, Mrs. Florence Thompson, woman sherif of Daviess county, remained silent tonight as to what part she will take in the execution. "I have been called from every section of the country by persons wanting to know if I would spring the trap," she said. "I have declined to say what part I will take in the execution."

Mother of Youth in Triple Killing Dies Under Trolley

Mrs. Catherine Downey, 52 years old, 63 West Schiller street, was killed yesterday when she was struck by a street car while crossing Clark street near her home. Motorman George Baker said she darted in front of the car before he could stop. Last Dec. 5, her adopted son, Joseph, 27 years old, shot and killed his sweetheart, Mrs. Grace West, and Lawrence Lampe, 22 years old, son of a physician, when he found them together, and then committed suicide.

MANY JAILED BY RUSSIA; CHARGES 'FASCIST PLOT'

Links Trotzkyists with Foreign Power.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 12.—Open charges today that Trotzkyist elements still remaining in the Russian communist party have conspired with spies of a certain unnamed Fascist power provide an official explanation of a new cleanup now going on in the communist ranks. Numerous arrests are reported to have been made.

The purge is the greatest since that which followed the assassination of Sergei Kiroff, communist leader, in Leningrad in 1934, and is being accompanied by similar denunciations of the Trotzkyist-Zinoviev faction, which was blamed for that assassination.

Plot Centers in German Area.

One man, named Lepesheff, a director of the Institute of Marxism and Leninism at Saratov, has been arrested and accused of being a confederate of a mysterious young man since said to have been found to be an agent of a foreign power.

This young man traveled extensively in the Saratov area, populated largely by German speaking descendants of Germans who were imported by Catherine the Great. The young man is said to have formed friendships with several regional secretaries of the communist party.

This clique of party leaders is said to have met frequently in the apartment of an important local leader, where they planned to spread subversive propaganda. Lepesheff is said to have made frequent unexplained trips to Moscow. All members of the group are described as adherents of Leon Trotzky, exiled Bolshevik leader, and the party authorities in Saratov have been reprimanded for failing to unmask them.

Outside Alliance Charged.

The enmity between the surviving Trotzkyist elements and the ruling Stalinist elements is deadly. In the communist view the Trotzkyists, being the repudiated faction, are without standing and, as they wish above all the defeat of the present régime, are willing to join with external foes of the country, hoping that they may somehow return to power.

"These base traitors have dropped to the lowest depths of human degradation and have made contacts in their rascally activities with spies, provocateurs, saboteurs, white guards, and Kulaks," the newspaper Izvestia said today. "Their bloc joins with Fascism and has become the advance guard of the counter-revolutionary bourgeoise."

MERRIAM, HOME FROM EUROPE, FEARS CONFLICT

Prof. Charles E. Merriam, chairman of the political science department at the University of Chicago, returned to the city yesterday following a trip from Europe on the Zeppelin Hindenburg. While in Europe Dr. Merriam attended international conferences of public administrators at Berlin, Munich, and Warsaw.

Declaring that Europe's "faith in intelligence" has declined and that this accounts for its present trend toward violent action, he said:

"Such is the rising pessimism abroad that people are beginning to lose faith in the possibility of finding a reasonable way out. The drift is toward war between nations and between classes."

ARGENTINA'S BID TO PEACE CONFERENCE ACCEPTED BY U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Formal acceptance of the invitation of Argentina for this government's participation in the inter-American peace conference at Buenos Aires on Dec. 1 was announced today by Secretary of State Hull.

The announcement was made by disclosure of an exchange of cablegrams between the secretary of state and the Argentine minister of foreign affairs in which Hull said the suggested date was satisfactory to this country.

The peace gathering of American republics was suggested several months ago by President Roosevelt. During the conference the nations are expected to debate broadening of the Monroe Doctrin to include enforcement by all participating nations. The Roosevelt administration has indicated willingness to abandon sole enforcement of the dictum against aggression by foreign nations in the western hemisphere.

PHILIPPINE CHIEF TO MAKE ARMY GROW OWN FOOD

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Paulino Santos, chief of staf of the new Philippine army, plans to make the army grow its own food.

The general says, "I hate to invest 1 cent of the government's money in this program of national defense if this country cannot feed its soldiers during time of war."

Gen. Santos' program is said to have the approval of President Manuel L. Quezon and Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, former United States army chief of staf, who is setting up defense plans. Santos plans to grow foodstuffs in every training camp as soon as the 128 camps are opened next Jan. 1.

NEAR PASSENGER STAGE IN PACIFIC AIR MAIL SERVICE

Link Chicago, Honolulu in 36¼ Hours.

Trans-Pacific passenger flights have been brought a step nearer by the regular weekly air mail service from San Francisco to Honolulu and Manila which was announced last week, Harold Crary, vice president in charge of trafic for United Air Lines, said yesterday.

Mail leaving Chicago on United Air Lines' mail passenger planes as late as 9 p. m. each Tuesday will depart from San Francisco in the Pan-American Airways clipper ships at 3 p. m. the following afternoon. It will arrive in Honolulu at 9 o'clock Thursday morning and at Manila the following Tuesday afternoon.

Steamers Carry Mail On.

Steamer connections are available to take mail on to Hongkong, reaching there the following Friday, and Shanghai by the next Monday. The following time schedule for mail from Chicago thus would be: Honolulu, 36¼ hours; Manila, 5½ days; Hongkong, 8 days, and Shanghai, 11½ days.

Postage from Chicago to Honolulu is 25 cents a half ounce, and to the other points 75 cents a half ounce.

"The official notice of the new flights is evidence that the careful pioneering of trans-Pacific air transport by Pan-American Airways has been successfully completed," Mr. Crary said. "The next step is addition of regular passenger service."

Six crews of six men each have been trained to operate the three Martin flying boats. No passengers other than government inspectors and company employés have been carried.

The clipper planes are powered with 14 cylinder twin-row Wasp engines built to order of Pan American. These special power plants developed faults which were said by engineers to be common in engines that have not passed the test of long commercial service.

CURBING THE COURTS.

A committee of the American Bar association, as was noted the other day, has been studying the many bills introduced in the last congress to curb the federal courts. Its report summarizes these measures in seven classes: [1] those that would deprive all courts of the power to pass upon the constitutionality of an act of congress; [2] those that permit the Supreme court to retain this power, but which in some fashion provide for a recall of a decision holding a statute unconstitutional; [3] those requiring the concurrence of a specific number of the members of the court to declare an act of congress unconstitutional; [4] those increasing the membership of the Supreme court; [5] those depriving the lower federal courts of all power to declare an act of congress unconstitutional and vesting that power, with limitations, exclusively in the Supreme court; [6] those providing for advisory opinions by the Supreme court; [7] those providing for the popular election of federal judges.

The committee does not discuss the constitutionality of any of these measures. All are condemned as inconsistent with our system of government. Bills of class [1] depriving the Supreme court of its power to protect the constitution, including the bill of rights, by repealing the court's authority to hold acts of congress invalid, raise an issue understood at least by past generations of Americans. The issue is whether we want to change our form of government. The American people have always said no. They will say no again unless they have tired of their liberties.

But as the committee wisely remarks, "if the courts are to be deprived of their constitutional rights it will be by attrition rather than by a single major offensive," therefore the committee holds that "most threatening are proposals to increase the membership of the court in order to change its complexion and that regardless of the necessities of its business. Indeed, this is the Achilles heel of the constitution. . . . All that is necessary is a single act of congress increasing the membership of the court, executive appointment and senatorial confirmation. Thereafter the fate of the constitution is committed to the judicial consciences of the new members. At least once in our history such action was proposed and seemed not unlikely to be taken. The sole brake upon it then and now is an aroused public opinion. Once the people accept the view that the court should be but an instrumentality for validating the will of the congress the method for accomplishing this purpose is ready at hand. Under present day conditions, when by instantaneous means of communication the fleeting moods of public opinion may be rapidly mobilized, this danger is more real than it has ever been in the past."

Other proposals commented upon in the report need not be discussed unless and until they reach consideration in congress. The need now, not only for lawyers but for laymen, is to recognize that the most deliberate attempt to discredit the American system of government ever made in our history has been under way. The chief magistrate of the nation made no secret of his disfavor, nor did his most influential advisers, miscalled the Brain Trust, until the prompt reaction of press and public revealed that it was poor politics. Thereafter the lid was clamped on threats and sneering remarks, and devotion to the constitution has been substituted. But that is before election day. It is politics, not repentance. No American has any reason to doubt that if Mr. Roosevelt and his régime are retained in power the attacks upon our constitutional system will be renewed, for they will claim a mandate for its change. That is why, without underestimating the immediate and momentous issues of government waste, of financial and economic blundering, the defense of the constitution remains the ultimate issue of this campaign. As Gov. Landon has said, that issue is "whether the American people want to strengthen democratic institutions —whether they are determined to maintain parliamentary government—or whether they wish to accept more centralization of power."

THE SORROWS OF HERR HITLER.

Herr Hitler has come in for some adverse comment because he so frequently was found to have slipped out of his place in the stadium when he was to have acknowledged the victory of an athlete who could not be mistaken for a Nordic. It has been explained variously that his aunt was on the telephone, that he had an appointment to call Mr. Eden or that he was taken with a slight dizziness.

Hitler deserves to be better understood. And he can be by any old grad who has sat in gloom of a Saturday afternoon in the fall wondering what he will be able to say Monday morning in the office. When Hitler left the stands it was to conceal his emotions. In a football game only the intellectual standing of an institution of higher education is in doubt. In Berlin the entire Nordic structure of a great people was being tested. It was Hitler's emotional masterpiece, the innate and inalienable superiority of the great blonds, written into the national laws and approved by nature.

Dark colored people came drifting out of the contests with the chaplet of victory, Asiatics and what the Germans call auxiliary Americans, Japanese swimmers, a Corean—an auxiliary Japanese—who won the marathon, dark runners and jumpers from America. And are the Finns Nordics?

The spirituality of a consciously great people was troubled. Hitler isn't a bad sportsman. He was overcome. A magnificent legend was going back on him. He did not want to show his feelings publicly. Even if a Nordic loses, he can bear up manfully in solitude or, if excessively devoted to his dream of the super nation of super people of a super race, can he?

CO-OPERATION VS. COERCION.

In the drive of the New Deal and its allies for more power one of its chief objectives has been control of the agencies of public information. The attempt to control the press through the NRA was defeated because of the vigilance of editors, but invasions of the freedom of the air have not met the prompt and decisive defense for which generations of struggle for freedom had prepared American newspapers. Government control over broadcasting has therefore been able to extend itself by various means, under the usual pretense of public benefit which all seizures of government power allege in this and every other country.

One of the proposed advances of government control is represented by the Fess and Wagner-Hatfield bills which appeared in congress two years ago. Even in the favorable conditions for undigested lawmaking existing at that time and since they were not put over. But if the New Deal survives they will reappear.

For the ostensible purpose of advancing public instruction and knowledge they provide for setting aside definite facilities and fixing a total of broadcasting hours for educational purposes. What private agencies fear is inevitable deterioration of their efficiency to meet public demands and therefore to prosper and grow. What the public should recognize in them is the establishment of more control over their sources of knowledge by political jobholders or petty official autocrats pleased with their authority.

If private broadcasting agencies could be fairly charged with stubbornly refusing their opportunities in the field of public enlightenment, a demand for even more government intervention than now actually exists would not be opposed by any honest legislator. But no such justification for more burocratic power can be shown. There is interesting and impressive evidence of the willingness of private enterprise and independent educational authority to coöperate and of their ability to meet efficiently any educational service the public will avail itself of. The experience of the University Broadcasting council is in point. The council was formed a year ago by representatives of the University of Chicago, Northwestern university, and De Paul university, the National Broadcasting, Columbia, and Mutual systems affiliated stations, and the Rockefeller and Carnegie Foundations. But it was the outcome, says the first annual report, of "thirteen years of successful coöperation between the University of Chicago and commercial radio in the university's locale." It had also the advantage of a spirit of public service in both the educational and commercial institutions seeking to coöperate which may not be as alert or confident in other communities. But it can be cultivated and bring better results than any burocratic rule. "Both commercial broadcasters and educational interests," says the report of the University Broadcasting council, "have developed certain unchallenged skills, which can lift education on the air to a higher level of public interest and service. For either to ignore the other is to pave the way for legislative paternalism of a sort mutually undesirable and restrictive."

The way, in short, to take the ground from under demands for new extensions of government power is by demonstrating, as the University Broadcasting council has done and will continue to do, that voluntary coöperation is not only possible but of the highest efficiency.

Editorial of the Day

[Waterloo (Ia.) Courier.]

A good many Iowans—too many—are as maggoty-headed as that impetuous heroine of the children's story, "Henny Penny." It will be remembered that Henny Penny occasioned considerable excitement by mistaking a falling leaf for a part of the sky.

A lot of Iowans who have been staying up late at night reading drouth ghost stories now find their pulses beating at an abnormal rate. They have been doing a lot of loose talking and writing, and unless they can be persuaded to make a fair appraisal of the situation they will do themselves and every one in the state more harm than a half-dozen arid summers.

The sobs from the mourners' bench have reached the ears of manufacturers and jobbers in eastern states. The Fort Dodge Messenger reports that a resident of that city recently received "a worried telephone call from an eastern business house inquiring if it would be a good financial risk to sell some merchandise on credit in Iowa."

The Courier does not believe that facts should be garbled to preserve an aura of optimism. But those putting this state in the category of barren dust bowl areas are farther from the truth than the perennial Pollyannas.

The drouth has hit Iowa's corn crop—hard. Farmers in the north central and northeastern part of the state, however, will harvest corn. Generally speaking, hay and small grain yields have been good.

Contrary to a popular opinion, corn is not Iowa's only crop. Iowa dairymen last year had an income of $105,509,000 and farm housewives of the state enjoyed $69,689,000 in "pin money" from their poultry flocks.

Iowa is still the "golden buckle on the belt that supports the nation's breadbasket." Her credit will be good until the glaciers come again—unless the calamity howlers continue to annex converts to their mistaken philosophies.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

A FEW NIGHTS before a recent north shore wedding the spinster dinner and the bachelor dinner, according to custom, were held the same evening. Both were of the usual order. Girls of the party gathered at the home of one of the bridesmaids, where an evening of bridge followed dinner which had been preceded by a few cocktails. Men gathered at a country club where drinks preceded, coincided with, and followed dinner after the manner of such occasions.

All was going blithely in the respective camps until one of the girls about 11 o'clock suggested getting in touch with the bachelors—"perhaps the boys will come over and take us home." The resultant phone call interrupted a brisk game of African dominos whose participants apparently did not welcome the interruption. Still all might have gone well if an overenthusiastic bridesmaid had not insisted the bride-to-be talk to the groom-to-be. The latter, not normally a sturdy imbiber, had allowed the occasion to take him farther than he usually went. As a result his speech was a bit thick.

"No, no, shushweetheart," was the answer, "only a few itshy bitshy shwallowsh."

"You have, too; I can smell it on your breath over the telephone, and you'll get hurt driving home," moaned the bride-to-be as she went into a gale of hysterical tears.

Moral, if any: If spinster dinner and bachelor dinner are going their respective ways successfully, don't try to improve the situation.

GLANDS THAT GOVERN.

YES! Our glands [endocrines] are teeming with mystery. They have puzzled the scientists of the world for centuries, and while we now have a speaking acquaintance with most of them they continue to harbor many secrets.

I wish that every one could read an elementary book on biology. We all need to know more about life in order better to understand one another. The individual who delves into the intricacies of the anatomy of the human body cannot fail to be impressed with the delicacy of the structures and their perfect coördination. While we know that the child is developed from two tiny microscopic cells—one from the father and one from the mother—yet inherent in those two cells are elements which will be transformed into muscle, bone, blood, brain, and all the special organs.

Marvelous as is the brain, we cannot help but be awed by the power over the performances of the body possessed by a group of very tiny glands. In architectural design they differ widely from each other and from all the other tissues within the body. Each group receives blood from the general circulation and from this raw material manufactures a particular product. Individually they may be likened to a chemical laboratory in which the same raw products will be transformed by one process into artificial silk, by another into a powerful explosive, by still another into beautiful red, blue, or green dyes. In other words, the output of the gland depends upon what it does with the blood.

They are called ductless glands because no tubes carry their secretions into the digestive tract or elsewhere in the body. What they produce is absorbed by the blood and in dilute form reaches every cell. They are busy day and night, and without them we wouldn't be ourselves, nor could we carry on with efficiency.

Most of us have had first hand experience with some one of these structures. Some member of the family may have had a goiter, which is merely an enlargement of the thyroid, the gland which lies on either side of the neck with a connecting isthmus between. We may have seen the nervousness this gland can cause if it secretes too freely; and how dull, stupid, and uninteresting will be the individual whose thyroid produces too little.

There is a very close relation between the thyroid and one of the chemical elements known as iodine. Whenever there is not enough iodine in our food or in the water we drink the thyroid tends to enlarge. We may have observed the swelling of the gland that occurs commonly in girls about the age of puberty and sometimes in woman during pregnancy, because more of its output is demanded by the body at such periods. In many districts it is a common practice to add very tiny amounts of iodine to the food of growing children, although in certain localities this is not required.

One of the strangest of these ductless glands is known as the pituitary. This consists of two lobes, each with a different function. The anterior portion exerts the power of a boss over numerous body reactions. It is the master gland, governing growth as well as the activities of the sex glands. When its secretions are inadequate the patient will become stunted. If it produces too much, either a giant results or there is marked distortion of certain features of the body.

Strangely enough, all of these glands are interrelated—the pituitary, the sex glands, the adrenals [at the upper portion of the kidneys], the thyroid, etc. While we can supply some of these substances from artificial sources, yet we are unable to reproduce exactly the fine adjustment of the products.

Luckily, few of us need give these glands much attention, and it is unfortunate that in some quarters there appears to be an unwarranted and widespread use of many of these gland elements. The best rule to follow is to assume that your endocrines are working perfectly and no one should take any gland preparation until its need has been demonstrated by a skilful physician.

TOO MUCH CANDY.

K. E. M. writes: Would eating candy every day be injurious to a person suffering with neuritis?

REPLY.

Eating a moderate amount of candy should do no harm unless it is diabetic neuritis. Don't you think a daily dose of candy is a little too much for even a healthy person? As a rule, we Americans eat more sugar than do the people of other nations.

VARICOSE VEINS.

J. M. writes: Five years ago I had varicose veins in the legs injected but in two years they were back again. I had the same treatment by another physician and now they have returned. What can I do?

REPLY.

The injection method of treatment is successful in only about 75 per cent of the cases. Poor nutrition, anemia, kidney diseases, etc, are responsible for some failures. The older treatment of ligating superficial varicose veins is still used and may be the treatment of choice with you. Great comfort may be secured through the application of an Unna paste boot, a mixture of glycerin, water, and gelatin applied in conjunction with a light bandage. It is renewed at intervals of from two to three weeks.

TIME OUT

Copyright, 1936, by Chicago Tribune

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

The Countenance of an Aristocracy.

Mr. Wilson of Pennsylvania and Mr. Randolph of Virginia moved to strike out "seven years" and insert "four years" as the requisite term of citizenship to qualify for the house of representatives. Mr. Wilson of Pennsylvania said it was very proper the electors should govern themselves by this consideration, but unnecessary and improper that the constitution should chain them down to it. Mr. Gerry of Massachusetts wished that in the future eligibility might be confined to natives. Foreign powers will intermeddle in our affairs and spare no expense to influence them. Mr. Williamson of North Carolina moved to insert nine years instead of seven. He wished this country to acquire as fast as possible national habits. Wealthy emigrants do more harm by their luxurious examples than good by the money they bring with them.

Col. Hamilton of New York was in general against embarrassing the government with minute restrictions. There was on the one side the danger which had been suggested. On the other side the advantage of encouraging foreigners was obvious and admitted. Persons in Europe of moderate fortunes will be fond of coming here where they will be on a level with the first citizens. He moved that the section be so altered as to require merely citizenship and inhabitancy. The right of determining the rule of naturalization will then leave a discretion to the legislature on this subject, which will answer every purpose.

Mr. Madison seconded the motion. He wished to maintain the character of liberality which had been professed in all the constitutions and publications of America. He wished to invite foreigners of merit and republican principles among us. That part of America which had encouraged them most had advanced most rapidly in population, agriculture, and the arts. Mr. Wilson cited Pennsylvania as a proof of the advantage of encouraging emigrations. Mr. Butler of South Carolina was strenuous against admitting foreigners into our councils. [Col. Hamilton's motion was defeated, 4 ay, 7 no. Mr. Wilson's motion for four years instead of seven was defeated, 3 ay, 8 no. A question on the proviso of Mr. Gouverneur in favor of foreigners now citizens of states was in the negative, 5 ay, 6 no. The seven year citizenship as a qualification for membership in the house of representatives was confirmed. The question of the origin of money bills is taken up on reconsideration.

Mr. Dickinson of Delaware: Experience must be our only guide. Reason may mislead us. And has not experience verified the utility of restraining money bills to the immediate representatives of the people? When this plan goes forth it will be attacked by the popular leaders. Mr. Randolph of Virginia regarded this point as of such consequence that as he valued the peace of the country he would press the adoption of it. When the people behold in the senate the countenance of an aristocracy and in the President the form at least of a little monarch, will not their alarms be sufficiently raised without taking from their immediate representatives a right which has so long been appropriated to them?

On the question of the first part of the motion as to the exclusive originating of money bills in the house of representatives: New Hampshire, ay; Massachusetts, ay; Connecticut, no; New Jersey, no; Pennsylvania, no; Delaware, no; Maryland, no; Virginia, ay; Mr. Blair and Mr. M., no; Mr. R., Col. Mason and Gen. Washington, ay; North Carolina, ay; South Carolina, no; Georgia, no. Four ay, seven no.

SOUTH OF THE LOOP.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—When will work be started on Chicago's most important project? I refer to the opening of Dearborn, La Salle and Wells streets through the railroad terminal area south of Van Buren street. Who is blocking this improvement? During the past twenty-five years various plans of new freight and passenger terminals have been announced but no work of either terminal construction or street openings has been attempted. These blocked streets cause congestion and affect the movement of trafic in the entire loop district. Federal funds have been provided for worthless projects all over Chicago. Why does not the city council apply for funds for this all important and necessary improvement?

A. R.

THE MORE ABUNDANT LIFE.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—I am 20 years old and have completed four years of high school. When I was in my third year of school I made up my mind to get an opportunity as a tool and die maker.

I wrote several letters to different firms in an attempt to get an apprenticeship as soon as I finished school. I received replies that at the time business was too slow and that there was nothing in view. However, I didn't give up hope and have kept in constant touch with different companies. Now whenever I go out in an attempt to realize my ambition I am told that I am too old for an apprenticeship.

If there is anybody who is brilliant enough to solve this problem please do it, for I wouldn't care to see the same thing happen to any one else as has happened to me.

NOT ENOUGH PAY DAYS.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Why is it some large corporations will drive their employés to the wall by paying them only once a month? In our establishment there are over a dozen junior clerks, most of them married men with at least one child, who are in despair before the month runs out because unforeseen bills and expenses have come up. No system of "careful planning of finances and expenses," advocated by the payer when a complaint was voiced, can make it last out to the next pay day. And our younger, single fellows, unused to having a large sum at one time, blow the works within the first week and beg and borrow, and are tempted the balance of the month. Can any one suggest an effective procedure?

F. M.

MYSELF.

Iowa City, Ia., Aug. 10.—In an editorial in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of Aug. 2 the question was raised as to why some use "myself" instead of the first personal pronoun. The reason is obvious and purely artificial. It is a defense mechanism on the part of those who do not know which case of the pronoun to use, whether "I" or "me." "Myself" is indeclinable and so is always right from the standpoint of case, a great help to all who do not know how to decide such questions for themselves. SPINIFER.

THE EDUCATION OF A PRESIDENT.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—I noticed in your paper today, relative to the President's drouth parley, that Mr. Roosevelt is "a great believer in getting information by eye rather than by ear." To me this is a distinct transformation in our President. Certainly one has the right to say that during the last three years he has been getting all of his information through the ear, from crackpots, professors, socialists, communists, or call them what you may, and not from the type of people that have made America what she is.

J. A. R.

ADVERTISING.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Have you seen the Kelly neon signs at the entrance and exit of our Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium? They're done up in the modern roadhouse style and the name Kelly is one of the principal features of the signs.

Why this gross disfigurement of an otherwise graceful appearing institution? And since Kelly has gone that far, why not a hot dog stand beneath his self-advertising proscenium arch? Probably the people of Chicago who pay for such blatant monuments would also stand in line to buy red hot Kelly dogs.

CHICAGO BEAUTIFUL.

LITTLE DROPS OF POISON.

NOT A LEGAL RESIDENT.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I entered this country from Canada at the age of 19 on June 3, 1922, by way of Detroit. When I entered the United States I entered as a visitor, but paid no head tax and no record was made of my entry. I have been in the United States continuously since and have never been an associate to any unlawfulness. It is my desire to become a citizen of this country and I should like to know just what steps to take.

J. R. B.

Under the facts stated, it appears that the inquirer is not a legal resident of the United States and, therefore, may not take steps toward citizenship under existing legislation, which provides that only those aliens who entered the United States without inspection prior to June 3, 1921, and have not been absent therefrom since that time, may apply for legalization of their entry.

EAGLES GATHER FOR CONVENTION; EXPECT 30,000

Mayor Kelly Opens First Session Tonight.

An advance guard of more than 6,000 members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles was in Chicago yesterday, visiting stores and amusement places as they awaited the opening of their 38th annual convention in the Morrison hotel this evening. By the time the first gavel tap is sounded 30,000 delegates from the United States and Canada are expected to be registered.

Accompanying many of the delegates were their wives and families who will share in the program of entertainment planned by the 21 Chicago aeries. The first business session will be called in the Cameo room of the Morrison tonight when Mayor Kelly will welcome the delegates. Bishop Bernard J. Sheil will give the invocation. Speakers will include George Nordlin of St. Paul, president of the order, and Frank E. Hering of South Bend, past president.

Mayor Seeks Membership.

Mayor Kelly, in addition to issuing a proclamation asking Chicagoans to show every courtesy to the visitors, signed an application for membership when a delegation headed by Conrad H. Mann of Kansas City, Kas., and Mr. Hering called on him yesterday.

Highlight of the five day convention will be a three hour parade in Michigan avenue beginning at noon on Sunday. Dressed in gay regalia and with bands and drill teams adding their color to the procession, the Eagles will begin their march at Wacker drive and Michigan avenue, proceed in Michigan avenue to Roosevelt road. Delegates then will assemble in Soldiers' field to watch a pageant and drill. City Sealer James O'Keefe, a director in the order, was completing plans for the parade last night.

Grows to 650,000 Members.

President Nordlin said the convention will be one of the greatest in the history of the order, which has grown to a membership of 650,000 since its organization in 1898. Chicago has 7,500 members. There are aeries in every state in the Union, all provinces of Canada, and in Hawaii, Alaska, and the Philippines.

Other officers who will be here to take part in the conclave are Dr. H. B. Mehrman, Oakland, Cal., vice president; John H. Dowling, Dayton, O., treasurer; John S. Parry, Kansas City, Mo., secretary; and Fred J. Leuper, Jersey City, N. J., chaplain.

Ernest Stoffregen, 31 years old, 2032 North Racine avenue, a painter, who was injured a week ago when a scaffold on which he was working at 13129 South Baltimore avenue fell, dropping him two floors, died last night in the Michael Reese hospital.

'KIDNAPED' GIRL HOME; TRUCK DRIVER HUNTED

While police throughout the city were seeking her, Joan Absalom, 5 years old, was returned unharmed yesterday to her mother, Mrs. Ida Absalom, at their home, 2626 North Western avenue. The police continued their search for a man who, Joan said, kidnaped her near her home on Tuesday and held her prisoner for seven hours.

Joan was turned over to Sergt. John Walsh of the Shakespeare avenue police by Mrs. Madeline Gasior, 3543 North Keating avenue, at whose home she spent the night.

"I found the girl wandering at Addison street and Keating avenue at 7 o'clock Tuesday night," Mrs. Gasior said.

Joan disappeared Tuesday noon. She told Sergt Walsh that while she and Lavergne Peterson, 7 years old, 2624 North Western avenue, were playing near their homes a man driving a truck, apparently a rag picker, forced her into the vehicle. The man forced her to ride in his truck all afternoon, the girl said.

BUILDING BLAST KILLS THREE AND INJURES 3 MORE

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The bodies of two men were recovered tonight from the wreckage of a Grainger Brothers Wholesale Grocery company building here seven and a half hours after an explosion demolished the structure and buried six persons in the débris.

The bodies, those of Fred Brown and Wesley Gillespie, both Grainger employés, were found near a door under tons of débris. Gillespie's body was crushed beneath fallen bricks and broken timbers. James C. Moise, 55, of Omaha died of injuries.

The bodies were reached after hundreds of rescuers battled with shovels and air drills to remove the wreckage. Three other persons, critically injured, were taken from the mass of bricks soon after the explosion.

ASTOR PEACE UP TO COURT; CASE MAY END TODAY

Terms Kept Secret Until Reviewed by Judge.

details of the agreement, but emphatically said Miss Astor would not have complete custody of 4 year old Marylyn.

"The division of time in which each parent will have the baby is based on school semesters, vacation periods, and holidays," he said. "They will divide the Christmas vacation time."

Although details were withheld, pending judicial decision, the film colony was agreed that Miss Astor, wearied of the battle in which she had staked her film career against her determination to win back her full rights of motherhood, had traded secrets in her famous "tell-tale" diary for the right to have her child nine months of the year.

Thorpe Denies He's "Happy."

"The settlement has been arranged for the interest of the child and not for either of the parents," Anderson declared. He quoted Dr. Thorpe as being not only agreeable to the proposed settlement but "very happy about it."

Dr. Thorpe issued a statement that he was not happy about it.

"I'm glad this litigation is over, but I am not happy about the agreement as such," he said. "How could I be?"

All of the morning court session and most of the afternoon were spent by Anderson, Woolley and their associate counsel in a vigorous private airing of the case in Judge Knight's chambers. The formal sessions of court were brief and incidental, one taking place in the morning in which Judge Knight asked the lawyers if they wished to continue deliberations, and another being held in the afternoon when the jurist commended opposing counsel for their "100 per cent coöperation" in attempting to reach an agreement.

Hollywood Sighs with Relief.

Nerves in certain prominent Hollywood quarters were relieved when word got around that the opposing lawyers, capitulating at last to powerful and continuous pressure behind the scenes, had agreed to an arrangement which would preclude further airing of the diary.

Had the trial continued along the line of questioning halted by Judge Knight last Tuesday the names of a good many more men—many of them probably unconscious of their mention in this celebrated little book—would have been spread on the court record by Dr. Thorpe's counsel in an effort to even the score with the actress for her parade of last week, linking Dr. Thorpe's name with those of other women.

Shortly after 2 p. m. [5 p. m., Chicago time], when court formally recessed until tomorrow for the attorneys to continue their negotiations in behalf of Baby Marylyn, Woolley and Anderson issued this statement:

"The basic principle of agreement has been arrived at. Only the formalities remain to be worked out."

Actress Seems Unperturbed.

Miss Astor, center of every eye in the crowded courtroom, seemed unperturbed by the lawyers' lengthy wrangle during the afternoon. Sitting on a desk, swinging shapely legs, she chatted freely with her friends, Ruth Chatterton and Florence Eldredge, wife of Fredric March.

A scant fifteen feet away sat Thorpe, presenting a sharply contrasting picture. Slumped deep in his chair, he scowled much of the time and neither smiled nor spoke to his sister, Claire Lee, a dancer, who sat beside him and never once looked in the direction of his gay and apparently unworried ex-wife.

The red haired center of all the litigation wore an outfit of blue taffeta, small mushroom shaped hat to match, white sandals, white gloves and carried a white alligator purse.

Miss Chatterton was garbed in a sports outfit of tailored white crash, with green gray gabardine skirt and a little roll sailor hat of wool in the same shade. She also carried white gloves and white purse. Miss Eldridge was in a black and white print dress with small white figures. Her white hat had a quadrangular shaped crown. She wore a gardenia and carried white gloves.

Judge Still Wants Kaufman.

The whereabouts of George S. Kaufman, famous playwright and missing witness in the case, remained a mystery to court attachés.

Kaufman was served with a subpena to appear in court. He disappeared abruptly before the hearing was resumed last Monday and a bench warant was issued for his arrest.

That bench warant, declared Judge Knight, "will hang over Mr. Kaufman's head always," regardless of the outcome of the Thorpe-Astor contest.

"If he can be cited before me I'll sentence him to jail," Judge Knight added.

Miss Astor has testified that Dr. Thorpe was aware of her relationship with the playwright and condoned it.

More Litigation Threatened.

Possibility that a sequel to the hard fought suit may be actuated by Mrs. Lillian Lawton Miles and Paul Schofield appeared in their statements that they would take action to clear themselves of assertions made during the trial.

Mrs. Miles was named by Miss Astor as the wife of Dr. Thorpe at the time the surgeon married the actress. Another witness, Nursemaid Nellie Richardson, said Mrs. Miles was one of four women who occasionally spent the night in Dr. Thorpe's home after the divorce.

Paul Schofield is a scenarist who now lives with Dr. Thorpe. His wife, Mrs. Madge Schofield, was another of the four named by the nursemaid as having been intimate with the surgeon.

"Depend upon it, I'm going to take legal steps to refute that slanderous testimony—I can prove it's untrue," Schofield said.

GOV. OLIN JOHNSTON OF SOUTH CAROLINA INJURED IN CAR CRASH

He was en route to the Columbia hospital to visit his wife, who gave birth to their first child last Friday. Witnesses said the governor's car overturned after striking another in which a woman and child escaped injury.

The governor was taken to another hospital, treated for minor injuries, and returned to the executive mansion in an ambulance an hour later.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Sheep Pasture Gone.

August 12, 1936.

Workmen at the Tribune's Wheaton Experimental farm cleaned out the sheep barn yesterday and repaired all the feed bunks, making ready to bring the flock of 506 sheep in from the pastures and put them on feed. The flock has been brought through the summer on pasture alone, but there is nothing left in the pastures now for the sheep to eat. None of them has been given any feed since they were turned out on grass last spring.

The sheep were put into an alfalfa field last week. There were only a few green sprigs on the alfalfa stubbles, from which two crops of hay had been cut this year. The alfalfa is expected to furnish enough grazing to last the flock until about the end of this week. When it is gone the sheep must be fed.

Alfalfa Bloat Prevented.

Farmers sometimes find it difficult to pasture sheep on alfalfa during seasons of normal growth, because the animals are likely to die from bloat. The flock master at the Wheaton farm follows a practice of feeding his sheep all the dry alfalfa hay they will eat before turning them into fields of green alfalfa. He has never had any trouble from bloat when handling sheep in this manner. He learned the practice while caring for large flocks of sheep on ranches in Canada years ago.

No such precaution was taken with the Wheaton flock last week before it was turned into the alfalfa field. The green sprigs of alfalfa were so few and scattered that there seemed little likelihood of the sheep's eating enough to cause trouble. There had been practically no rain or even heavy dews for weeks and there was no excess moisture in or on the alfalfa plants. The sheep ate them with no ill effects.

The Wheaton flock has come through the dry summer in fair flesh, despite the lack of good pasture. For several weeks the sheep lived on nothing but weeds which they found along the fence rows and in wood lots about the farm. The ewes that have been nursing lambs are getting thin, but the lambs are in good flesh. The flock now consists of 200 breeding ewes, 97 yearling ewes that are to be bred this fall, 3 wethers, and 206 spring lambs. The wethers were kept out of last year's lamb crop to be slaughtered for use on the farm.

Lespedeza Thrifty.

Three varieties of lespedeza sown in rows in the Wheaton test plots in the spring of 1935 have made practically as good growth this summer as last. Sericea, a perennial variety, lived over winter and came up this year from the roots. The other two, Corean [Korean] and Harbin, are annuals. They produced an abundance of seed last year which sprouted in the rows this spring.

All the lespedeza plants are green and thrifty except some in the centers of the Corean and Harbin rows that have been closely crowded by the thick growth. They are beginning to dry up.

While lespedeza and other legumes seeded in fields with nurse crops of oats and wheat last spring have either been completely killed or have produced poor stands, the lespedeza that came up in the test plot rows apparently has suffered but little from the drouth.

All of the test plants and other growing crops in fields on the Wheaton farm were helped by the rain early in the week—a rain delayed for so long that men at the farm termed it "blessed."

$500,000 ESTATE IS LISTED IN WILL OF HIRSCHHORN

Widow Receives Major Share of Holdings.

Clarence Hirschhorn, retired cigar jobber who died on April 14 at the age of 79, left an estate valued at more than $500,000. This was indicated yesterday when an inventory of the estate was filed with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court.

The inventory was accepted by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the Probate judge, who immediately approved an award of $20,000 for Mr. Hirschhorn's widow, Mayrose, of 5454 South Shore drive, pending settlement of the estate.

Eleven parcels of improved Chicago real estate, the value of which is not given, are listed in the inventory. Also listed are $180,000 in bonds, $30,000 in notes, and $1,185 in cash. Mr. Hirschhorn's stock holdings, which included several unlisted issues, consisted in part of 2,270 shares of General Cigar company, 305 shares of Walgreen company, 390 shares of Armour & Co., 110 shares of Quaker Oats company, and 50 shares of Alschuler, Dreyer & Co.

Bequests Are Listed.

The residue of the estate, after several small bequests, is left in trust to the widow. Bequests of $2,500 each were made to the Michael Reese hospital and the Jewish Charities. A gift of $1,000 was made to Kehilath Anshe Mayriv congregation, composed of old Jewish settlers, of which Mr. Hirschhorn was a member. Six relatives will receive small annuities.

Mrs. Frances Augusta Hiner, widow of Joseph Hiner, Chicago attorney, left an estate estimated at $100,000 to eight relatives, it was revealed yesterday in a petition for letters testamentary filed in the Probate court. Mrs. Hiner, who lived in the Pearson hotel, died on July 16 at the age of 70.

Mrs. Hiner left $25,000 in Fond du Lac, Wis., real estate to a sister, Mary M. Wyatt of that city. She left $10,000 to a brother, George Moore, of Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. Bequests of $5,000 each were made to a nephew, George McWilliams of Milwaukee, and three nieces, May Moore and Elizabeth M. Walker of San Diego, Cal., and Alice M. Arpe of St. Louis. A brother, James Moore of Spokane, Wash., was left $18,000 in trust, and $3,000 was left to Mrs. Hazel Moore, 36 Bellevue place, widow of another nephew. The surviving nephew and the three nieces also will share the balance of the estate after the bequests are made.

Five Relatives Share Estate.

The will of Daniel Norman Collard, former postal clerk here, who inherited $150,000 from a relative two years ago, was filed in the Probate court yesterday, leaving his estate to five relatives. Mr. Collard was fatally injured in an automobile accident in Florida on June 17.

One-half of the estate is left in trust to the widow, Dorothy, 936 Oakdale avenue, upon whose death the principal will go to an only child, Gerald, 3 years old. Mr. Collard also left $25,000 in trust to his mother, Hattie L. Last of Hammond, upon whose death the principal will be divided between her other children, Alfred M. Collard of 5348 Lieb avenue and Mrs. Mary A. Morse of Hammond. The residue will be placed in trust for Gerald until he is 35 years old.

The will of James W. Gardner, former Chicagoan, who died in Los Angeles on June 12, leaving the bulk of his $50,000 estate to his daughter, Mrs. Laura Eva Haigh of Paris, France, was admitted to probate yesterday. Bequests of $5,000 each were made to two nephews, Norman and Reginald Edwards, whose whereabouts are unknown.

Leaves $95,000 Estate.

The will of Miss Jane P. English, leaving an estate of $95,000 in trust to two relatives, was admitted to probate yesterday. Miss English, the daughter of Jacob English, a real estate man, died on June 4 at the age of 78. The trust income will be shared by Mrs. Caroline English of Los Angeles, widow of Miss English's brother George, and her son Edward. Upon their death the principal will be divided among twelve cousins and their children.

An inventory of the estate of Daniel Protheroe, director of the Chicago Welsh choir, who died on Feb. 25, 1934, at the age of 67, was filed yesterday with Edward S. Luczak, assistant to the probate judge. The inventory lists the 10 per cent royalties from 101 religious songs written by Mr. Protheroe, which last year amounted to about $200. It also lists a $24,000 apartment building at 5021 Dorchester avenue, which is offset by a mortgage of equal size. The heirs are a son, Daniel, and two daughters, Helen and Anne.

JOSEPH KLENHA, EX-PRESIDENT OF CICERO, DIES

Joseph Z. Klenha, 61 years old, who served fifteen years as president of the Cicero town board, died early yesterday in the West Suburban hospital, following an operation for brain tumor three weeks ago.

The body will lie in state at the Klenha residence, 1837 South Austin boulevard, Cicero, until 10 a. m. tomorrow. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. in the chapel at 5318 West 25th street. Interment will be in the Bohemian National cemetery.

Mr. Klenha was born in Chicago. He attended the grade schools and the Chicago Kent College of Law and was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1899. He moved to Cicero in 1914.

Surviving are his widow, Mary; two sons, Robert and Harold; a brother, Otto V., and three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Skala, Mrs. Ella Harmack, and Mrs. Lillian Kriz.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The football broadcasting situation is becoming somewhat more clarified with September 'round the corner. W-G-N, following a policy adopted last year, will broadcast games of major interest without a commercial sponsor. The tentative lineup includes big games at Northwestern, Illinois, Notre Dame, Chicago, Ohio State, Army, Navy, and Southern California. Quin Ryan will report the games in the midwest for W-G-N, which in some instances will be fed to Mutual. In the case of eastern games the network will pipe them west for W-G-N.

All Northwestern's home games and two abroad are to be sponsored over WBBM by an oil concern. Northwestern's contests will, however, be available to stations broadcasting without sponsors. Pat Flanagan, assisted by John Harrington, will be at the microphone for WBBM.

The situation at WMAQ and WENR is not clear as yet. There may be a sponsor or there may not be. The NBC network will carry football on a sustaining basis, and it may be that one or both of these stations will be outlets for these reports. WCFL is looking for a sponsor. If none shows up football probably will not be carried.

WIND, along with WLW, Cincinnati, and WSBT, South Bend, will carry sponsored football—probably in the main the Notre Dame schedule. Red Barber of WLW will be at the microphone. WJJD is looking for a sponsor, but will go on the air, no matter, with Russ Hodges describing the gridiron happenings.

George Jessel, pausing in Chicago yesterday between planes en route from Hollywood to New York, related that the court hearing the Astor case was not the only agency looking for George Kaufman, the playwright, the other evening. With Jessel, Irvin S. Cobb, and Rupert Hughes, Kaufman was to appear in a radio sketch. Five minutes before they were to go on the air Kaufman had not showed up. So Leo Carillo was pressed into service instead.

Hollywood success story: Frances Langford had just had her contract renewed in "Hollywood Hotel" and was walking along the main stem in the movie town feeling pretty good for herself. She has been starred recently in the picture "Palm Springs," too.

While humming a tune she was interrupted by an agent who had taken a fancy to her voice. He offered to do something for her in pictures.

"That's very nice of you," she spluttered, "but I am Frances Langford—don't you understand?"

"Well, that's all right," he consoled. "We can change the name."

George Burns and Gracie Allen have been wanting a vacation. But their sponsor doesn't want to give them one. Now it has been fixed so both sides are happy. They're going to Hawaii and their programs will be relayed from Honolulu the last two weeks of this month.

PLEA CONTINUED FOR THREE WHO SLEW POLICEMAN

A motion for a new trial for the three slayers of Policeman Jerome McCauley, two of whom were condemned by a jury to die in the electric chair and the third to serve 199 years in prison, was continued until Monday by Judge John C. Lewe in the Criminal court yesterday.

The continuance was asked by their attorney, Benjamin Bachrach, public defender, who said he was busy preparing an appeal for Mrs. Mildred Mary Bolton, under sentence of death for murdering her husband.

The two whose punishment was fixed at death by the jury are Frank Korczykowski, 26 years old, and Andrew Bogacki, 25 years old. The third is Paul Jenkot, 24 years old. Policeman McCauley was slain on May 29 while the three were fleeing from a robbery. They were convicted by the jury on Aug. 1.

Funeral Rites to Be Held Today for Mrs. Helen Gale

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen M. Gale, 70 years old, who died on Tuesday in her apartment at the Sovereign hotel, 6200 Kenmore avenue, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the chapel at 1227 Devon avenue. Besides her husband, Frederick A. Gale, who is in the railroad equipment business at 80 East Jackson boulevard, Mrs. Gale is survived by a son, Fred W., and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy H. Hill. Burial will be at Rosehill cemetery.

California Pioneer, Driver for Stage Coach Line, Dies

Fillmore, Cal., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Delbert Reeder, 81, pioneer stagecoach driver, who came by wagon to California seventy-five years ago, died here yesterday. Reeder was employed for three years by the historic Butterfield Stage company to drive a coach between Gorman, now a tiny settlement north of Los Angeles, to Bakersfield. He also freighted goods by team to Salt Lake City.

DR. WASHBURNE, PHYSICIAN AND AUTHOR, IS DEAD

Dr. George Foote Washburne, 81 years old, retired physician, medical educator and author, father of Dr. Carleton Washburne, superintendent of the Winnetka schools, died in his home at 224 Park boulevard, Glen Ellyn, yesterday after an illness of six weeks.

Dr. Washburne was born in Chappqua, N. Y. In 1872, after his graduation from a military school in Ossining, N. Y., he came to Chicago to study, working meanwhile in the bookeeping department of Marshall Field & Co. In 1885 he was graduated from Hahnemann medical college and the same year entered practice in Chicago. As a member of the faculty of the medical school Dr. Washburne was the first physician in Chicago to use living models to illustrate his lectures.

Beginning his career as an obstetrician, Dr. Washburne later became interested in mental diseases, and was the author of several textbooks on this and other phases of medicine. He once served as health officer for Chicago.

Dr. Washburne's first wife was the former Marion Foster of Chicago. Mrs. Washburne was noted as one of Illinois' foremost clubwomen. The couple had four children, three of whom are living. Besides Carleton Washburne, they are Mrs. Herman [Dorothea] Stegeman of Athens, Ga., and Dr. John Noble Washburne, a professor of psychology at Syracuse university. Dr. George Washburne's second wife, Dorothy Michaels, survives him.

CAPT. M'MANMON, STOCKYARD BLAST SURVIVOR, DIES

Capt. Thomas McManmon, one of two firemen who survived an explosion in the Stockyards fire of Dec. 22, 1910, died yesterday of heart disease in his home at 6940 Crandon avenue.

Capt. McManmon, who was 69 years old, retired from the fire department in 1931 after 39 years of service. At the time of his retirement he was attached to truck company 87 in South Chicago, where he had been in charge for seventeen years.

The stockyards fire of 1910 was one of Chicago's great tragedies. Fire Marshal James Horan was killed with twenty-two of his men when an explosion buried them beneath tons of debris in the meat storage house of Morris & Co. Capt. McManmon was an acting battalion chief at the time. He and a companion were the only two firemen in the building to escape death.

Surviving Capt. McManmon are his widow, Mary; a son, Thomas Jr., and a daughter, Marion. Funeral services will be held at 10:15 a. m. Saturday from the chapel at 7705 Cottage Grove avenue, to St. Philip Neri church, 72d street and Merrill avenue. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

CHARLES KLEIDON IS DEAD; FORMER CEMETERY HEAD

Funeral services for Charles Kleidon, a resident of Chicago for more than fifty years, will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at St. Andrew Lutheran church, 37th and Honore streets. Interment will be in Bethania cemetery where he was superintendent for twenty years until retiring two years ago.

Mr. Kleidon was 70 years old. He was born in Germany and came to Chicago in 1886. He died Tuesday in his home at 3619 South Damen avenue where he had lived for forty-five years.

SHIP ENGINEER ON GREELY TRIP TO ARCTIC DIES

Newark, N. J., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—James Ritchie, 78, third engineer and boilermaker of the three masted ship Proteus, which took the Greely Arctic expedition to Lady Franklin bay in 1881, and sank two years later while bringing provisions to the relief of the party, died here today.

Mr. Ritchie, a native of Dundee, Scotland, became a member of the crew of the Proteus at the time of the expedition led by the late Gen. Adolphus Washington Greely to Ellesmere Land and Grinnell Land in the Arctic.

The Proteus sailed from St. Johns on July 7, 1881, and reached Lady Franklin bay, where Gen. Greely's party disembarked on Aug. 11. On July 23, 1883, the Proteus was caught in an ice jam near Cape Sabine. The ship was crushed and sank before many supplies could be saved. The crew of the Proteus made their way back to St. Johns in open boats.

$3,000 IS WILLED TO HER PETS BY WIDOW OF SPIES

The will of Mrs. Nina Van Zandt Spies, proxy widow of August Spies, who was hanged for his part in the Haymarket riot of May 4, 1886, leaving her $3,000 estate for the care of eight dogs and one cat, was admitted to probate yesterday. Mrs. Spies died on April 9 at the age of 74 in a rooming house she operated at 107 South Halsted street.

Mrs. Spies' will was written on the back of a letterhead on May 9, 1935. Because it named no executor, Oscar Caplan, assistant to the probate judge, directed that the estate be turned over to the Orphans of the Storm dog shelter near Deerfield, where Mrs. Spies' pets were taken shortly after her death.

Mrs. Spies was the daughter of a wealthy chemist. She met Spies during his trial and while he was under sentence to hang she married him in a ceremony wherein Henry Spies acted as proxy for his doomed brother. After Spies' death his widow became a radical.

STUDENT PEACE GROUP CHEERS UNION WAR CRY

U. of C. Student Union Hears Lewis Aid.

A University of Chicago student organization which has dedicated itself to the promotion of peace last night applauded a declaration that labor organizers were determined to unionize the steel industry even if the effort involved industrial warfare.

The organization is the university's chapter of the American Student union. The organization is avowedly opposed to war and favors abolition of the R. O. T. C. The chapter sponsored a meeting in Leon Mandel hall on the university campus last night. The principal speaker was Van A. Bittner, Chicago representative for the committee for industrial organization which is headed by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Warfare if Necessary.

Bittner told an audience of eight hundred that the committee, which is now carrying on a campaign for organization of the steel workers of the country, "is going to bring real collective bargaining into the industry."

"We are not saying to the American people that there will not be industrial warfare in the steel industry," he said. "We are going to organize the workers and bring collective bargaining into the industry whether the steel magnates like it or not. We hope we won't have to go through industrial warfare to do it."

The students applauded his statement, but were less enthusiastic when Bittner declared that communists were not associated with the drive; that he was not a communist and did not believe in communism.

Attacks A. F. of L. Council.

He referred briefly to the split in the ranks of the American Federation of Labor as a result of the activities of the Lewis group. The executive council of the federation recently voted to suspend the ten unions affiliated with the Lewis committee if they did not end their activities. The council, Bittner said, had set itself up as "a Supreme court of the American labor movement."

"We are not going to spend our time and energy fighting the council," he stated, "because we believe it can't do any more harm to us than it has to the steel corporations in the last forty years."

Dr. Earl S. Johnson of the university's sociology department urged the student union to support the steel unionization drive. He said that the most important rôle the students could play was to coöperate with organized labor. He advocated the industrial union system for the steel industry, declaring that the present "archaic craft system" of the American Federation of Labor is not suited to the industry.

POLICE PREVENT FIGHT AT BOUCHE ASSAULT HEARING

Albert Bouche, 55 years old, owner of the Villa Venice café on Milwaukee road south of Wheeling, and his manager, George Kosloff, 47 years old, were restrained with difficulty from physical combat yesterday when Bouche was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Albert J. Sengstock of Morton Grove for assault and battery and assault with a deadly weapon.

Kosloff, a former Russian army captain, accused Bouche of threatening him with a butcher knife and beating him in the kitchen of the roadhouse after a customer had complained about the charges on a bill.

As the men left the courtroom after having the case continued until next Wednesday Kosloff advanced on Bouche, who hurried to meet him with upraised fists. Policemen stepped between the pair and succeeded in preventing any blows.

BRIDGE RAISED 4 HOURS DURING RIVER DREDGING

Dredging operations in the Chicago river kept the La Salle street bridge open for four hours yesterday while automobile trafic was rerouted. Several thousand persons watched the work. The bridge was raised from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m.

The dredging was done by the dredge Warhorse of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company under the direction of United States army engineers. Every few years the river is dredged to keep the depth at 21 feet, according to the engineers.

The work, started a week ago, will require several months and necessitate the opening of a number of bridges for long hours, Capt. S. N. Karrick, army engineer in the Chicago district, said.

Trafic over the Clark street bridge was tied up for nine minutes shortly before 7 o'clock last night when a trolley wire sagged near the bridge floor after the bridge had been raised to allow the freighter Rockwood to pass. The bridge was kept open until a surface lines crew made repairs.

STONES HURLED IN STRIKE CLASH AT RAND PLANT

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Stones flew again at the Remington-Rand plant in suburban Norwood late today, resulting in the arrests of four men and three women.

Numerous windows in the plant were shattered as a crowd of several hundred marched upon it after 230 workers who entered in the morning had been removed in police protected automobiles.

The disorders were the most serious in the two days the company has operated in the face of an unsettled 11 week strike.

Other disturbances included an attack by a group of women on two women applicants for work and a similar attack on a man by a dozen men. The attackers hurried away in automobiles as police arrived.

SUBPENA BOOKS OF CORPORATIONS FOR SENATE QUIZ

U. S. Agents Swoop Down on Offices.

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Striking simultaneously in a half dozen different cities, government agents today descended on the offices of five corporations, including private detective agencies, and subpenaed records for a senate inquiry on labor espionage charges.

The subpenas were served at the direction of Senator Robert M. La Follette, chairman of a subcommittee authorized to investigate interference with labor and civil rights.

The files of the William J. Burns Detective agency, the Pinkerton National Detective agency, Railway Audit and Inspection, Inc., Forrest C. Pendleton, Inc., and the Central Industrial Service, were ordered turned over to the subcommittee.

Center on Six Cities.

Robert Wohlforth, secretary of the investigating body, said the firms' offices in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, New Orleans, and Detroit were visited during the day.

Executives as well as corporations were served with subpenas, he said, calling on them to turn over all records and office documents within five days.

After the subpenas had been served, a committee agent was stationed at each of the offices visited, presumably to prevent any efforts to remove documents in which the investigators were interested.

Wohlforth indicated that further groundwork for the inquiry would be laid by the issuance of additional subpenas.

"We are going to keep pumping along," he said, "and see what happens."

Hearings Expected Soon.

Preliminary work has been under way since the subcommittee was formed during the latter part of June. Hearings on the data compiled probably will start next month in Washington.

Among the individuals listed by Wohlforth as having been served today were W. Sherman Burns, secretary treasurer of the W. J. Burns Detective agency, and W. W. Groves and Foster Strader, of the Railway Audit and Inspection, Inc.

Richard Watts, general counsel to the subcommittee, was in New York helping Wohlforth direct the activities of a group of agents.

Besides Senator La Follette, Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah is a member of the subcommittee. The third member, the late Senator Louis Murphy of Iowa, has not yet been replaced.

RULES 'PEACHES' IS BROWNING'S LEGAL WIDOW

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The claim of Mrs. Frances Heenan Hynes of Denver, Colo., the former "Peaches" Browning, to be the legal widow of the late Edward W. [Daddy] Browning was upheld today in Supreme court in her suit to measure her dower rights in his real estate holdings.

Mrs. Dorothy "Sunshine" Browning Hood of North Carolina, Browning's adopted daughter, and the Title Guarantee and Trust company, executor of his will, contended Browning's 1934 Paris divorce from his first wife, Adele Lowen Browning, had no effect.

Mrs. Hynes successfully contended that the separation suit brought against her by Browning resulted in a Supreme court ruling that they were man and wife and legally separated them.

Nitti and Campagna Freed; Silent on Gang Murders

Shortly after proceedings were begun in the Criminal court to free them by habeas corpus the police yesterday released Frank Nitti and Louis [Little New York] Campagna, reputed leaders of the revived Capone gang which is seeking to control Chicago rackets. Police were unable to obtain any information from them concerning the gangland murders of State Representatives John M. Bolton and Albert J. Prignano. Bolton was killed on July 9 and Prignano last Dec. 29.

Film Players Sign Contract Not to Marry

Cecilia Parker, Eric Linden Make Agreement.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Cecilia Parker and Eric Linden have signed a marital compact. Each has posted a bond. The contract takes rank with other Hollywood agreements governing money and love affairs, such as the papers Minna Gombell's wealthy San Diego husband, Joseph I. Sefton, signed, and the three cornered Betty Grable-Jackie Coogan-studio agreement under which Betty and Jackie bound themselves to wait for matrimony until December, 1937.

In the Sefton-Gombell papers Sefton bound himself not to object if Miss Gombell accepted the escort of personable Hollywood young men to parties that did not last after 1 o'clock. Each year on the wedding anniversary he and Miss Gombell were to renew that contract, but they allowed it to lapse last year.

In the Cecilia Parker-Eric Linden papers neither dare marry within five years without written consent of the other. The violator loses $1,000 which has been posted. Eric doesn't want Cecilia to marry any one but Eric, and Cecilia has a similar interest. But each wishes to follow a career for the next several years and a career is best followed by such rising young players while they are unmarried.

The current ambition of boys seems to be to become G-men, but apparently the detective ambition strikes little girls, too. Shirley Temple was taken to see "Charlie Chan at the Racetrack" and spent most of the day after that detecting around her home. Finally an inspiration seized Shirley and she phoned Darryl Zanuck, in charge of her studio. "This is Curley Chan at Santa Monica," she proclaimed, "and I have a swell idea for my next picture."

Before Novelist Gene Fowler signed his new Twentieth Century-Fox contract and left to spend a vacation at Fire Island, N. Y., Fowler insisted on the studio raising his past salary as scenarist. In order to please Fowler he was given a technical raise of $1 a week.

Madge Fellows looked her curiosity. Bing Crosby, on the set of "Pennies from Heaven," was inscribing an autograph: "To Ed Thies, with sour memories from Bing Crosby." Bing grinned and explained, "The chap I'm autographing this for used to be a Spokane pickle manufacturer. I worked for him while I was attending Gonzaga university." "What," asked Miss Fellows, "were you doing?" "Shhh," said Bing. "I was washing pickles."

A British film company has been telephoning Walter Huston here to come to London and play in a film version of "Othello."

Wesley Barry, remembered as the kid who was featured in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "Daddy Long Legs," and other homespun silent dramas, is now taking a prominent rôle as an Irish revolutionary in "The Plough and the Stars" with five of the Abbey players from Dublin.

Warner's is to put out a picture revolving around the craze for "Swing Music" and titled "King of Swing." It will be based on the rivalry of two "hot" bands, one composed of blonde young women, the other of men.

Producer Sam Goldwyn has joined the cycle of Irish patriotic pictures ["The Informer," at R. K. O.-Radio; "The Plough and the Stars," at R. K. O.-Radio; "Parnell," at Metro] with "In Love and War" which will co-feature Merle Oberon and Brian Ahearne.

Eleanor Powell has ordered a duplicate of her screen outfit for her young friend, the year old baby, Jane Quigley, who also does a bit of tap dancing.

Miss Powell gives what she calls her "impressions" of Gov. Landon, President Roosevelt, King Edward, Joan Crawford, and Mahatma Gandhi in tap dances in "Born to Dance," her current film at M. G. M.

Keeping score on Hollywood's engagements, marriages, separations and divorces, the writer notes a shift from the ratio of fifteen marital break-ups to eleven marriages, which was the ratio of the film depression years of 1934 and 1935. The statistics on Hollywood's love affairs for this portion of 1936 show:

	July.	Year to date.
Engagements announced	8	38
Marriages performed	9	82
Reconciliations	1	3
Separations announced	1	13
Divorces filed	3	48
Divorces granted	8	64
Births in screen homes	0	36

There's a whisper around Hollywood that Walter Brennan is "stealing the picture" from a cast including Edward Arnold in Edna Ferber's "Come and Get It" at United Artists.

Elaine Will Not Wed Barrymore, but She'll Keep Diamond

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Elaine Barrie has definitly broken her "engagement" to John Barrymore, she announced.

"But I think I'll keep the ring," she smiled. She referred to the famed Barrymore eight carat diamond which was forwarded to her on her twenty-first birthday by the Chase National bank of New York under a previous arrangement with the movie actor.

"Recent events have shown conclusively that it would be impossible for us to have a happy married life together," Miss Barrie said. "With this realization I would infinitely prefer to terminate our blessed relationship at this time."

Friends were still recalling Barrymore's stentorian statement of last July 20, "I never was engaged to her. We're not going to be married."

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Maureen O'Sullivan, Irish film actress, said today the Vatican had granted special dispensation permitting her to marry John Farrow, screen writer, and they plan to wed "within the next month."

"And what's more," she declared, "we'll take a honeymoon trip to my home in Dublin."

Miss O'Sullivan said special permission had been asked for the marriage because of Farrow's divorce from Felice Lewin, daughter of a wealthy San Francisco mining man.

Teachers Find Pupils Welcome Rhythm Bands

But Newest in Music Is Century Old.

BY KAY HALL.

Thousands of young musicians over the country are thumping, or blowing or shaking anything from sand paper blocks and mouse traps to bicycle pumps in rhythm bands. The bands have become an established trend in school music teaching, according to educators at the annual National Summer Conference on School Music material, which will close its two weeks' course at 434 South Wabash avenue on Saturday.

The bands developed from the principle that anything that makes a noise can be musical. But this newest thing in music for young children is more than a century old, at least. On the school order books is listed Haydn's Children's symphony. And he wrote it in the 18th century for just such unorthodox musical instruments as are now sweeping the kindergartens and public schools.

Haydn scored it for such instruments as the rattle, cuckoo, triangles, quail [water whistle], bell tree, castanets, metallophone and miniature cymbals. To these the modernists have added sand blocks, rhythm sticks, wooden devices that make "click clack" sounds, steel tone bars and all varieties of whistles and tinkle makers.

With these the young pupil gets a sense of accomplishment in actual performance, learns rhythm, and his path is eased into the technicalities of music, according to Frank B. Cookson, associate editor of the Educational Music magazine.

The rhythm bands have grown up in the last three or four years. At the current conference, which 150 music supervisors are attending, a new type of toy orchestra has been introduced. It promises to become popular among the very young, and, according to the music educators, there is nothing to prevent adults from stealing it for a cocktail party game.

Each pupil is given a tone bar, which, struck with a stick, produces one note of the scale. The pupil watches the director's signal for the time to chip in on the harmony with his one note. His music in front of him is written for just his one note with the proper timing indications. Gradually he associates the rhythm dictated by the director with that indicated by the music. The director is a pupil also.

Practicing on "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," the teachers found that coöperative timing was not as easily mastered as they had expected, and there were occasional sour misplaced notes.

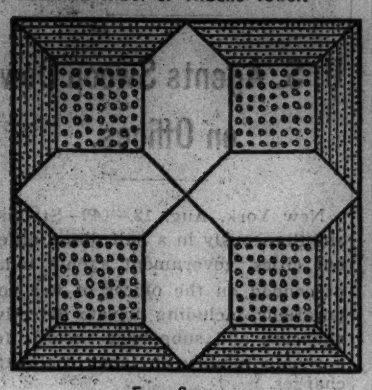
Old Quilt Block Creates Design in Sets of Crosses

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Four Square.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This interesting old pattern, when set together in an all over design, creates two sets of crosses, light and dark ones, separated by square patches. "Four Square" is one of the easiest of the pieced patterns for the beginning quiltmaker. Only 16 patches are used in one square which, when finished, measures 12 inches. A full size quilt requires 49 pieced blocks and is finished with a four inch border and a one-half inch binding in contrast to the border.

Teacher Should Aid Progress of Gifted Child

But He Must Be Kept in Own Age Group.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday the mother of a "bright" child, a small boy intellectually gifted, expressed her misgivings about his schooling. She feared that when he did get into school, in the class right for his age, he would be bored by the work, and so get into mischief.

This is quite true. If, for instance, you put a child of 6 years [with a mental age of 8 or 9] in a class with other 6 year olds whose mental age is average, he is apt to get into trouble, as we explained yesterday.

What should be done about these children? Certainly gifted children have been neglected educationally far more than have retarded children.

There are several ways of meeting this situation.

One is to advance a child in school as fast as he will go. But this means that when he is 8 or 9 he may be in a class with boys and girls of 12 or 13. Here you have a great social gap. This is not good for him. He is made to feel superior intellectually, and inferior socially.

Better is the rapid advancement class. This is a class made up of superior children who may play together as equals, and work together as equals. They will study like 12 year olds, and play like 8 year olds, in both cases neither superior nor inferior to their groups. [Though gifted children sometimes are more mature in their leisure interests.]

Another solution, and one more practical for a school without special classes, is the enrichment program idea. In this, the teacher plans individual work of greater scope, and arranges a project requiring greater intellectual capacity for the child who is in mental age beyond his classmates.

We have reading references on the gifted child. They will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Raymond S. Blunt, governor of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa district of Kiwanis International, conferred yesterday with Lewis Bernays, British consul general here, on plans for the dedication of an international boundary tablet at Fort Frances, Ont., on Sept. 5. The tablet is the gift of this Kiwanis district and is the first of such boundary peace monuments to be given by a group remotely situated from the boundary.

Millions prefer this wholly different salad dressing!

A PRETTY drastic change of opinion—that of the young lady in the picture above. But it's one that has been shared by millions of women in real life.

Like her, they had had very strong convictions about salad dressings. In some cases they favored homemade, in others a special kind they bought.

But ask them today, and they'll tell you Miracle Whip is far and away their favorite . . . they prefer it to any other kind of dressing they have ever tasted!

Naturally, such things couldn't happen with the usual run of salad dressings . . . least of all with ordinary commercial mixtures. Miracle Whip Salad Dressing is different, totally different, from them. As different as summer from winter.

Finer ingredients . . a special recipe

In many salad dressings offered for sale today the costly ingredients are deliberately skimped. Some contain even less than the bare minimum standard that was approved by the government.

The special Miracle Whip recipe, on the other hand, calls for an abundance of these costly ingredients. Miracle Whip is a skillful cross between mayonnaise and old-fashioned boiled dressing—a wholly new type of salad dressing with a tantalizing flavor that millions prefer to that of any other kind of dressing. Miracle Whip is very moderately priced. Ask for it.

Enjoys Indian Hill Club

Fur Will Trim Tiny Felt Hats for Fall Wear

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Fall fashion previews include fur trimmed hats—dinky little dabs of felt or fabric trimmed with either a band of fur or balls of fur, then matched to gauntlet gloves also banded or trimmed with the same kind of fur. Shrewed shoppers for fur coats will save all scraps of fur for these beguiling bits of headgear and gloves.

There are rumors of nice slim suits also trimmed with huge buttons of silver fox and worn with gauntlet gloves with cuffs of silver fox, a nice way to use bits of any old fur scarf or collars.

This silver fox fur trim on dull black broadcloth suits is perfect styling as well as luxurious. And there's no good reason why the brown addicts can't steal this fur trick with mink or any other brown fur as well as gray and black caracul.

Revivals of broadcloth are promised for suits, one piece street clothes and even for long clinging evening gowns or dinner outfits. Black is the decided favorite, with ink blue the second choice.

Long cloth coats of green will be worn on the first fall days. They are dramatic looking affairs trimmed with long bands of rich spicy brown flat fur, have long tuxedo collars matched, wide revers and flared cuffs. The green is rich and deep and flattering and the woolen textures smooth and suedelike.

And here is good news from the fashion fur shows: the designers have given special thought to sizes larger than 38. They have used slendering streamlines that take inches off the figure. Flat fur is used and worked so expertly that all the horrors of bulk have been removed. Even the collars have been reduced to pleasing proportions.

Sally Receives Many Letters from Children

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

The prospect of seeing a dramatization of "Heidi" seems to have made a big hit with you boys and girls! Your letters have been good, and enthusiastic. Today's the day I select the winners, you know.

After looking over some of the mail I have decided to tell you what little Doris had to say about our next party:

"Dear Sally: I am trying to write a very good letter so I may win to see Heidi. I have never won a trip with you yet, but I hope to win this time because I like it most. My playmate told me part of the story and I loved it ever so much. I like Heidi because she is about my own age. She likes cats and so do I. I remember one part in the story well, where she plays with Clara and the kittens. I love her golden hair and kindness and want to be like her. I wish she was real so I could play with her. I wish I lived with her on the mountains so I could drink that good milk and eat that good cheese. I do want to see the Jack and Jill players act out Heidi and so I will wait for my letter. I hope ever so much I'll win."

Well, I have an idea that maybe Doris will find her name listed with the winners in next Sundays' TRIBUNE.

Today's party day, boys and girls, although I hardly think it necessary to remind the happy youngsters who've won invitations to our ice carnival at the College Inn. I'll see you all this afternoon, and please bring your letters and be on time!

Rev. Hume Returns; Plans for New Church Building

The Rev. Theodore C. Hume, pastor of the New England Congregational church, returned to Chicago last evening from a visit of several months in England during which he preached in English churches under an exchange plan sponsored by a religious society. The Rev. Mr. Hume was met by members of the church board of directors with whom he will consider plans for a church building. The historic church building at Dearborn parkway and Delaware place was destroyed by fire during his absence.

Shut-In Aids Hold Sale Today at Lake Geneva

Summer Residents Will Attend Regatta.

BY JUDITH CASS.

LAKE GENEVA will be somewhat deserted this week-end, for all the sailors—and what masculine member of the summer colony isn't a sailor?—and many of their "wimmenfolk" will be leaving the lake tomorrow to go to Madison, where the inland lakes regatta will start on Monday.

Today, however, will be a busy one at the lake, with all the women who are summering at the pleasant Wisconsin resort going at some time during the morning or afternoon to Oak Lodge, the senior Daniel Peterkins' hospitable home, to attend a sale sponsored by the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins.

Mrs. Earle J. Zimmerman, the energetic and capable president of the society, came to Chicago from her summer home at the lake Tuesday to select articles from the stock of the shop in North Michigan avenue to be displayed in Lake Geneva today, and she will be one of those assisting Mrs. Peterkin at the sale.

Miss Marjorie Kimball has gone up to the lake to act as a saleswoman today, and among others who will assist are Mrs. Peterkin Jr., Mrs. Philip T. Starck, Mrs. Sangston Hettler, and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., who all belong to Lake Geneva's summer colony.

Mrs. Madlener Jr. is in charge of the sale of tables for a benefit bridge tea the board of managers of Holiday home will give at the Lake Geneva Country club on Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 25. Those who go to Madison for the races will be back by that time and it is expected that the party will be one of the gayest afternoon affairs of the summer at the lake.

Several Lake Geneva Boats Are Entered.

The junior Peterkins are among those who are going to the regatta and so is Mrs. Starck. Her son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Starck, are going, and so are the Augustus K. Maxwells and their "Sonny," who is a member of the crew of Col. William N. Pelouze's Chalange. Col. and Mrs. Pelouze and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Adams Sr. are not going to Madison until next Tuesday, but practically every one else from Lake Geneva who will be at the regatta is leaving the lake tomorrow. The former Medora Pelouze and her husband, Bruce P. Adams, are taking their Rascal up there and Ernst Schmidt is taking his A boat, the Black Point III.

Another A boat that will represent Lake Geneva in the races is the Bigfoot, Too, which is owned by A. F. Gartz Jr. The Gartzes' sub-deb daughter, Gloria, is not taking her own little boat, of the C class, but she is a member of the crew of the Bigfoot, Too. The Gartzes are trailing a motor boat, as well as the sail boat, overland tomorrow, so that they can cruise around Lake Mendota and watch the races from various angles. The Harry N. Giffords, Mrs. William S. Petersen [Mr. Schmidt's sister], and Clarence W. Sills are among other Lake Genevans who will be in Madison next week.

De Witt Buchanans Have Boat in Races.

The De Witt Buchanans of Lake Forest, who are summering at Oconomowoc, are taking their boat, their two daughters, and their son up to Madison for the regatta and, although, of course, Oconomowoc will be represented by other boats, the Buchanans will be the only Chicagoans in the Oconomowoc fleet.

Delavan Lake will be represented by four Chicago Camerons, Gordon and Barton, two of the four sons of Dr. and Mrs. Dan Cameron, and Charles and Scotty, sons of Dr. and Mrs. Anson Cameron. Both Cameron families have summer places on Delavan. The two older Camerons, Gordon and Barton, will be sailing with Harry Nye, who is taking his E boat up from Delavan. Young Mr. Nye, by the way, will be taking his Star boat, which he keeps at the Sheridan Shore Yacht club in the Wilmette harbor, to Rochester, N. Y., later this month, for he will represent the Lake Michigan fleet in the international races to

By June Provines

A graduate of DePauw university recently attended a conclave of her sorority sisters in Greencastle, Ind., and stopped at a hotel during her week-end stay. When she arrived home she discovered she had left a fancy pink satin nightgown in her hotel room. In reply to her letter to the manager about the nightgown came the information that a man had been put into that room the day she left who had left his pajamas behind. He had written back for his pajamas, and the manager, finding the pink satin nightgown as well as the pajamas, had mailed it to him along with the pajamas. The incident affords speculation as to what explanations the young man had to make at home when the fancy pink satin nightgown arrived with his pajamas and brings to mind the advertisment that recently appeared in the newspapers: "Found: a woman's purse in the back of my car. It will be returned to the owner gratefully if she will explain to my wife how the Sam Hill it got there."

THE above nightgown story, which comes from Frankfort, Ind., reminds Jane McClelland of that city of another incident. A young man went into a Frankfort department store and asked to see silk nightgowns. The saleswoman showed him two, a twelve dollar gown and a fifteen dollar one. As he had not expected to spend quite as much as that he said, smiling, "Have you something a little less expensive? You see, I'm married to the lady!"

The saleswoman looked blank for a moment, then nodding understandingly, put away the two expensive nighties and produced a sixty-nine cent rayon gown.

Elsa Hottinger Puts Acting in Concert Work

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Elsa Hottinger is an opera singer even on the concert platform. Appearing last night as soloist with the Max Bendix band on the forty-third of the free Grant park programs, this personable young mezzo was not content merely to sing the words and music of two airs assigned to Carmen in the opera of the same name, but threw herself into the task of actually impersonating the wilful and passionate cigaret girl.

She dramatized each phrase of the songs, so that even a person unfamiliar with the Mérimée story might have made a plausible guess as to what it was all about.

First came the dusky and wayward "Habanera," which plays such an important part in the opera in defining the traits of the name part. Following it was the pulsing, devil may care Gypsy song. Del Riego's "Homing" served as encore.

Miss Hottinger is a Chicagoan who has received most of her professional experience in Europe. She will be remembered as the Ortrud of last spring's "Lohengrin," mounted during the visit of the San Carlo Opera company.

Max Bendix, like the leaders of all concert bands, has invaded the orchestral literature for most of his program items. Except for a march or two, there was hardly anything last night which is not played regularly by the symphony orchestras of the land.

From the very nature of things, these invasions are bound to be successful when the prizes brought back are of the brilliant type. In Massenet's "Phedre" overture, for example, that business of piling sonorities on top of one another is something that a band can do exceedingly well.

In parts of the slow movement of the Tschaikowsky Fifth Symphony, which followed "Phedre," it is hard for the band to compass a tone of sufficient delicacy. The same criticism applies to the Offenbach Barcarolle, which might just as well be retired anyway.

In Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Capriccio Espagnol," the splendor of tone accorded well with the blazing brilliance which the composer wrote into his score. Similarly in the Bacchanale from "Samson" and the two final movements of the "Peer Gynt" suite.

A feature of tonight's Grant park concert, to be played by the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra under Richard Szerwonky, will be a performance of the ballet fantasy from Eleanor Everest Freer's "A Legend of Spain."

Polly Moran Clears Hubby in Gun Case

Denies He Tried to Shoot; Explains All.

When she finished Malone's future appeared much brighter—and her smooth set hair stood wildly.

Martin's actions that eventful morning of June 15, when he was charged with assaulting Miss Moran with a deadly weapon, really were not so reprehensible, she testified.

"He never struck me, he never hit me, he never threatened me with a gun," she said.

So Malone pleaded guilty to charge of exhibiting a gun, a misdemeanor. He asked probation.

Judge Cecil B. Holland set Aug. 26 for argument and said the felony charge would be dismissed.

Miss Moran's testimony "rolled 'em in the aisles." It was much different than the tale sherif's deputies quoted her as relating when—brought to the Malone-Moran domicile by Polly's far-reaching screams and frantic telephoning—they took her husband into custody.

In the heat of the moment, Miss Moran claimed, Malone, an attorney, came home drunk and infuriated. Some one had called the former collegiate boxer "Mr. Polly Moran." She exhibited a blackened eye to substantiate her story that Malone attacked her.

Today's version was pleasanter—and funnier.

"I thought it would be a good lesson to the boy if I told officers to take him away and lock him up—I thought it would teach him not to be playing with guns," Miss Moran testified.

"He came home just a wee bit intoxicated, and what would I do but start my nagging number.

"He said—'Ah, my little nagging wife!'

Miss Moran rolled her eyes and explained to an intrigued court and audience:

There were appreciative chuckles.

"Well, I gave him some of that for a while and ended by saying—'go blow your brains out!'

"Now, no one could have been more surprised than me when he went over to a dressing table and took out a rusty old gun.

"I meant by that, that I would simply die of sorrow if he went and killed himself."

Malone watched his wife intently.

"It was a warm night, the windows were all wide open and I guess all the neighbors heard me screaming for after a while I heard a knocking at the door and voices came—'We're deputy sherifs. Open the door and let us come in.'

"I ran down stairs with the idea of getting some help to keep my poor husband from committing suicide."

Miss Moran pointed to Malone and said, "You see he's a pretty big boy. He was a boxing champ and he could have knocked me down with his little finger."

Miss Moran stuck up her little finger lest her point be missed.

"I didn't want him to commit suicide in the house," she said.

Through the Looking Glass

Since a great part of the beauty of eyes is the color, length, and luster of the lashes that frame them mascaras are always news. She's using an old, well-liked one in a new cream form. It comes in a handy tube and can be used on a dry brush.

One of the best mascaras on the market—if we have our figures straight it's the tops in popularity—is now available in cream form as well as in the shape of the old familiar cake.

The mascara itself is fundamentally pretty much the same. It's still a gem of an eyelash darkener that is perfectly safe to use, that won't smart or run and that seems to give the lashes luster rather than to take it away. But it is prepared now in a creamy texture that enables you to apply it to the lashes on a dry brush without the use of water. It comes in a most convenient little tube, and has an especially designed brush as a companion piece.

This is the type of mascara that you can tote around in your pocketbook and use throughout the day without any inconvenience. You simply squeeze out a bit on the little brush and give your lashes the works. But be careful! When the manufacturers say creamy, they mean creamy. The slightest pressure at the base of the tube does the trick. It's really almost "runny" and it will be all over the lot if your pressure isn't really light.

As a purse piece this is eminently satisfactory; the fat little tube and the thin little brush come in a waterproof suede case with a zipper fastener. Takes up practically no room and can't leak or get squashed.

Shades are black, brown, and blue—and each holds its true color beautifully on the lashes. We know you'll like this new form of an old and deservedly popular mascara.

SYNOPSIS.

Shortly after the world war Roger Mallard, handsome young Englishman, is embittered by the loss of hearing in one ear from a war injury. Mal has been raised by his godfather, William Grimwold, an actor. Grimmy persuades Mal to attend a New Year's eve party where he meets lovely young Pamella Wyeth, though he forgets her on meeting Zelda Manners. A month later Mal marries Zelda. After two years the marriage ends disastrously. In a rage at his failure to make a living on the stage Zelda flings a mirror at Mal and unknowingly destroys the hearing in his other ear. Fourteen years later, under Grimmy's tutelage, Mal has become a great success in pictures, hiding his affliction from his public. Zelda has refused him a divorce. Pamella Wyeth has a home in Pasadena. David Barkley, son of an old friend, boards with her. At the première of Mal's latest film David meets Ellen Greet, and invites her to a New Year's eve party at the hotel where Mallard lives, and asks Pamella along as chaperon. Mal is mourning the sudden death of Grimmy. He writes a letter of resignation to his producer. David, as a joke on Ellen, has a boy page her with a message that Roger Mallard wants to meet her. Mal, skilful at lip reading, is sitting at the next table. Attracted by Pamella, Mal introduces himself and asks to join their party. Jealous at Ellen's interest in Mal, David takes her off, deserting Pamella.

INSTALMENT XVI.
REINCARNATION.

Mal was distressed to see mortified tears swimming in Pamella's eyes.

"They've run away and left us. How could David be so cruel! I thought he was really fond of me——"

Mal shouldered the blame at once.

"Think nothing of it. It's my fault—for interfering. Helped by the champagne."

"You see," she looked at him, trying to smile, "I only came here to please David. . . . I didn't want to come."

"Nor I," Mal confessed. "But see what's happened. To me, at least. A chance to meet you. Now make me still happier by letting me take you home."

"Indeed not!" cried Pamella, flushing. "I wouldn't think of such a thing! I live away out in the Sierra Madre hills beyond Pasadena. I couldn't bear to—to impose on you——"

"Miss Wyeth, I'm going to order my car and take you home. What better way can we have of getting acquainted!"

"O, no!"

For an instant Mal quailed. Surely she didn't think him an impostor because of his voice and eyes. . . .

Something of the hurt in his face made Pamella quickly add: "You see, I've my own car. I came alone. I'm used to going home alone——"

"Well, you shouldn't be used to it," Mal retorted. "And I'm not going to let you have a chance to grow more used to it tonight. I'll drive you out in your car and have mine come later to pick me up. . . . Miss Wyeth," Mal's voice took a deeper tone, "I came here in a poor attempt to escape from my thoughts. In the cloakroom I overheard young Barkley's plot to torment the little Ellen at my expense. I saw in it an opportunity to meet you, and I decided to give his play a twist of my own. What followed, thanks to your assistance, has helped—immeasurably—to lighten an impossible evening. Now if you'll let me drive you home—if you'll be so very kind as to let me greet the New Year with you, there, you'll—well, you will have helped me face it with a better courage than I could have done—otherwise."

Pam glanced back with an uneasy feeling.

Pamella impulsively held out her beautiful small hand to meet his that had been helping him plead.

"Do come. I—I need a better courage, too."

. . . .

In something of a daze Pamella allowed her hand to be drawn through Mr. Mallard's arm. She was grateful to lean on him a little, to let him guide her out of the seething ballroom. No one marked their going save a wandering eye here and there, indifferent to people who left before the fun was well started.

"You've kept me waiting the longest five minutes I ever lived through!" he told her when they met in the now almost empty lobby, after separating to get their coats. "So that I can't possibly go on fearing I've merely dreamed you, won't you please write your address on your card, Miss Wyeth? And I'll send it to my man."

But it developed that Pam had no card, nor could either one of them produce a pencil.

"No matter. My car can be phoned for. It will give me more time with you."

"Why do you feel that you have dreamed me?"

"Will you think me balmy or just sentimental if I tell you that for the first time in my life I'm inclined to believe in reincarnation? I've the strangest feeling that somewhere—sometime, I've seen and known you—very importantly—before."

Her memory had not exaggerated his wholly unself-conscious charm, Pam thought with tumultuous excitement. . . .

As they approached the outer entrance a man, lounging in a chair wreathed in the smoke of his cigar, leaned forward and stared. He even started to rise and then evidently thought better of it. He was a long, thin individual, built not unlike the man who was holding her arm so protectingly. Dressed in the pink of evening dress, and exuding a well groomed though brittle distinction, he yet gave the impression of having in some way debased his legitimate claims of high breeding. It was this about him that made his hard, deeply lined face so sinister. His contemptuous eyes, separated by two vertical creases, his ironically twisted lips, subtly betrayed his otherwise pleasing polish. "Nothing can be lower than a thoroughbred turned rotter," Pam had once heard her father say. Somehow this phrase was recalled to her as she looked at this man.

She began to feel distinctly uneasy because, having given one narrow-eyed glance at Roger Mallard, the man seemed to find her the more interesting of the two.

"Mr. Mallard, did you notice that man who seemed to be suppressing a desire to speak to you?"

Mal, looking for the doorman who was busy with some incoming parties, replied by saying that he would have her car called.

"It can't be," Pam smiled rather wanly. "I'll be honest. I'm not very affluent these days. I'm apt to avoid tips and hunt free parking spaces beside curbs on side streets. Do you mind walking?"

"Not at all. I'll be glad to."

As they turned the bend in the drive Pam glanced back, still with an uneasy feeling though she couldn't tell why. The man had come out onto the portico and was hailing one of the waiting taxis.

Pamella wasn't used to being so carefully tucked in and taken care of. And she liked it. She liked handing her keys over to Roger Mallard, although she was inclined to pinch herself as she did so. She liked watching him crowd his long legs under her steering wheel and say, "I'll have to push the seat back," and do it before she could answer.

While they waited at the stop light leading out into the stream of east and west bound trafic on the boulevard, Mr. Mallard looked down at her.

"May I suggest that you sink back there in your corner and let me do the work of dodging drunken drivers—unhampered by your fascinations?"

"I'll try to suppress them."

"Please do! We can talk together, can't we, when we've escaped from this pandemonium and are safe by your fireside. Don't tell me you haven't one?" Pam nodded. "Good then, that's settled. By the way, before we both go into a silence, perhaps you'd better tell me how to get there. Not into the silence, understand me, but to your home."

Pamella began to wave her hands in the mystic way of direction givers.

"I think I'm going to like you better, Miss Wyeth," Mal smiled, "now I've found out you're not absolutely perfect. As a pilot you leave a lot to be desired. I'll go over to Pasadena on one of the main routes that leads into the Colorado bridge. Then if you'll confine your directions to words like 'left' or 'right' or 'straight ahead' perhaps I can get you home tonight."

"I'll drive, if you don't trust yourself or the pilot."

"No!" said Mal.

As he started the car eastward into the trafic it seemed to Pam that a taxi was constantly crowding in upon them. But she must have been mistaken for some time later theirs appeared to be the only car climbing the deserted hillside road.

. . . .

Upon arriving safely at Villa Far Niente, Pamella took charge. She had the lamps in the big living room switched on in a twinkling—advised Mr. Mallard to touch a match to the fire.

Home Beauty Care May Be Most Effective

Woman Can Give Herself Waves, Manicure, Etc.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"What about all this talk of what you can do for yourself in a beauty way?" one correspondent challenges. "With all the beauty parlors and salons, it sounds Victorian to suggest doing things for yourself. It sounds to me like advising people to make their own dresses in this day and age, when one can buy them cheaper and in better style!"

Buying clothes may be cheaper, as you say, because you do get good lines even in the lowest priced things, if you are a good shopper, and it takes a good dressmaker to give you good lines. But I still do not think the comparison is fair. A dress lasts you a long time. A facial, a manicure, a hairdress doesn't, so that one has to keep on entering the salon weekly or semi-weekly. In the average beauty salon you can't escape without spending less than a couple of dollars, including tips, etc. Yes, it's grand if your budget stretches to permit frequent visits. But if it doesn't, it is pretty smart to be able to do things for yourself, don't you think?

As to what you can do, and what countless young, well groomed women have to do for themselves in order to hold their jobs, is the home manicure, the home facial, the home wave setting, and shampoo. But let's not confine it to the business person. A woman at home, with say a half hour, or even fifteen minutes a day, could keep herself looking perfectly groomed, if she did the following things:

First—Used a cleansing cream and let it seep into the pores, then wiped this off, gave her face a couple of minutes massage with a skin food type of cream, and then used a bit of tonic or astringent after the removal of the massage cream.

Second—Sat down to a hair brushing job, or scalp massage to stir up circulation, then anointed the head with a waving lotion and reset the wave. A little practice will make you an expert at this. Or, use the clever curlers available now for overnight wear.

Third—The do-yourself-finger-nail care may keep hands always presentable. Any woman can do this with a bit of practice, and may include hand massage as well.

Fourth—Daily exercises to keep the bulges from showing.

Helen Ferguson Ends Debt to Defunct Bank Her Husband Headed

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Helen Ferguson, film star of the silent days, and now a motion picture press agent, today had a receipt marked "paid in full" for her $32,883 indebtedness to the collapsed Beverly Hills First National bank of which her husband, Richard L. Hargreaves, was president. Miss Ferguson had reduced her indebtedness by $15,000 by payments made during six years. Today a compromise was effected and she made a final payment of $5,000.

Hargreaves was convicted in federal court of wrongful use of the bank funds but after a year in jail was pardoned by President Roosevelt and now is living in Hollywood with his wife. Prior to marrying Miss Ferguson, Hargreaves was the husband of Grace Bryan, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan.

be held on Lake Ontario starting Sept. 1. If Mr. Nye is fortunate enough to be this year's winner, that will mean that the international races next year will be held here.

Junior Garden Group Will Hold Tour.

In place of a regular meeting next Monday afternoon the Evanston Junior League Garden club will visit three gardens, progressing from Mrs. Mark W. Cresap's home in Winnetka to Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball's at Indian Hill, and thence to Mrs. Robert Tobey's in Glencoe for tea. Mrs. Cresap, who is Illinois chairman of conservation for the Garden Club of America, will talk informally on conservation.

Arthur Meeker's brief visit home has been cut short by a business trip to Montreal and New York, but he will be in town again this week-end on his way back to Santa Barbara to rejoin Mrs. Meeker and Arthur Meeker Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer are following him west the first week in September for a visit of a week or 10 days. The Meekers will return to Chicago the end of September.

Miss Martha Fitts and Miss Jessica Hambleton are leaving today for Fish Creek, Wis., where Miss Hambleton's parents, the Chalkley Jay Hambletons, are spending the summer. Miss Hambleton has been spending the last two weeks in the city, working in the rare book room at the Newberry library but she will not return to it until fall. Miss Fitts is spending her vacation with the Hambletons. Jay Hambleton Jr. will be in Fish Creek while his sister and her guest are there.

Mrs. Callahan, Mrs. Hoyne Sail for England Saturday.

Mrs. Americus F. Callahan and Mrs. Leonora T. Hoyne are sailing Saturday from Quebec on the Empress of Britain for England. They are planning to visit Mrs. Callahan's son, Miller Callahan, and his family at their country place in Surrey, and Mrs. Callahan, of course, will spend some time with her brother-in-law and sister, Ambassador and Mrs. Mrs. Robert W. Bingham. Mrs. Calaha nand Mrs. Hoyne are returning home the end of September.

Lawrence Callahan is going today to Harbor Point to visit the Charles C. Renshaws.

Mrs. James Otis Hinkley is leaving shortly on a motor trip to Bar Harbor, Me. She will stay at the inn there for a few days, and then probably will go on to the Gaspé peninsula before returning home the middle of next month.

Cleaveland Putnam, Mrs. Hinkley's nephew, and his wife are arriving the latter part of September from their Arizona ranch for a visit with Mrs. Hinkley. Mr. Putnam is in Saratoga now, and is racing several of his horses. Mr. and Mrs. William B. Schrauff [Katherine Putnam] are visiting in England and Scotland and will not return to their home on Long Island until the middle of September, so Mrs. Hinkley will not see them when she is in the east.

Mrs. Charles A. Butland [Garrigue Gallagher] who came from her home in China late in the winter, bringing her little daughter, Ina, for a visit with Ina's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Gallagher, in Highland Park, has gone to Colorado Springs to meet her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Butland will come to Highland Park early in September but will go to England to visit his relatives during November. They plan to return to this country before Christmas so that they can spend the holidays at Lake Placid, where they met, and they will return to China late in January.

Mrs. Bowen Will Return on Monday.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. and her daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Bowen, are expected at home in Lake Forest next Monday after a visit with Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Sr., at her home in Bar Harbor.

Miss Clarice Hamill is expected at home next Wednesday from the Huron Mountain club, where she and her mother, Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, are staying. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II. are staying in Lake Forest with her parents, the Sterling Mortons.

Mrs. Schreve C. Badger is expected at home on the 22d with her children after spending most of the summer with her mother, Mrs. John H. Winterbotham, at the latter's Vermont home.

Mrs. Sheldon Clark, who is spending the summer quietly in Barrington, is looking forward to the arrival of the Carrington Clarks and their baby later in the month. Young Mr. Clark and his wife will spend his vacation with her parents in Marion, Mass., with plans to stop in Barrington on their way home to Kansas City.

Miss Bonnie-Jean Clark is visiting in Maine, and will not return until the end of the month. Mr. Clark is in Europe.

More Chicagoans at Fish Creek.

Mrs. James Weber Linn has returned from Mexico and is at Fish Creek with Mr. Linn for the remainder of the summer. Their daughter Mrs. James W. Rogers, and her children also are spending the summer at Fish Creek, and Mr. Rogers joins them every week-end. The Linns and Mrs. Rogers plan to remain in Wisconsin until the middle of September.

Another week-end commuter to Fish Creek is Thomas L. Marshall. Mrs. Marshall and the children have been there since Mr. and Mrs. Marshall returned from England earlier this summer.

The two younger children of the junior John B. Drakes are going next week to visit their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Lowden at their island home in the St. Lawrence. The oldest of the Drake children has been there for several weeks and the children of the junior Albert F. Madleners also are visiting their maternal grandparents. The Lowdens' other daughter, Mrs. Phillip Miller, and her husband, Dr. Miller, are traveling in Europe.

Robert F. Carr and his son, Robert Jr., have gone to the Seigniory club in Quebec. Mrs. Leland K. Neeves and her family are at the club for the rest of the summer, and are planning costumes for a fancy dress ball to be held there on Saturday. Mr. Neeves and Mrs. Francis B. Ritchie are the only Chicago members of the Seigniory.

John A. Bloomingston and his daughter, Miss Caryl Bloomingston, left yesterday for the club to be away until after Labor day.

The Allen B. Ripleys also are going to the Seigniory to be guests there until after the golf tournament. Mrs. Henry N. Tuttle is another who is relaxing at the club.

Charming for Home Hours

MISS' FROCK AND APRON ENSEMBLE.

Here is the answer to the problem of constant chic for hours at home during the informal summer season. This is the time of year when the popular young matron is called upon to be hostess at almost any time of day, and yet she must attend to the many duties of keeping a house always charming and of preparing meals and snacks. Under these circumstances she must appear always at her best—smart, neat, and feminine. The ensemble pictured today consists of a trim little frock, which might well be worn informally at social events and for spectator sports, and its own apron which buttons onto the dress and ties in the back. Should the doorbell ring while one is in the midst of a household task, off comes the apron and the housewife receives her callers without embarrassment.

The frock has a drawstring neckline and girlish little puffed sleeves. The apron has a natty pocket for cupboard and laundry keys, etc.

The original model made from this pattern is fashioned of cotton crash, a sturdy and attractive fabric, in a print with aqua background. The apron is of white crash. A really clever idea is to have the apron in the same fabric as that of the dress. Another combination creates the frock in dimity dotted in red, navy, and white, and the apron in plain white.

Style No. 3087 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for the dress, with 1⅛ yards of 39 inch material for the apron.

"Thirst Quenchers," Mary Meade's new booklet of summertime drinks, both those made with fruit juices and those made with milk, now is available at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. BY MARY MEADE.

There always was a twinkle in Aunt Frances' eye as she turned from her oven to see, in the doorway, one, two, three, or more of the neighborhood children.

And before the boldest little waif had time to sniff the air vigorously and hint that "somep'n' smells awful good" she would snatch from the oven a little gingerbread, made especially for small visitors certain to be attracted by the rich, spicy odors of bake day.

Nobody could make gingerbread as did Aunt Frances. You had pretty good gingerbread at home, of course, but somehow the hot, steaming kind you nibbled ecstatically in Aunt Frances' kitchen had a flavor all its own.

Aunt Frances didn't dress up her gingerbread as we do today. She didn't bake it in two layers, melting marshmallows between, and she didn't serve it with a custard sauce. But, once in a while, she would top it with apple butter or apple sauce, and this was indeed a treat!

Aunt Frances never had heard of gingerbread mixes which come in packaged form and need only the addition of water to make a smooth batter. She would have been surprised had any one told her that gingerbread almost as good as her own could be made from a prepared mix.

Whether or not a prepared mix is used, gingerbread is easily made. The muffin method of mixing, in which the liquid ingredients are mixed and poured into the sifted dry ingredients with a little stirring, gives good results. Gingerbread is an inexpensive and adaptable cake. With a good foundation recipe you can putter around and make all sorts of variations and still be sure of good results.

You may use sweet or sour milk, brown or white sugar, milk or water, light or dark molasses, and any kind of fat.

Of course, if you use sour milk in a recipe which calls for sweet milk you will need to use more soda and less baking powder in the mixture. But other recipe changes call for no more alteration.

The liquid may be orange juice or coffee instead of milk or water, if you like. And nuts and chopped fruit may be added to the batter for more variation. Gingerbread batter will make a good upside down cake with pineapple slices, or apricot or peach halves. And it makes a delicious dessert when baked in the waffle iron and topped with whipped cream. For the making of gingerbread waffles, however, the iron should not be too hot, since molasses scorches easily.

Soft cream cheese, beaten with a little cream and a few chopped nuts, makes an appropriately tasty filling or topping for gingerbread.

Now for a basic gingerbread recipe for cake pan, layer pans, or muffin tins, as you like.

Gingerbread.

2 cups flour
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup molasses
½ cup sour milk
1 egg
¼ cup fat

Sift flour and then sift other dry ingredients with it. Mix liquid ingredients, melting the fat if solid fat is used, and add. Mix all ingredients together for about 125 strokes. Bake in a slow oven [325 degrees] for half an hour, or until done.

According to CULBERTSON

My self-appointed bridge spy has sent me another interesting hand. His letter was: "Dear Chief: Pursuing my nefarious and dangerous duties as your contract bridge spy [by the way, wouldn't it be more dignified for you to designate me Secret Agent No. 999?] I have tracked down another amazing hand. The title that I suggest for this one is 'How Not to Make a Slam.' The amazing feature of the hand was the naiveté of the declarer, who, when he found himself one down on the iciest of cold contracts, murmured apologetically to his bursting partner: 'Sorry, I guess I bid too much.' Against such a penitent attitude how could the partner have been such a butcher as to blurt out: 'Yes, I guess you did, considering the way you play 'em!'"

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 diamonds	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
6 diamonds [final bid]

Again quoting the Spy: "Apparently South could think of no better bid over North's two heart response than to leap directly to a small slam, and, to be honest with you, Chief, I can't either. Asking bids cannot be used on this hand, as I see it, and there is no scientific way of determining whether five, six, or seven diamonds is the correct contract. Am I right?" [Answer: Yes and no. A difficult hand to bid scientifically, but South might at least ascertain, through the 4-5 no trump convention, whether North holds the ace of hearts.]

"Obviously a club opening lead would have left no play for the contract, but the declarer was fortunate enough to find West, the opening leader, with a much more attractive spade opening. The queen went to South's ace, the adverse trumps were drawn, and now declarer made the most naive play that I have ever seen! He led the jack of hearts and let it ride! East held up his ace, and now dummy could never get the lead to cash its good king of spades. Quite obviously declarer, with childlike faith, had relied on the opposition to take the jack of hearts, after which he could easily discard on dummy's king and queen [and make an appetizing canape out of the superfluous king of spades]. The thought of insuring entry to the dummy, and the only discard needed on the spade king, by overtaking the heart jack apparently never occurred to the declarer. Or possibly he did think of it and recoiled from the wanton waste of two honors on one trick.

"YOUR INDEFATIGABLE SPY."

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Is it ever correct to open the bidding with a six bid?

Answer: Yes. With a tremendous freak containing twelve cold tricks, with the missing trick a high honor in the trump suit, it is quite correct to open with a six bid. Such a hand as: ♠ —, ♥ K Q J 10 9 8 7 4, ♦ A, ♣ A K Q J, is best opened with a bid of six hearts. Partner should raise such a bid only on a trump trick [ace, king, or queen, x, x]. If he holds the A K of spades and the K Q of diamonds, but no high trump honor, he must pass.

Can't Put Reins on Man's Love, Says Adviser

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A girl tells us about her meeting with a young man a year ago, and about how the first six months of their companionship was a perfect idyll. Then, the young man "fell" for another girl and gave the second girl a three months' rush. At the end of that period he came back to our girl and confided that the other girl was not to his liking after all. The girl "forgave him," she tells us. For a month they were again on the old basis of dates and meetings. Then the young man asked to call it quits.

"He said it wasn't fair to me for us to keep on seeing each other so much," the girl writes, "because some other man might want to take me out, and he didn't care enough for me or our friendship ever to result in marriage."

"I am not a beauty," the girl explains. "But I am attractive and have a perfect figure. My education is sufficient to meet the most exacting standards and I can dance and mix well with people. Is there anything else a young man could want in a girl? Do you think if I let him go again, he would return, and be satisfied that he can do no better?"

Is there anything else a young man could want in a girl, you ask? Yes, honey, there is. The spark that bestirs the tender emotions. You might be a great beauty, have a perfect figure, be well educated, an excellent dancer, and a good mixer, and still, with all these assets, not have the emotional appeal that moves men to worship. You might be homely as a hedge fence and have something about you that would get them without the slightest effort. The alchemy of love is like that. You can't supply the ingredients on order.

But, young woman, we have a suspicion that your self-assurance may be a bit wearing. It's nice to have a certain amount of it, true, for that's what gives you ease and poise. But you might be patronizing with your cocksure attitude. Your forgiving the youth his absence suggests this. There was nothing to forgive when you had arrived at no serious discussion of the future.

In any event, you can't hold the reins on him as he has been perfectly honest with you.

'REDS' PREPARE TO HURL ATTACK ON 'BLUE' ARMY

War Maneuver Invaders Roar Into Camp.

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

With the Red Army in the Field, Selkirk Lake, Mich., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The Red mechanized force is here tonight making preparation to attack the Blue army defending Chicago.

The time of the attack, or at what point in the defending line, not even the chief umpire will know until his field assistants inform him that the assault is being made.

High Speed Cars First.

First to arrive, shortly after noon, were four high speed reconnoissance cars of the first mechanized cavalry. They went down the road so fast that a Tribune car following them was forced to travel sixty miles an hour.

Within half an hour of the advance guard's report that the road had not been obstructed by Blues there began a stream of forces that lasted four hours.

Behind the advance platoon came a secondary scout unit of thirteen additional reconnoissance cars. These cars, covered with light armor, are designed for scout work. Each is manned by four men—a driver, assistant driver, and two gunners.

Tanks Roar Over Road.

Then came the most murderous looking equipment that has yet been seen at this mimic war. This was the 56 combat cars, or light tanks, roaring over the road on rubber covered tractor treads. Officially these tanks travel on the road at forty to forty-five miles an hour, but one column that was followed was doing better than fifty miles an hour.

One driver said he had been forced to drop out of the column and had gone at more than sixty-five miles an hour in catching up.

To an observer it appears that the tanks, which offer vivid contrast to the lumbering vehicles of world war times with their speed of five miles an hour and frequent breakdowns, are traveling arsenals.

Each Has Four Machine Guns.

Each tank is equipped with four machine guns, one of which is anti-aircraft, and one submachine gun.

Next was a machine gun troop, consisting of twenty-four half tracks—squat vehicles with wheels in front and tractor treads behind—carrying men armed with every variety of machine gun.

All of these units are capable of traveling across country at a speed of forty-five miles an hour, provided the ground can be crossed by such vehicles.

Supporting the mechanized cavalry, and able to keep up with it on the road, is a mechanized battalion of the 68th field artillery, consisting of one battery of the famous 75s and a battery of 75 millimeter howitzers, and a motorized battalion of the 19th field artillery, with two batteries of 75s.

Defenders Spot "Reds."

The Blue defenders know where the Red force is, as the result of observation planes following the advance, but that does not solve the Blue problem. The Red forces move so fast that the defenders are worried about their ability to move defensive forces to the point of attack.

As darkness fell tonight, a trip through Blue areas revealed that many camps had been struck and that some troops already had been moved into bivouacs concealed from air observation in the woods.

The rest of the Blue troops will take to the road in the morning in an eastward movement to seek campsites which will protect them from discovery from the air.

The first night march of Blue troops will be made before dawn Friday when National Guardsmen of the army defending Chicago will relieve the advance line of regulars of the 12th brigade, who then will become part of the Red attacking force by moving eastward to join the mechanized forces from Fort Knox, Ky.

WAR MANEUVER SOLDIER DIES AS TRUCK HITS POST

Kokomo, Ind., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—A soldier was killed today when an army truck taking part in the Michigan war maneuvers crashed into a post on a highway near here. TAX BILLS SENT TO OWNERS OF REALTY IN LOOP

Bills for 1935 real estate taxes were mailed out by the office of the County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill yesterday to about 700 owners of property in South township, which includes the loop. Some of the residents in Lake and Hyde Park townships have previously received their bills. The bills for all of the country townships already have been turned over to the township collectors for mailing.

Gill said yesterday that it would be at least ten days until all the 1935 realty bills are sent out, and, therefore, he has taken no action toward extending the penalty deadline, which now stands at Sept. 1. The 1935 personal property tax bills will be mailed out next week, he said.

ALL-STAR FOOTBALL TEAM HOLDS FIRST SESSION TODAY

COACH BIERMAN AND HIS STAF TO MEET SQUAD

Late Arrivals Due This Morning.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

This is organization day for the All-American football players who will assemble at Northwestern university for the first time to begin preparation for their gridiron battle Sept. 1 at Soldiers' field against the Detroit Lions, champions of the National Professional league. An unusually large number of the squad of fifty All-Stars had checked in yesterday, indicative of the intense desire to get things under way, and nearly all of the remaining players are scheduled to report today at the Hinman house, Evanston.

The players will meet their coaches this afternoon during which session Bernie Bierman, of Minnesota, chosen head coach of the All-Americans in the greatest national sports poll in history, will outline his plans for training.

Bierman Arirves Today.

Bierman is scheduled to arrive this morning from Minneapolis. Lynn Waldorf, of Northwestern, one of Bierman's assistants, will meet Bierman and escort him to the quarters reserved on the campus. Elmer Layden, of Notre Dame, Lou Little, of Columbia, and Bo McMillin, of Indiana, the other members of the staf, on whom will fall the duty of preparing the collegians for the battle with the Lions, will report this morning.

In addition to the talk-fest this afternoon, today's schedule calls for practice uniforms to be issued, assignment of lockers in the training quarters, and for the boys to be measured for their game uniforms.

All-Stars Arrive.

By midafternoon yesterday eleven All-Stars had signed the register at headquarters. Included in this list were George Roscoe and Glenn Seidel of Minnesota, who drove to Chicago. Five other members of last year's undefeated Minnesota eleven will arrive today. Vern Oech, starting guard; Dick Smith, who will come in from his home in Rockford; Dale Rennebohm, center; Sheldon Beise, full back, who won the contest for the starting position in the game Sept. 1, and Babe Le Voir, half back and quarter back, complete the list of Gopher stars. This is the largest single contingent ever selected from one university for the All-Star game.

Dick Crayne of Iowa, Joe Stydahar of West Virginia, Darrell Lester, Jimmy Lawrence, and Taldon Manton of Texas Christian, and the Northwestern players, Al Lind, Hugh Duvall, Paul Tangora, and Wally Cruice, completed the list of early arrivals.

Riley Smith Arrives.

Riley Smith, Alabama's quarter back, chosen to start the game against the Lions, and who is credited with directing Alabama's devastating running and passing attack which whipped Stanford in the 1935 Rose Bowl game, arrived in Chicago late yesterday afternoon. Frank Loebs of Purdue arrived last night from Cleveland.

Truman Spain, Southern Methodist tackle, accompanied Smith. Spain will be paired with Dick Smith of Minnesota in the starting All-Star lineup.

Other players were accounted for yesterday but had not checked in at the dormitory. In this list are Jay Berwanger, who flew back from California Tuesday; Lou Zarza, Michigan

THE GUMPS—NOW WHAT?

Bears Know How Lions Will Feel on the Morning After

BY GEORGE HALAS.
[Head Coach, Chicago Bears.]

Any member of the Chicago Bears will tell you his bones were jarred aplenty in the encounters with the All-Americans in 1934 and 1935. The Detroit Lions have yet to learn how hard the collegians hit.

Circumstances surrounding their selection and preparation pitch these boys so high that they play the games of their lives. Ed Krause of Notre Dame, while he was a great college player, never turned in a finer performance than he did against the Bears in the 1934 game. Others who stand out in my memory of that scoreless tie are Chuck Bernard of Michigan, Ade Schwammel of Oregon State, Tom Hupke of Alabama, Herman Everhardus of Michigan, and Joe Laws of Iowa.

Blazine Is Trouble Maker.

In last year's game a comparative unknown, Tony Blazine, Illinois Wesleyan tackle, gave us a severe and lasting headache. Other standouts were Don Hutson of Alabama, Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland, who will be with the Lions in this year's contest, Larry Seimering of San Francisco university, Regis Monahan of Ohio State, Bill Lee of Alabama, and John Regeczi of Michigan, whose long punts caused us no end of trouble.

One reason for the fine performances of the All-Americans is that they go into the game in great physical shape. And there will be 55 of these splendidly conditioned athletes on the All-American squad. Fifty-five! That's not a squad it an army. Furthermore, they are not green sophomores. They have been seasoned by three years of varsity competition after high school and freshman football.

A college athlete of 22 or 23 is never very far away from good physical shape. The three weeks of hard practice bring him to the peak. The older professional players are much slower rounding into shape.

Pros Must Be Ready.

For instance, in the 1934 game, Joe Laws of Iowa, on many plays, was assigned to work on our veteran tackle, Link Lyman, then playing his 280th football game. I would not have you believe that Laws pushed Lyman around. No player has ever done that. But after the game, Laws joined the Green Bay Packers and later in the season again was assigned to block Lyman. In the dressing room afterward, Laws

Football Stars Put In Their First Day at Baseball Game

Baseball attracted the attention of yesterday's early arrivals among the College All-Stars. After unpacking and getting comfortably settled in their quarters in the Hinman house on the Northwestern campus a group consisting of Joe Stydahar of West Virginia, Jim Lawrence and Tillie Manton of Texas Christian, and Dick Crayne of Iowa, hied themselves out to Comiskey park. It was the first time any of the boys had seen big league teams in action.

When the conductor called out "Englewood, Chicago," Manton and Lawrence of Texas Christian grabbed their bags and piled out of the train, little thinking that there were two stations in Chicago. The result was that they spent three hours getting out to Evanston. And what a kidding they took at the Hinman house yesterday.

Rut Walter, former Northwestern track and basketball star and now freshman track coach for the Wildcats, is house manager for the All-Stars during their sojourn in Evanston. Rut has a crew of undergraduates to help make things comfortable for the visiting collegians.

Dick Crayne, husky Iowa full back, reported in fine shape after spending the summer on a farm near Washington, Ia. He predicts that the Hawkeyes will be the team to watch next fall. Crayne will report to the Brooklyn Eagles after the All-Star game.

J. WELLINGTON DOPE

always waits until the last minute to get his tickets to Tribune sports events. Consequently Mr. Dope is sometimes disappointed. Wise sports fans will buy their tickets to the All-Star Football Game today.

The game is the night of Sept. 1 at Soldiers' field. A glance at the calendar will show you that isn't far away. So drop into the Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street or in the lobby of Tribune tower, right away and pick up your tickets at $1.10, $2.20, or $3.30. All seats reserved.

ROSALIND WINS HAMBLETONIAN IN STRAIGHT HEATS

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Rosalind, the story-book filly, carved out a sensational victory on Good Time park's triangular track in the 11th Hambletonian stake today.

Flying the silks of 21 year old Gilson White of Lexington, and driven by his gray haired father, Ben, Rosalind won trotting's richest stake in straight heats and record time before the largest crowd in Hambletonian history—estimated at close to 45,000.

She stepped the first mile in 2:01¾ and then reeled off the second heat in 2:02¼ to erase from the books Greyhound's mark of 2:02¼ and 2:02¾ made last year.

Leaves No Doubt Over Outcome.

Not once did the filly, which got her name from Shakespeare's "As You Like It," leave the issue in doubt. She trotted to the front soon after the start of each heat and breezed home to take the winner's share of the purse of $35,643.83, amounting to $19,269.11, and justify the support in the betting which sent her to the post a slight choice over W. N. Reynolds' Ed Lasater of Winston-Salem, N. C.

At the end of the first brush White had Rosalind two lengths in front of Brownie Hanover from Lawrence B. Sheppard's Hanover, Pa., farm. In the second the daughter of Scotland held a three length margin over Ed Lasater, also trained by the 63 year old White, and driven by Sep Palin of Indianapolis.

Gives Horse to Son.

Today's victory climaxed an idea conceived by the elder White two years ago when his son was seriously ill. Knowing the boy's interest in horses, he made him a present of a yearling with the hopes the horse would do much to return his son's health.

Gibson named the filly Rosalind.

The idea worked and today the lanky son climbed the steps of the judges' stand to receive from E. Roland Harriman the trophy after cooperating with his dad in bringing the filly to the peak of her career for the race. Cheers rang from the multitude while the eyes of many, who knew the story behind the victory, were filled with moisture as young White said:

Little to Choose in Betting.

There was little to choose in the betting between Rosalind and Ed Lasater, the pair which had split the two dress rehersals.

When it came to the competition, however, there was no contest. Ed

Medica and Margie Gestring Win Olympic Swim Titles

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Jack Medica of Seattle and Margie Gestring of Los Angeles took all the gold medals left unguarded around the Olympic swimming stadium today.

Medica thwarted the Japanese menace in the 400 meter free style, passing Shumpei Uto 20 meters from the finish to win by a length of his long arms in Olympic record-making time of 4:44.5.

Thirteen year old Margie beat her teammate, Katherine Rawls, in the springboard event after the Florida mite appeared to have the title won.

With Miss Rawls second and Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill of Los Angeles third, America swept the second diving event in as many days, duplicating the blanket finish by Dick Degener, Marshall Wayne and Al Greene in the men's springboard event yesterday.

Lead Both Team Races.

At the end of today's events American swimmers held three gold medals, Japan two and Hungary and Holland one each. American men held a two-point lead over Japan in the fight for team honors, 38 to 36, while the girls led Holland, 20 to 17½.

What made Medica's and Margie's triumphs all the more noteworthy was the magnificent manner in which each responded under pressure. Neither was supposed to win.

Medica, who had barely recovered from a chest cold, trailed the fleet little Uto a full length when they turned into the final 100 meters. No one among the 20,000 spectators thought he had a chance of winning.

Circumstances surrounding Miss Gestring's victory were not quite so sensational, but they were equally as thrilling. Dead silence hung over the crowd as the slender, superbly poised youngster stood on the board and prepared for her final optional dive.

By Less Than a Point.

She was 13-100 of a point behind Miss Rawls and needed to score a brilliant 15.07 to tie for the championship. The difficulty of getting such a score from seven hard boiled judges from as many countries may be gathered from the fact that up to that point only seven dives had been over 15 points. Two of them belonged to Margie.

So the snub nosed, freckle faced little baby member of the United States team chose the most difficult dive of all—a one and one-half back somersault—and shot the works. She scarcely stirred the water. When her head bobbed up on the surface she was the Olympic champion. They gave her 16 points for the dive, surpassed only by her own 16.20 for a forward somersault with a half twist.

"I don't think I ever will be so happy again," she said excitedly.

Margie scored an aggregate of 89.28 points to 88.35 for Miss Rawls and 82.36 for Mrs. Hill.

Adolf Kiefer of Chicago, became the men's 100 meter favorite as he won the first of five preliminary heats in 1:06.9, breaking George Kojac's Olympic mark of 1:08.2 established in 1928, and lowered the listed world record.

MEN'S 400 METER FREE STYLE FINAL—Won by Jack Medica, United States, 4:44.5 [new Olympic record; betters former mark of 4:45.5, made by Shumpei Uto]; Shumpei Uto, Japan, 4:45.6, second; Shozo Makino, Japan, 4:48.1, third; Ralph Flanagan, United States, 4:52.7, fourth; Hiroshie Negami, Japan, 4:53.6, fifth; Jean Taris, France, 4:53.8, sixth; Bob Leivers, Great Britain, 5:00.9, seventh.

WOMEN'S 100 METER BACKSTROKE SEMI-FINALS—[First three in each heat and fastest fourth qualify for finals]:

First heat—Won by Senff, Holland, 1:17.1; Edith Motridge Segal, United States, 1:19.1, second; Bruunstroem, 1:19.7, third; Harding, Great Britain, 1:19.8, fourth; Stolte, Germany, fifth; Norton, Australia, sixth.

SECOND HEAT—Won by Mastenbroek, Holland, 1:19.1; Frampton, England, 1:19.6, second; Alice Bridges, United States, 1:20.4,

SOX UNLIMBER BIG BATS; WHIP BROWNS, 8 TO 3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox, after three straight set backs, were able to conduct their affairs on a profitable basis yesterday. With Henry [Zeke] Bonura in the rôle of pacemaker, they banged the ball for various distances when it meant something and defeated the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 3. The triumph enabled the Jim Dykes' troupe to retain its hold on third place, a spot at which the world champion Tigers are casting covetous glances.

The Browns were kept in a state of impotency by the pitching of Vernon Kennedy, who although the owner of numerous victories, has fared well recently only because of his mates' habit of giving him plenty of runs. On this occasion he was more like his old self, holding the enemy to one run in seven innings and skylarking a bit in the eighth when a few more tallies meant nothing. It was his 16th victory against five trimmings.

Zeke Busts No. 9.

Bonura's main contribution to the day's business was his ninth homer of the season. It helped considerably in building up Kennedy's lead. Zeke got in his big blow with two mates on the bases in the fifth, not only producing a 6 to 1 advantage, but knocking Starter Jack Knott off the scene. Zeke also did a bit of damage in the sixth with a single which drove in one of two runs scored while Glenn Liebhardt was serving.

Rip Radcliff, after a series of lean days that had forced him to withdraw from among the league's ranking hitters, prospered to the extent of two singles in five tries. One ot his hits started a two run first inning. The other opened the two run production in the sixth. Larry Rosenthal figured in the same incidents with singles, scoring once with Radcliff because of a double by Kreevich in the first inning and alone in the sixth on a fly by Luke Appling.

Sox Start Early.

The Sox staged their bit of first inning scoring before anybody was retired. Radcliff opened with a looping single into right center. Rosenthal poked a single through short. Kreevich attempted to bunt, but after two failures decided to take a swing. The swing resulted in a double down the left field line, scoring Radcliff and Rosenthal. Bonura, Appling, and Hayes weren't able to do anything about getting Kreevich off second base.

The Sox had the bases filled with none out in their half of the fourth, but the amusement was limited to one run. Appling singled to right

CHICAGO BATS POUND JOHNSON FOR 14 HITS

St. Louis Returns to First Place.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.—Two home run balls which Larry French pitched to Joe Medwick and Johnny Mize netted the Cards more runs than the Cubs could make in 14 hits off Si Johnson, fresh down from Toronto. So the Cardinals beat the Cubs 5 to 3 and the National league leadership changed hands for the fourth time in as many days.

The Cards by taking the series, two games to one are at the top of the heap by two points less than a game and the Giants are increasingly menacing, 2½ games back of the Cubs.

Cards Get Five Hits.

The Cards made only five hits as compared to those 14 by the Cubs, but after the Cubs had scored one run on three hits in the second inning Medwick doubled and scored the tying run on a couple of outs. In the fourth the Cards went ahead, 2 to 1, on Medwick's No. 16 homer. Mize then knocked the only wasted Cardinal hit, a single to center. In the sixth Terry Moore led off with a single to center. He got to third on a sacrifice and another out then Medwick was walked to enable French to get at Mize. Mize knocked his No. 16 homer, for the fifth and last Cardinal hit, scoring behind Moore and Medwick.

The Cubs made one run in the seventh and in the eighth appeared to have a big rally under way when Frank Demaree led off with his fourth straight hit and O'Dea and Galan followed with singles. Galan's smack scored Demaree and put O'Dea on third. But the bubble busted when Jurges flied to Moore, O'Dea was doubled at the plate on a perfect throw by Moore, and Cavarretta flied to Fullis. Hack and Herman hit singles with two out in the ninth, but Demaree failed for the first time during the afternoon and forced Herman for the final out.

Fourth Defeat for French.

The Cubs now have lost 11 out of 16 games with the Cardinals and now must win half of the remaining six games to equal their last year's ratio with the Cards, which was none too good, though the Cubs did win the pennant by a margin of four games over the Cards.

The defeat was the fourth suffered by French this year, and his first dropped to the Cards, whom he defeated in the first week of the season. The Cubs were so sure they would be

FOUR U. S. BOXERS REACH OLYMPIC QUARTER-FINALS

Kara, Scrivani, Laurie and Clark Victors.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Four boxers representing the United States today joined Jackie Wilson, Cleveland bantamweight, in the quarter-final round of the Olympic boxing tournament while Art Oliver, Chicago heavyweight, became the third member of the American delegation to be eliminated.

Louis Laurie, Cleveland flyweight; Andy Scrivani, Chicago, lightweight; James Clark, Jamestown, N. Y., middleweight, and Teddy Kara, Cleveland featherweight, were today's qualifiers. Laurie defeated Berghansen, small, wiry champion from Norway; Scrivani whipped Dewinter of Belgium; Clark beat Ahlberg, Finland, and Kara trounced Seeberg, Estonia.

Swede Beats Oliver.

Tandberg, standard bearer from Sweden, eliminated Oliver, whipping the Chicago boxer in three rounds. Chester Rutecki, Chicago welterweight, and Carl Vinciquerra, Omaha light heavyweight, previously had been defeated in first round competition.

The International boxing committee reinstated Shrimpton, middleweight representing England, who had been disqualified yesterday when the judges charged he had knocked out Chinkuiti, China, with a sneak punch.

Kara Upsets Seeberg.

Clark won a hairline decision over Ahlberg. The Finn was the aggressor throughout and Clark's ability to score at long range earned him the decision, although it was booed by the assemblage.

Laurie floored Berghansen for a two count in the second round. He had the stouthearted Norwegian groggy in the final session.

Kara, according to experts at the ringside, scored an upset when he beat Seeberg. He won the first period by scoring points with left jabs to the head and occasional rights to the ear in a semi-clinch, but Seeberg won the next round with a two handed offensive to the body.

Athlete, Once Girl, Comes to U. S. as a Man

New York, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Zdenka Koubka, who set a world's record in the 1934 women's Olympic games, arrived here today as a man.

Asked how it felt to be a man after believing all his life that he was a woman, he exclaimed:

"Good! It is good! A woman? Bah. . . . She is nothing. A man? Ha. . . . He is everything. There is not anything in the world that is not open to him."

He is here to capitalize on his change in sex as a cabaret performer. Since he can't speak English his perspiring manager, H. Taussig, interpreted for him.

"I always thought I was a girl in the first part of my life," Koubka said. "I wore girls' clothes and I played with girls. The only thing I didn't like was wearing the clothes.

"And then about a year ago I began to realize that I wasn't a girl.

"I began to keep company with a girl—a law clerk. I won't tell you her name.

"I told her I was not a girl, but a man. Everybody else thought we were just two girl friends, but she knew the truth.

"I went to a doctor and he told me that I was right—that I was a man. He told me that an operation would eliminate any feminine characteristics.

"I must have another operation to complete the job," Koubka said, "but the first one has done much to make me a normal man. One result is that I have put on weight in my shoulders."

U. S. CREW WINS

GRUNAU, Germany, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The American Olympic navy fired its first broadside today, winning wild acclaim with the fastest as well as one of the greatest eight oared finishes ever seen in international competition.

Stroked by the courageous Don Hume, who nearly collapsed after the last terrific drive, the University of Washington came from behind in the last 100 meters to whip a powerful British eight in Olympic if not world record time of 6:00.8.

The victory, by a half length, advanced the Americans to the finals Friday and they will need the extra day's rest to recover from the hardest race they've had at any distance this year.

The Americans are frankly worried about the pace setting sparkplug Hume, who recently quit a sick bed and scaled only 158 pounds, seven pounds underweight. Don rowed a smashing race, never wavering in the slightest under high stroking pressure until the Washington shell crossed the finish line amid deafening din.

Then he slumped and appeared to be just out, but braced after the coxswain, Bob Moch, doused him with water and helped row the boat slowly back to the boathouse.

Despite strong opposition from all sides, including the Hungarian and Swiss eights which also won their heats today and qualified for the finals, Washington figures to win the title, barring a relapse on Hume's part.

The British, who also were under the Olympic record, being clocked in 6:02.1, must row over tomorrow for a chance to gain the finals.

said he could not believe that Lyman was the same man he had met at Soldiers' field. Link, having rounded into condition, was again the stalwart lineman who for years was one of the two greatest tackles in the Bears' history.

I hope the Detroit Lions will read the ensuing paragraph. In 1934 the Bears took the All-Americans lightly. Only Link Lyman, Red Grange and I realized what we were up against, but we could not change the mental attitude of the other Bears. As a result we were not ready for the collegians.

U. S. FIVE BEATS PHILIPPINES IN OLYMPICS, 56-23

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Holding its opponent to three points in the second half after a hard first half, the United States basketball team today conquered the Philippines, 56 to 23, in the quarter-final round of the Olympic basketball tournament.

With Francis Johnson and Joe Fortenberry of McPherson, Kas., scoring 21 and 18 points, respectively, the Americans distanced the islanders in the second period. The score at the half was 28 to 20.

The Americans, wearing somewhat makeshift outfits because their lockers were robbed last night, encountered some difficulty in getting started, but at no time during the game were they behind.

RUSSELL SIGNS CONTRACT WITH CHICAGO CARDS

Dougal Russell, Chicago Cardinal and former Kansas State halfback, returned his signed contract to the Cardinals yesterday.

Russell gained 1,875 yards last year for the Cards and was recognized throughout the league as one of the finest ball carriers in the professional league.

Phil Handler, the Card's star guard, who was appointed assistant to Coach Milan Creighton this year, reported to the Cardinals' office. While Handler will play and coach as well, Head Coach Milan Creighton has announced he will confine his activities to coaching.

Bloomfield Hills, Mich., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Forty members of the Detroit Lions football squad, world professional champions, will hold their first workout tomorrow morning at Cranbrook school in preparation for the College All-Stars game, Sept. 1, at Soldiers' field.

Two practice sessions daily have been ordered by Coach George [Potsy] Clark. Double workouts will continue until the team breaks camp at Cranbrook on Aug. 31.

By plane, train and motor cars the 40 players started to arrive in Detroit yesterday and at noon today the entire squad had reported.

Talks Over All-Stars.

At his first meeting with the squad this afternoon, Coach Clark talked mostly on the players chosen by the fans to meet the Lions.

"I have been coaching collegiate and post graduate teams for 15 years and to the best of my knowledge, the All-American squad chosen by the fans is the finest aggregation of football players ever assembled," Clark said.

"Any coach in the country would predict a fairly successful season for himself if he had five veterans returning. Bernie Bierman, head coach of the All-Stars, will have 50 veterans.

"Not only will Bierman have 50 outstanding football players, but he will have the assistance of four outstanding coaches in Elmer Layden, Bo McMillin, Lou Little and Lynn Waldorf.

Lions Respect Topping.

"The fans of the nation have shown excellent judgment in their selections of the players and coaches and have cut out a tough job for the Lions. In fact, it is the toughest assignment most of you men have ever been called upon to face."

The three All-Stars most widely discussed were Keith Topping, Dick Smith and Vernon Oech. Topping and Smith played against the Lions in Honolulu last February. Both turned in exceptional performances.

Topping, in addition to turning in a fine defensive game, caught six passes. In the opinions of the Lion players, Topping's performance against them surpassed that of any end the club met in the National league of 1935.

Jacobs Cards 77 in Union Printers' Golf

The hard luck championship of the Union Printers golf tournament at Olympia fields belongs to W. D. Jacobs, of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, who shot the best 18 holes of the tournament yesterday, and all for nothing. Touring No. 4 course, Jacobs turned in a 77 for a 54 hole score of 248. However he had failed to qualify for the championship flight on the first two days.

The two title contestants, out of a field of 125, were Ed Merkle of Washington, D. C., and H. F. Augustin of Chicago.

Yesterday Merkle boosted his lead to six strokes with a 54 hole score of 251, getting a 43—42—85 on No. 3 course. Augustin turned in 44—45—89 for 257 total. They will wind up the championship match today over No. 4 course.

SHERIDAN SHORE YACHT CLUB IS REGATTA VICTOR

Although the fifth and final race of the Lake Michigan junior yachting championships was won yesterday off Belmont harbor by Jim Spencer Jr., 14 years old, and his Spring Lake [Mich.] Yacht club crew, the series title went to the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's team.

The finals yesterday were over a ten nautical mile course. Slowest times in the series were recorded. The Spring Lake team, sailing the Mitchell-Richter Star boat Adara, finished in 2 hours 25 minutes and 50 seconds. Skipper Spencer is the youngest skipper in the regatta. The Sheridan Shore boys, in Skipper Dick Otter's own Star Asterisk, finished 27 seconds later.

Thirty-four and a half points, which included two firsts out of five contests, gave the title to Skipper Otter and his crew, Dick Kixmiller and Bob Bradbury.

Philip Upton, last year's champion junior skipper, was runnerup with 30¼ points. Third in the series was Spring Lake's team, with 29¼ points; the Northport Point [Mich.] Yacht club was fourth with 28¼ points.

Competition for the Lipton cup and the Nutting cup will begin today off Belmont harbor in R and Eagle class sloops, respectively.

CRAMP FINISHES 347 POUND COP'S 22 MILE SWIM

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The attempt of Sergt. Frank C. Gasdorf to float and swim twenty-two miles down the Detroit river to Boblo Island ended three miles short of the goal today when the 347 pound "one man navy" of the police department was seized with a cramp.

Almost within sight of the island the long distance dunk ended abruptly as Gasdorf began suddenly to list to port, the muscles of his leg knotted by a cramp. He finished the trip in the boat.

LOUISE JOHNSON WINS ON 20TH IN PARKS TOURNEY

Defending Champ Beats Mrs. Darr, 1 Up.

Louise Johnson of Mohawk, defending state public parks champion, down three holes with three to go, staged a rally in her match with Mrs. Loren Darr, former president of the Women's Lincoln Park club, and won out on the 20th green yesterday in the quarter finals of the state tournament at Lincoln park. Miss Johnson suddenly began shooting par and, taking three holes in a row, tied it up on the 18th. At the first extra hole both had pars, but at the second Mrs. Darr rolled her second into a trap while Miss Johnson was on and down for a victory.

Eloise Briese, former Wisconsin junior champion, again won easily, taking a 6 and 5 decision from Virginia Jensen of Mohawk, and Josephine Souchek of Ridgemoor advanced, 6 and 4, over Mrs. C. M. Epstein of Mid-City. In the last match Mrs. Beatrice Sturm of Glenbard won, 3 and 1, over Bessie Miller of the home club.

Today's semi-final round brings together Miss Briese and Mrs. Sturm in the upper half, and Miss Johnson and Miss Souchek in the lower half.

HIS BRAKES AND STEERING GEAR WERE SAFE . . .

HE HAD a blow-out. His car was thrown out of control in spite of the fact that his brakes and steering gear were in perfect shape. Things might have been different, though, had his tires been able to stand up under today's high speeds.

Take our tip. Don't you gamble on tires. Get a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns. Then you'll have the protection of the Life-Saver Golden Ply, a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords scientifically treated to resist the blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. By resisting this heat the Golden Ply keeps rubber and fabric from separating. It keeps blisters from forming. And when you prevent the blister you prevent the high-speed blow-out.

NOTE: Goodrich Silvertowns actually cost much less than other super-quality tires. Don't delay. Come in today.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 12.—(AP)—After Wes Ferrell belted in a 6 to 4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics with a pair of successive home runs in today's opening game, the Red Sox were shut out, 6 to 0, by Harry Kelley in the second game.

LEWIS' LEFT WINS DECISION OVER NICHOLS

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Jonn Henry Lewis, Phoenix colored light-heavyweight champion of the world, won a 10 round decision tonight over Georgie Nichols of Buffalo, former wearer of the crown, in a nontitle event witnessed by 10,000. Both fighters weighed in at 177 pounds.

Nichols hung a crushing left on Lewis in the fifth and almost sent him to the floor, but the colored fighter piled up point margins in all other rounds and had Georgie hanging on groggily in the eighth and ninth.

It took the champion only three rounds to solve Nichols' lefthanded offensive. Then he started a constant barrage of stinging lefts and fended off his opponent's advances with nis right glove.

Eder Knocks Out Leto in Ninth Round

Games Today

Chicago vs. Cincinnati, Wrigley field, 1 p. m.
Washington vs. New York, Wrigley field, 3:30 p. m.
Boston vs. St. Paul-Minneapolis, Grant park, 2 p. m.

Three more teams, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, and Baltimore, were eliminated from the International Union Printers' Baseball league tournament yesterday when they suffered their second defeats. The elimination of the three teams brought the total to five. Detroit and Indianapolis were sent out of the meet last Tuesday.

Pittsburgh lost to Washington, D. C., defending champion, 6 to 1, at Grant park. St. Louis was beaten by Boston, 6 to 4, at Wrigley field, and Baltimore dropped its second contest to the combined team from St. Paul and Minneapolis, 7 to 4, at Lyman field.

Cincinnati Holds Lead.

Cincinnati now leads the tournament with three victories and no defeats. The Ohioans scored their third consecutive triumph by handing New York a 3 to 1 setback at Wrigley field. Chicago is the only other unbeaten team in the meet, having won from Boston and Washington in its only two games.

Chicago, which drew a bye yesterday, will meet the leading Cincinnati team this afternoon at Wrigley field. The game will start at 1 o'clock and will be played as part of a doubleheader. In the other game Washington will oppose New York at 3:30 o'clock.

Boston vs. Twin Cities.

At Grant park Boston will meet the St. Paul-Minneapolis team. Boston has scored two victories in three games, while the Minnesota team has divided its two games.

Cubs to Send Davis Against Reds Tomorrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.—The Cubs were to leave for Cincinnati at midnight, probably to spend the off day tomorrow in ice packs. It was 110 degrees on the field here today, and you can fawncy Cincy as a place to cool off from that kind of heat.

Curt Davis will go after his No. 12 victory in the Cincy opener Friday. Manager Grimm's schedule book does not show it, but it is said that a double-header will be played in Cincinnati Sunday, the playoff being the result of the postponement of the game scheduled for July 1.

During fielding practice before today's game Manager Frisch and Capt. Durocher burlesqued the disputed double play which deprived the Cards of victory in yesterday's game.

able to knock out Johnson, four days up from the minors, that they did not play orthodox baseball when regular procedure might have kept them in the ball game.

The Cubs started production with one run in the second. Demaree opened with a single and was forced on O'Dea's tap to Frisch. Galan singled to right, O'Dea reaching third. O'Dea held third on Jurges' long fly to Fullis but scored on Cavarretta's single to left, Galan stopping at second. French fouled to Davis.

Medwick Hits Homer.

Medwick opened the home second with a double against the right field screen, went to third while Herman was throwing out Mize and scored on Davis' fly to Demaree. Durocher fanned.

In the home fourth Herman threw out Frisch and Fullis fanned but Medwick again functioned, knocking that No. 16 homer, a 380 foot shot into the pavilion in right center. Mize rolled a single over second but Davis lined to Galan.

Moore opened the St. Louis sixth with a single to center, the fourth hit off French, and advanced on Frisch's sacrifice. Fullis flied to Galan, Moore taking third. French wanted no more of Medwick by this time and gave him an intentional pass. The strategy wasn't much of a success for Mize knocked a homer on the roof of the right field pavilion, scoring behind Moore and Medwick. Davis flied to Demaree.

Cubs Score in Seventh.

In the seventh Cavaretta grounded to Frisch and Gill, batting for Frisch, flied to Moore. Allen doubled past Garibaldi and scored when Hack caromed a single off Frisch's glove. Herman forced Hack.

Bryant was the Cub pitcher at the start of the seventh. He made Durocher fly to Galan then fanned Garibaldi and Johnson.

Demaree opened the eighth with his fourth straight single and stopped at second on O'Dea's single to center. Galan singled to center, Demaree scoring and O'Dea reaching third. Jurges flied to Moore and O'Dea was doubled at the plate, Galan taking second. Cavarretta flied to Fullis.

Double Knockout Ends Rasputin-Schnabel Bout

Ivan Rasputin of Russia and Hans Schnabel of Germany were both counted out by Referee Sam Clapham as they lay prostrate on the canvas last night at the Arcadia Gardens. The two wrestlers collided in the center of the ring, both arose in a daze, and both connected with right hand punches. They went to the canvas and Clapham tolled off a ten count. The time was 22:41.

Whitehead May Oppose Browns, Thomas Today

Unless Manager Jim Dykes comes up with a new idea, John Whitehead, out since July 26 when he injured his arm, will face the Browns for the White Sox in the final game of the series today. His opponent probably will be Alphonse Thomas.

Vern Kennedy's left knee had to be incased in yards of tape before he went into action yesterday. The joint is still sore as the result of stopping a line drive while defeating the Indians last Saturday at Cleveland.

About 3,500, the usual average for the Browns or Athletics were in attendance yesterday.

center and Hayes singled to left. Dykes then sacrificed without being retired when Bottomley picked up the bunt and threw to third when Appling had already arrived. Grube knocked a fly to Solters and Appling scored on the play. The inning ended with three strikes for Kennedy and Radcliff's fly to Bell.

Bejma hit his second home run of the season in the fifth, but Bonura did far more damage with his No. 9 in the home half. Rosenthal walked and beat Knott's throw to second on Kreevich's bunt. Zeke then thumped one into the left field seats. Liebhardt came to Knott's rescue and walked Appling. Luke stole second and continued to third on Hemsley's bad throw as Hayes fanned. Dykes fouled to Clift and Grube to Solters.

After getting through the fifth safely Liebhardt was shaken for two runs in the sixth. Radcliff singled to left with one out and Rosenthal beat out a slow roller along the third base line. Kreevich walked. Bonura let go with a healthy drive which caromed off the seat of Liebhardt's pants for a single, Radcliff scoring. Appling lined to Bell, Rosenthal scoring and Kreevich taking third after the catch. Hayes tapped to Bejma for the third out.

Browns Get Pair.

The Browns failed to stir up any excitement by staging a two run flurry in the eighth. Kennedy waxed a bit nonchalant and walked Clift and Solters with one out. Bell banged a single into center and Clift scored. West popped out and Bottomley poked a slow twister toward Kennedy, who got a leg instead of his glove in front of the ball. The ball slipped away for a single, Solters scoring. Hemsley flied to Kreevich to complete the inning.

GIANTS DEFEAT DODGERS, 2 TO 1, IN 12 INNINGS

Gabler Bests Mungo In Pitchers' Duel.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Young Gabby Gabler smashed out a triple with two mates on base today to break up a twelve inning thriller and give himself and the New York Giants a 2 to 1 victory over the Dodgers.

For eleven innings Gabler and Van Mungo pitched scoreless ball, the latter holding the New Yorkers to five hits. After Gabby drove in the winning runs, the Dodgers threatened to tie it up in their half of the twelfth, but Carl Hubbell came to Gabler's assistance and pulled the game out of the fire.

PROTECT IT WITH VITALIS AND THE "60-SECOND WORKOUT"

WHEN summer comes—how we men do give our hair the works! We expose it to the scorching sun that depletes the natural, necessary oils. Then, just to add insult to injury, we take a shower or plunge soak away what remains of these oils. And then we're surprised when it gets lifeless, brittle, dry and unhealthy!

Your hair can stand—won't stand—such treatment. Rescue it with Vitalis and the famous "60-Second Workout." First, you get right down to the hair roots, where hair-health begins, with a vigorous, two-fisted massage. That sets new circulation going in the scalp. Second, the pure vegetable oils help replenish the natural oils, help to nourish the hair. Now run a comb through it...every hair in place—and it will stay in place! See that natural lustre? There's no "patent-leather" shine. See the new smoothness, the well-dressed, healthy look to it?... And where's the loose dandruff? That's gone, too!

Sun and water will always lick your hair unless you protect it. So buy a bottle of Vitalis today, and help it to protect itself, to save itself.

ASK YOUR BARBER—He's an expert on the care of scalp and hair. Where he says Vitalis—take his advice. He knows best.

"Bolo, Bolo."

They're singing it to the tune of the old Yale song at Washington Park these afternoons. They sang it with great feeling and gusto again yesterday afternoon.

For Bolo, the hoss from Kentucky that had stood the steeds from every other part of the country up on their heads at Washington Park lately, had won again.

He smashed his way to victory in the featured grade B handicap, ran a mile in the fast time of 1:36, which missed the track record by only two-fifths of a second, and was the winner by two lengths. He was running easier than any of his six rivals when the battle was at the termination point.

Chief Cherokee Is All In.

Mrs. Emil Denemark's Chief Cherokee finished second. Bolo had run entirely too fast for that 4 year old for he was staggering and a bit glassy eyed when he came home. A length and a half back of Chief Cherokee and completely all out from her effort was Lady Montrose, the favorite, which was able to collect no more than the slim end of the purse.

It was the third victory Bolo has scored in the first nine days of the young Washington Park season. He won twice last week at three-quarters of a mile and in one of those engagement tied the track record which at the time was 1:11.

Those brilliant victories didn't quite convince the Chicago racegoers that he was an exceptionally good 3 year old, so the Chicagoans plunged on Lady Montrose in this race and slightly neglected Bolo.

The result was that he paid off at $8.40 to win, $5.80 to place, and $3.00 to show. Chief Cherokee paid $8.40 to place and $4 to show. Lady Montrose was at $2.60 to show.

Bolo is a 3 year old son of Busy American, which was an extremely fast horse a few seasons back. His dam is Mary Helen, also a stake winner. He races for Hyman Friedberg of Louisville, who is extensively engaged in the tobacco business.

Out of Money Only Twice.

Bolo was making his twelfth start of the season, and in six of those races he has been the winner. He was twice second and twice third. He has been out of the money only twice.

Chief Cherokee and Miss Diavolo made the pace during the early stages of the race. Bolo was not far back of them. When he made his move he completely smothered the two leaders and then drew on away from every other horse in the field.

The first half had been run in :46 3-5 and the first six furlongs in 1:10 3-5. Bolo carried 107 pounds.

Favorites, which have not been doing so well at any time during the Washington Park season, were again in almost complete rout yesterday afternoon. Not a choice had been able to poke his nose home in front during the first six races. Thus it was no wonder the players of favorites were groggy long before the final races were decided.

Impeach was the favorite to go down in defeat in the grade C handicap which served as the secondary feature. Wheeling into the stretch in third place he appeared to have dead aim on Fanfern and Cardarrone out in front of him. Then he weakened and at the finish he was fifth in the six horse field.

Fanfern Returns $15.80.

Fanfern after making the pace all the way, beat Miss Saxon and Cardarrone to the wire by three-quarters of a length. Her mile was run in 1:37 1-5. She paid $15.80 for a $2 ticket.

Rosalind Wins Hambletonian in Two Heats

Lasater wound up sixth in the first heat after being carried wide at the first turn and then breaking into a gallop near the half mile post.

Palin brought the Reynolds colt up fast in the final heat, however, but it got him no better than third money in the final standing as Henry Thomas placed Brownie Hanover fourth in the second mile after forcing Rosalind to her fastest time in the first heat.

Brownie Hanover Earns $7,188.77.

As runner-up, Brownie Hanover's owner received $7,188.77 while Ed Lasater earned $4,323.26 for the southern tobacco magnate.

Fourth money went to Pinero, owned by Thomas I. Havens of Flanders, N. Y., which finished third in the first heat and seventh in the final. Ruth M. Mac, a filly from C. B. Shaffer's Cold Stream stud, came home eighth in the first mile, but moved up to third in the deciding brush to take fifth money in front of Clova, from William Hughes' Cleveland stable.

PHAROLAR, much the best and overcoming early interference from SHATTERPROOF, was forced to lose much ground when beginning to move up on the stretch turn, continued to race wide when coming with a rush thereafter, and won with something left. HILL GIRL, a strong factor from the start, came around the leaders slowly in the drive and held on well, but was no match for the winner. AUTOGRAPH, saving ground throughout and showing speed from the start, weakened slightly when final test came.

PETTY TAW, close up from the start and forced to race wide throughout, held on in improved fashion under light pressure the final quarter and outfinished DURGA at the end. Latter, showing speed from the start, swerved out badly in the stretch and held on fairly well, though failing to withstand the winner. INFLAME improved his position gradually and overtook JADAAN in the closing strides.

DANCE PRINCESS, racing in her best form and having speed from start, forced back FULL UP in bearing over sharply on the far turn, drew into a long lead easily in the stretch, and won in hand. FULL UP, slow to recover after being forced back on far turn, came with determination under strong hand riding in the stretch and outstayed TRANSPORT. Latter lost ground and held on well in a good effort.

BOSTON MARY, a strong factor from the start and saving ground the first half mile, was steered far out in the track for the stretch run and, closing with determination while maintaining keen speed, headed PANIC RELIEF in the final stride. Latter, racing improved and taking command easily, held a wide advantage to the final eighth, then weakened, but barely failed to last. HEADLINER, outrun early, moved up boldly soon after entering the stretch, but was timidly ridden in the late stages when he appeared to have little chance of overtaking the leaders.

BOLO, under a confident and excellently judged ride, was under snug restraint for three-quarters, came around CHIEF CHEROKEE gradually after straightening out in the stretch, and held a good margin easily the final eighth to win with something left. CHIEF CHEROKEE, displaying improved speed and drawing clear soon after leaving the chute, cut out a fast pace and held on well, but could not withstand the winner. LADY MONTROSE, raced wide throughout and slow to begin, made up ground gradually but could not reach the leaders.

FANFERN, rated under snug restraint for three-quarters and saving ground throughout, stood light pressure gamely as she held MISS SAXON safe in the drive. Latter, raced wide throughout and reserved off the early pace, went resolutely in the drive, though failing to get up. CARDARRONE, a strong factor from the start, was in close quarters briefly entering the stretch and came again near the end.

WAYALOFT, also under mild reserve early, moved up when urged, but was no match for the winner and was doing his best to maintain his position. TORNILLO, rushed to the lead after the start, continued well for three-quarters but lost ground thereafter.

IRISH IMAGE, a strong factor after half a mile and on the inside throughout, took command inside the final eighth, then drew out slowly to a handy win. SIS AGNES, kept in the contention under occasional pressure, bore out badly in the stretch and held on gamely under punishment. CENTENNIAL, under mild reserve early, gave good response when urged, but faltered in the final stages.

Water Low in Rivers; Camp Sites Scarce

BY BOB BECKER.

Campers and canoeists planning on taking a trip through the Hennepin canal and possibly continuing down the Mississippi river or up the Rock river from the junction of the Hennepin and the Rock may find it rather difficult this season to pick out a good camp site because of water conditions.

We are receiving a number of letters on the question of water levels, camp sites and fishing since we completed THE TRIBUNE cruise on the Illinois, over the 75 miles of the Hennepin canal and more than 100 miles on the Mississippi. Most of the canoeists ask about camp sites and the fishing possibilities.

Hennepin Canal Filled.

The Hennepin canal had more water in it than any waterway that we have seen so far this season. You don't have to worry about your canoe scraping the bottom of the canal because a feeder canal from Sterling maintains a steady flow of clean water. Rock river, like all of our midwestern streams, is low. This is not the best summer for canoeing rivers, due to the lack of rain to keep up their levels.

On the Mississippi the canoeist can find camp sites if he takes time enough to look for them. The big difficulty is to hit a section of that river where the water comes close to the bank. Over miles of the waterway along which we rode there were mud flats and sandbars between us and high dry ground suited to canoeing.

A Long Walk to Shore.

In some places you would have to beach your canoe and haul your equipment anywhere from a city block to a quarter of a mile or more to reach the timbered shoreline and a good camp site.

From the edge of the river to these high camp sites the walking is none too good. There are muddy flats, sand bars, possible small pools behind a bar and other difficulties resulting from low water. In some places islands that ordinarily are real islands are now some distance from water.

In the lower part of the river where dams hold back the water the canoeist naturally will find much more water and many camp sites. Here there are no bare shorelines or broad bars.

Large Field to Race in $5,000 Prairie Stakes

Training activities at Washington Park yesterday indicated that fourteen 2 year olds will go to the post in the $5,000 added Prairie State stakes on Saturday. M. L. Emerich's Millsdale stable colt, Bottle Cap, has been installed as the early favorite at 5 to 2 with Orientalist the second choice at 7 to 2. Orientalist thrilled the railbirds yesterday morning by galloping a half mile in 47 seconds. He went handily all the way.

Other leading candidates for the Prairie State are Bomar stable's Yellow Tulip, A. C. Compton's Clingdendaal, Oddesa farm's Oddesa Girl, Three D's farm stable's Pansy's First, and Phalasan, and J. W. Parrish's Dellor.

Three riders made their debut at Washington Park yesterday when Apprentice P. Ryan and Jockies R. Montgomery and R. Morris accepted their first mounts there.

BOARD APPROVES STADIUM FIGHT DATE SEPT. 25

Uptown Boxing Club Will Open Sept. 15.

The Chicago Stadium corporation's request for Sept. 25, on which to hold its fall boxing inaugural was approved at a meeting of the Illinois Athletic commission yesterday, as was an application from the Uptown Boxing club, ostensibly a feeder club for the Stadium, to start operations at Arcadia Gardens Sept. 15.

A ten round scrap between Eddie Boyle, Cleveland heavyweight, and Max Marek was approved for presentation at White City Aug. 21 under the promotion of Kid Howard Carr. Carr also was granted Aug. 28 and Sept. 4. He intends to offer Billy Treest, Batavia, Ill., youngster, in the main event Aug. 28, and Leo Lomski in the headliner on the latter date. Mique Malloy, veteran south side promotor, also was given a date at White City, Sept. 11. Leo Rodak is sought in the windup.

Sidetrack California Request.

The California commission's request to have the Vincent Lopez-Dave Levin heavyweight wrestling bout scheduled at Los Angeles next Wednesday recognized as a title affair was sidetracked. California was advised that Illinois would recognize the winner if he defeats Jim McMillen, Ed [Strangler] Lewis, Everett Marshall, and Dean Detton in an elimination tournament sanctioned by this commission and New York.

McMillen will wrestle Bobby Bruns at Peg Benning's arena at Round Lake, Friday. Detton is booked to head the card conducted by Morrie Feldman at the Coliseum Aug. 24.

J. M. Genshlea, secretary of the California board, sought featherweight title recognition for Henry Armstrong, who recently whipped Alberto Arizmendi on the coast. The coast commission was advised that Illinois recognizes Mike Belloise as titleholder in its agreement with New York.

Claim Contract Void.

W. L. Morrison, secretary of the Colorado commission informed Illinois that Hank Bath was a minor when he signed a management contract with Jack Kearns last February and therefore the agreement should be declared void. The commission refused to declare the document void since no copy is on file at the commission. Attorney Frank Gilmore, representing Bath, Fort Morgan, Colo., heavyweight boxer, was referred to the civil courts to break the contract.

Try Nonstop Motorboat Run, Mackinac to Chicago

Ellery L. Wood, Chicago and Ludington, Mich., yachtsman, will leave the Michigan avenue bridge this morning at 9:45 for a cruise to Mackinac Island alone in his 13 foot outboard runabout. On the return run, a 370 mile course from the island back to Chicago, Wood plans to run at top speed without stopping, refuelling on the run at Ludington. If successful, the trip will set a new world record for nonstop running of outboard motor boats. The previous sustained record is about 230 miles from Boston to New York, in 10 hours and 40 minutes.

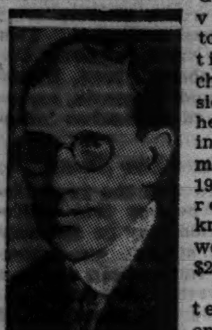
$240,000 STOCK LOSS DISCLOSED BY KETTERING

Auto Official Tells SEC of Trust Flyer.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Charles F. Kettering, inventor and General Motors vice president, told the Securities and Exchange commission today that he put $260,000 into an investment trust in 1930, became a director without knowing it, and wound up with a $240,000 loss.



C. F. KETTERING.

The soft spoken technician was on the stand less than an hour in the commission investigation of investment trusts.

He testified that he acquired 40,000 shares of stock in Yosemite Holding corporation of Detroit in 1930 because he looked upon the deal as an opportunity to produce a participation in diversified security holdings.

He said he regarded investment trusts as "rather like insurance companies."

Ignorant of Regulations.

"You didn't know," asked David Schenker, commission counsel, "that they were not subject to regulations like insurance companies?"

"No, I didn't know that," said Kettering.

"Do you think they should be subject to such regulations?"

The witness paused a moment, then replied with a slow smile:

"Well, you see, I am so far removed from that sort of thing I really wouldn't know."

He testified he did not know about various Yosemite activities outlined by Schenker, and the attorney remarked that "all you know is that you came in with $260,000 and went out with $20,000."

"It wasn't very profitable," Kettering said with a grin.

Sold Equity for $1 a Share.

He testified he liquidated his Yosemite investment when he sold 20,000 shares of stock in Equity corporation of New York for $1 a share. This stock had been given him in exchange for his 40,000 shares of Yosemite when control of Yosemite was taken over by the New York investment trust in 1932.

Schenker asserted that Wallace Groves, Baltimore and New York financier who controled Yosemite, received three shares of equity for each share of his Yosemite holdings when the exchange deal was made, while Kettering received only ½ share of equity for each of his Yosemite shares.

Kettering said he did not know this.

Questioned as to how he happened to become a Yosemite director, Kettering said he did not know how it happened, although he had "tried to find out."

Schenker asserted Kettering had been listed as a director on Yosemite stock promotional literature and that this "made every effective sales material."

Probe Stock Deals.

Resuming the investigation of investment trusts and investment companies following a four day recess, the Securities and Exchange commission also examined Ralph Simonds of the brokerage firms of Simonds & Co., Detroit, who sponsored Yosemite Holding corporation in November, 1929. The evidence involved many stock transactions during the period Yosemite was under domination of the Detroit brokers. Simonds is a former president of the Detroit Stock exchange.

One of the transactions involved the sale of $1,000,000 of common stock against which was charged a commission of $150,000, of which $75,000 went to Baker, Simonds & Co., and $75,000 to the Fidelity Trust company of Detroit. An exchange of stock between Yosemite and British Type Investors of Jersey City was responsible for another commission of $50,000, while a Union Investors, Inc., distribution contract held by Parrott & Co. of New York was bought in by Yosemite for $170,000 which was, SEC investigators asserted, far in excess of the value of the contract.

It was diclosed "a man of mystery"—a "Mr. Hall"—was paid a commission of $10,000 in one of the original Yosemite transactions. Beyond the fact that "Mr. Hall" got the money, the SEC is without evidence.

BUSINESS FAILURES ARE LOWEST SINCE SEPTEMBER OF 1920

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A decline in commercial failures to the lowest figures since the post-war boom days of 1920 was recorded today as an index of improving business health. Figures compiled by Dun & Bradstreet for July made the lowest monthly total since September, 1920, and showed a continuation of the rate of decline in the first week of August.

Rarely since the agency began keeping the casualty record before the civil war has the mortality rate, figured in proportion to the business field, been as low as at present, said Willard L. Thorp, the director of economic research.

On the basis of an index kept by the agency since the end of 1932, July insolvencies were at the annual rate of 38.2 for each 10,000 firms in business. It compared with 44.6 in June and 52.8 in July, 1935. In January, 1933, as business was heading for the banking holiday, it was above 170.

July failures numbered 639, a figure exceeded on the downside only twice for the month since 1894 despite the growth of population and business in the meanwhile. It compared with 902 in the same month last year and 2,596 in July, 1932, around the peak of the depression liquidation movement.

For the year to August 6 failures totaled 6,157 against 7,355 in the corresponding 1935 months, a drop of 16.3 per cent.

RADIO-KEITH FEE REQUESTS CUT BY COURT

New York, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Federal Judge William Bondy granted several allowances and fees today disposing of petitions of attorneys and others connected with the trusteeship of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation. The largest sum granted was $179,271, to the estate of Samuel L. Rothafel in settlement of an employment contract. The Rothafel allowance was a reduction from a requested $231,000 plus claims of 10,000 shares of class A stock. This settled claims for salary for two years and five months.

The Irving Trust company, trustee, got an interim allowance of $35,000 for twenty-six weeks, which was $25,000 less than it had requested. Col. William J. Donovan, solicitor for the trustee, applied for $85,000 and received $50,000.

The accounting firm of Price, Waterhouse & Co., got $3,308. Judge Bondy also authorized the Chemical National Bank and Trust company to transfer $90,620 to the trustees for administration expenses and allowances.

ARCHIE M. ANDREWS NAMED IN SEC STOCK MANIPULATION CHARGE

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission today filed in federal court a complaint alleging the stock of Dictograph Products company has been subject to "manipulation" while listed on the New York Curb exchange.

The complaint asks the court to enjoin several individuals and brokerage concerns from violating the law. Named in the papers were Archie M. Andrews, A. M. Andrews Investment corporation; Pirnie, Simons & Co., Thomas Bracken, Raymond Cheseldine, Vincent J. McCann, and Harry Aaron.

The complaint alleged that through a number brokerage firms "matched" orders were placed to "stimulate" activity in the security, "creating actual or apparent active trading in such security for the purpose of inducing others to buy or sell such security." Transactions covered in the papers were alleged to have occurred between Oct. 1 and Nov. 18, 1935.

The stock has a 1936 range of 5⅞ low, 25 high, and closed today at 22¾.

Personalizing the Personal Loan

Though we have made loans to over half a million people for something like $125,000,000.00 we do not think of any dollar loaned to anyone as just a drop in the bucket.

The Personal Loan and Savings plan fits most everyone who wants to borrow. But we go farther than that. We want to arrange the terms and other conditions of each and every loan to best fit the person who is making it.

That is what we call "personalizing" the personal loan.

STOCK MARKET SWEEPS HIGHER ON BROAD FRONT

Trade News Is Still Main Influence.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 12.—After moving irregularly higher in the first two hours, the stock market staged a determined drive in the afternoon, bringing prices in the general list up fractions to almost 2 points.

While trading was not especially active, sales totaling 1,261,000 shares, the market as a whole displayed a much improved tone, indicating to observers the recent technical adjustment had been beneficial. Short covering also was credited with being a factor in the rise.

Miscellaneous industrials, alcohols, and specialties, led the upturn in the early hours, but as the session progressed steels and other old line shares were prominent in response to a good quality of demand.

Allied Chemical Bounds.

One of the features of the market was a sensational rise of 11 points in Allied Chemical which completely erased all of yesterday's setback of seven points and most of Monday's loss of six. The spurt in this issue was attributed to covering by shorts. The unbroken string of constructive earnings, dividend, and trade news received credit for bolstering bullish sentiment.

Demand for liquor shares gave the market its cue, and a concentrated buying movement brought a good deal of activity and strength for a time. Schenley set the pace for the group with a rise of almost 2 points, and fair sized gains were tacked up by United States Alcohol, Distillers Seagrams, and Industrial Alcohol.

When the enthusiasm for the alcohol issues began to die down, steel shares were taken in hand with good effect. Practically all the losses of the previous session were erased. Bethlehem rose $1.75 and Big Steel did even better.

Rail Shares Improve.

Rail shares improved, though gains, for the most part, were confined to fractions. Union Pacific whirled along to a new peak of 149¾ on a markup of more than 3 points. Rail equipments followed the lead of the carriers. General Railway Signal bounded 2¼ points, while Pullman ascended to another peak price with a gain exceeding a point.

Motor shares failed to get any where, but copper shares attracted much attention with a dividend meeting slated to be held next Tuesday, Kennecott annexed a gain of $1.25 with opinion in the street reported to be that the company could afford a higher payment.

Sugar stocks climbed with confidence. Utilities were in the doldrums. Rubber, oil, amusement, and mail order issues brought higher prices.

Wheat and Corn Prices Rise; Malt Barley at 16 Year Peak

Prices of all grains advanced yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Closing quotations on wheat futures were 1⅝ to 2¾ cents a bushel above Tuesday's final prices and advances in corn ranged up to 2⅛ cents a bushel. September wheat closed at $1.10⅝ and September corn at $1.06⅛ a bushel.

A feature of the market was the sharp upturn in prices of choice grades of malting barley. Prices rose 3 to 5 cents a bushel in Chicago, Minneapolis and Milwaukee, lifting quotations to the highest level since 1920. Since Aug. 1 malting barley has advanced approximately 40 cents a bushel. Carlot sales were made at $1.40 a bushel.

Farmers Hold Supplies.

Reports from the country indicated that farmers are unwilling to sell their barley because of the prospective feed shortage. The 1936 barley crop is estimated by the department of agriculture at 145,000,000 bushels—about 50 per cent of last year's production. With the exception of 1934, when the barley harvest totaled only 117,000,000 bushels, this year's crop is the smallest since 1921.

Brewing companies were reported to have made large purchases of barley recently on the Pacific coast. An estimated 1,750,000 bushels of California barley also is said to have been sold for export.

The department of agriculture's weekly summary of crop and weather conditions served to strengthen corn prices. White corn sold as high as $1.22 a bushel in the cash market, 2 cents a bushel below the best price of the season.

Marked improvement in the European demand for Canadian cash wheat, with sales estimated as high as 2,000,000 bushels, carried all North American markets up sharply. Gains of 1⅝ to 2¾ cents per bushel were recorded, with Minneapolis leading.

Selling of wheat against purchases of corn was a factor in checking the upturn in the local market. Duluth deliveries of durum reacted about 3 cents. Oats gained a major fraction, while rye was up nearly 2 cents.

Unfavorable weather for harvesting the European wheat crop and a resultant letup in liquidation by holders of future contracts, were responsible for Liverpool ignoring the decline in North America Tuesday. The English market yesterday closed a cent per bushel higher.

Compare Closing Prices.

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Wk.ago.	Yr.ago.
Wheat	$1.10⅝	$1.08¾	$1.13⅜	$1.04⅜
Oats	.42¾	.42	.42⅝	.38⅛
Rye	.79⅛	.77⅝	.82¼	.71⅝

Mills were credited with buying September wheat in Chicago toward the close. They also were reported to be purchasing high protein spring wheat at Winnipeg, presumably for mixing purposes.

Trade in oats and rye was somewhat restricted. No. 2 rye in the spot market was quoted at 8 to 11 cents over the September price.

An advance of $1 in tame hay yesterday to a top of $22 per ton put that farm commodity into new high ground for the season. Soy beans grading No. 2 yellow sold at $1.40, equaling the best price since 1934.

PACIFIC MUTUAL CASE RETURNS TO STARTING POINT

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The entire court procedure affecting reorganization of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company of California was placed back at the starting point in Superior court today.

A hearing was held on an order to show cause why the assets of the company, recently declared insolvent, should not be transferred to a newly organized company. The order was issued early in July by Superior Judge Douglas L. Edmonds, who appointed Samuel L. Carpenter Jr., state insurance commissioner, as conservator and liquidator for the old company.

Objections were raised by various policyholders in suits filed to stay the action of Judge Edmonds, the plaintifs raising the question that Judge Edmonds was a policyholder and therefore disqualified from acting.

Judge Henry Willis said today that inasmuch as this objection had been raised and that it was a technical point that might result in legal complications, he had decided to start a new hearing on the question of the appointment of Carpenter as conservator and liquidator and that the entire Pacific Mutual case will take on the status of just starting.

ERICSSON & CO. LOW BIDDER ON LATHROP HOUSING PROJECT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Henry Ericsson & Co. of Chicago today submitted a $2,118,000 low bid for construction of the first section of the Julia C. Lathrop Public Works administration low cost housing project on the northwest side of Chicago.

The only bidder on the second portion was the John Griffiths & Son Construction company of Chicago, with a bid of $2,573,000.

The Griffiths company also submitted bids of $2,359,000 for the first section and $4,846,000 for the entire project.

Offer to Redeem Block of New York Notes Ignored

New York, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—An offer by City Controler Frank J. Taylor to redeem $5,000,000 of an issue of 4 per cent city revenue notes failed today to bring a single one of the $1,000 notes into the finance department offices. As a result the controler said he will draw the numbers of 9,000 notes by lot.

AAA DISCUSSES PLAN TO QUIT CROP 'CONTROL'

May Urge Unlimited Planting Next Year.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—A government "go ahead" signal for unlimited plantings of wheat and corn for 1937 was discussed by agricultural adjustment administration officials today as the drouth cut deeper into the current grain crop.

Definite assurance that wheat acreage will be expanded came from officials after a preliminary conference, headed by J. B. Hutson, the acting farm administrator, on next season's soil conservation program.

Some AAA leaders indicated privately that no federal payments for soil conservation next year would be conditioned on restraint of either wheat or corn seedings.

A definite announcement awaited word from Howard R. Tolley, the AAA administrator, who officials said is conducting a series of field conferences in which producers "will determine for themselves" whether they want any control of grain acreage.

Acreage Is Increased.

"Under the 1936 program," one official pointed out, "there was an increase of more than 3,000,000 acres over 1935 in corn acreage and a 13 per cent increase in winter wheat acreage."

He added that if increased acreage and favorable weather resulted in the accumulation of burdensome supplies next year there was a possibility Secretary Wallace's "ever normal granary" plan would be invoked. This plan calls for storage of surpluses in good years for use in lean years.

Other developments on the drouth front included the addition of 26 counties in Kansas and 10 in Nebraska to official drouth territory, bringing the total eligible for federal relief to 956 counties in 22 states. With today's designation, 80 of the 105 counties in Kansas and all except 14 of Nebraska's 93 counties were on the emergency list.

Fewer Cattle on Feed.

The agriculture department reported cattle being fed for market in corn belt states on Aug. 1 were about 3 per cent more numerous than last year. Increases were listed for all states east of the Mississippi river and for Minnesota and Iowa. However, purchases of cattle for market feeding during the remainder of the year will be lower than last season, it was said, with the corn belt decrease estimated at 30 per cent.

Drop Result of Vacation Shutdowns.

Steel ingot output last week declined 1 point to 71 per cent of plant capacity, still an unusually high mark for this time of year, the magazine, Iron Age, said yesterday. The decline is attributed to a week's vacation shutdown of two plants in the Pittsburgh district. A two point drop was also recorded in the Cleveland-Lorain district, but at Wheeling and in the valleys output was moderately higher, according to the journal.

"While the volume of new business in some products has declined at a few mills," Iron Age said, "this is by no means the general experience. A brisk demand exists, particularly for sheets, bars, and structural steel, that is keeping backlogs almost even with shipments.

Decline Fall Bookings.

Sheet makers could easily book business for delivery in October were they inclined to do so, but the possibility of price advances for the fourth quarter makes this inadvisable."

The magazine pointed out that the market is a sellers' market "in every sense of the word." It said that a month ago steel companies were concerned as to whether steel production could be maintained at an undiminished rate through August, while it now appears almost certain that there will be no important letdown even in September.

Purchases of steel by automobile companies for their new models is now beginning to appear in fairly good volume, according to the magazine.

Scrap Prices Advance.

The pressure at steel mills to get out tonnage rapidly enough to satisfy consumer needs is reflected in the scrap market, where sharp advances last week occurred in all important centers. The Iron Age composite price was boosted to $14.92, the highest since Feb. 18, 1930.

Along with current strong demand for steel, prospects are now developing that promise well for fall, Iron Age said. A healthy revival is noticeable in shipbuilding, more private work is appearing in the construction field, and railroads are considering further purchases of rails, track supplies, and rolling stock.

The Iron Age composite price dropped to $18.73, the first change since November, 1935.

COTTON GAINS UP TO $1.25 A BALE ON WEATHER NEWS

Increasing reports of crop deterioration from Oklahoma and Texas, where excessive heat and continued dry weather has prevailed of late, greatly enlivened speculative interest in the cotton market yesterday. There was no material pressure and closing trades were about the top. Chicago gained 17 to 24 points and other markets rose 16 to 25 points. The maximum upturn was equal to $1.25 per bale.

Domestic consumption of cotton in July was estimated at 575,000 bales, compared with 557,000 bales in June and 391,000 bales in July, 1935. Spot cotton closed 15 to 20 points higher, with New Orleans, Houston, and Galveston at 12.40 cents per pound and New York at 12.60 cents. Range of futures prices in cents per pound follows:

WEEK'S POWER PRODUCTION IS THIRD LARGEST

Hydro-Electric Operators Worried by Drouth.

Electric power production last week totaled 2,079,149,000 kilowatt hours, the third largest output in history and an increase of 14.3 per cent over the 1,819,371,000 kilowatt hours produced in the corresponding week last year, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. Output in the preceding week amounted to 2,079,137,000 kilowatt hours.

Indications of drouth influence were seen by some power men in the output figures. They pointed out that for last week a relative shrinkage in output in the drouth stricken west central area was noticeable. This district includes North and South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, and Wisconsin, except the St. Louis and Milwaukee industrial sections.

Concerned Over Low Streams.

It was learned that the power industry is apprehensive that hydro-electric generation may be seriously affected unless streams are replenished by heavy rains within the next two or three weeks. One power authority estimated that about half of the hydro-electric generating capacity of the nation was in drouth sections, especially western states.

Output in the Chicago district last week continued at the unusually high summer levels of recent weeks. For the last two weeks this high output has been the result of new records in output to industrial customers and for the three previous weeks it was principally due to abnormally warm weather, according to the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago.

Gain is 11.6 Per Cent.

Electricity output here amounted to 115,646,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 103,644,000 kilowatt hours in the corresponding period a year ago, an increase of 11.6 per cent. Output in kilowatt hours and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district follow:

Week ended.	1936.	1935.	Per cent increase.
Aug. 8	115,646,000	103,644,000	11.6%
Aug. 1	114,993,000	103,980,000	10.6%
July 25	114,147,000	102,439,000	11.4%
July 18	118,052,000	100,335,000	17.7%

Power production for the country as a whole made its best showing in the central industrial area, where the increase was 16.5 per cent above a year ago. This gain, however, was smaller than that of the preceding week.

The national total was again the largest on record for the particular period of the year, far exceeding the corresponding week in 1929.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh eggs met a moderate demand yesterday with prices unchanged to ¼c per doz lower. Receipts, 10,891 cases. Butter was unchanged to ½c per lb higher. Receipts, 8,572 tubs. Potatoes were weaker. Receipts totaled 72 cars, with 322 cars on team track. Live poultry sold at unchanged prices. Receipts, 1 car and 40 trucks. Quotations follow:

ACTION OF RFC ON MIDDLE WEST DEAL AWAITED

Officials Silent on Plans for Sale of Stock.

La Salle street interest in the doings of major stockholders of Middle West corporation turned yesterday to speculation on whether or not the Reconstruction Finance corporation is negotiating seriously for sale of its 5.2 per cent interest in the company which rose out of the ruins of Samuel Insull's once mighty utility empire.

Sale of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company's 14.3 per cent interest—475,046 shares—is regarded as a foregone conclusion. Purchase of this large block by Chicago corporation and A. G. Becker & Co. is to be announced officially this week if legal details are ironed out.

Comment Withheld.

Although reports have been widely circulated that the same two concerns are negotiating for the RFC's 173,955 shares of Middle West, none of the three respective parties has given any indication of whether a deal actually is likely to be consummated.

Any negotiations that may be in progress are being handled out of Washington, the Chicago office of the RFC said yesterday, commenting that it was uninformed as to the main office's activities in the matter.

In financial circles, however, it was thought that the RFC may not be in any hurry to dispose of the stock. Originally, the Central Republic Bank and Trust company was one of the major creditors of the old Middle West Utilities.

Posted as Collateral.

When the bank negotiated the $90,000,000 "Dawes" loan, the collateral posted with the bank for loans was pledged to the RFC. The RFC participated in the reorganization of Middle West, receiving its large block of stock in the new company in exchange for the collateral.

As a result, the new Middle West stock is one of the larger holdings the RFC has, with which to liquidate the Central Republic loan. Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC, has estimated that the loan will fail to pay out by at least $10,000,000.

Consequently, some observers argue that the RFC will hold for a better price than the $12 a share accepted by the Continental bank for its Middle West holdings, seeking to make a profit on the transaction to offset some of the losses it will sustain on other holdings.

SEC RESTRICTS DELAY IN FILING NEW ISSUE DATA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The securities commission said today that without further study it would not make a "general practice" of permitting corporations to supply it with certain information regarding securities after registration statements for the issues had become effective.

When a statement for registration of securities is filed with the commission it becomes effective after 20 days unless action to delay its effectiveness is taken by the federal agency. When it becomes effective, the securities may be marketed.

The commission said today it had received "a number of inquiries" as to whether it would permit corporations to supply the names of underwriters, public offering prices of securities and other information in the form of amendments to registration statements after they had become effective.

The SEC said this procedure had been followed "only as an experiment" in one case and that "The commission is not perpared at this time, in the absence of further study, to consent to this procedure as a general practice." In the "experimental" case the New York Edison company was authorized to supply certain data after a registration statement covering $30,000,000 of bonds had become effective.

YELLOW CAB CO. WILL DISSOLVE WAVERLY CORP.

Stockholders of the Chicago Yellow Cab Company, Inc., at a special meeting in New York yesterday approved a proposal for the dissolution of the Waverly corporation, a holding company which is a wholly owned subsidiary, and the retirement of 100,000 shares of capital stock.

The stock to be canceled is held by the Waverly corporation, having been acquired in the open market some time ago. This will reduce the total number of shares of Chicago Yellow Cab to 300,000.

More than 200,000 shares of the 300,000 shares available were voted in favor of dissolving the Waverly corporation.

BOARD OF TRADE TO ALTER TRADING HOURS SEPT. 28

Chicago Board of Trade members yesterday voted 482 to 234 to change the hours of futures trading in commodities other than cotton to 10:15 a. m. to 2:00 p. m., eastern time, except on Saturdays when the hours will be from 10:15 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. The new schedule will become effective Monday, Sept. 28.

Of the 206 out of town ballots cast, 191 approved the suggested change. Most outside daylight saving areas resume standard time Sept. 28. The hours at present are from 9:30 a. m. to 1:15 p. m. daily, and 9:30 a. m. to noon on Saturdays.

Gain in Meat Supply Is Small in View of Big Live Stock Sales

Accumulation of meat in cold storage houses last month was surprisingly small considering the large increase in slaughtering of live stock, department of agriculture figures disclosed yesterday. On Aug. 1 all packers had 548,160,000 pounds of meat in storage, exclusive of lard, an increase of only 13,753,000 pounds or less than 3 per cent over the July 1 holdings.

A year ago packers held only 471,074,000 pounds of meats, but excepting 1935, the Aug. 1 holdings were the lighest on record for that date. Two years ago the reserve stocks of meat aggregated 784,895,000 pounds, and in 1933 the total was 926,261,000 pounds.

Beef Below Average.

Beef stocks were 42,854,000 pounds on Aug. 1, compared with 41,222,000 pounds on July 1, and 49,473,000 pounds a year ago. The five year average was 44,123,000 pounds. The largest increase over a year ago was in pork, but this meat showed the most decrease compared with "normal" Aug. 1 stocks because it was against pork that the AAA directed its most extensive programs to reduce production.

On Aug. 1 only 442,483,000 pounds were on hand, the smallest on record for that date, except 1935 when 369,910,000 pounds were in store. Two years ago packers carried 643,566,000 pounds and three years ago the total was 808,322,000 pounds. The five year average for Aug. 1 was 635,333,000.

Lamb and Mutton Figures.

Holdings of lamb and mutton, 1,469,000 pounds, compared with 1,122,000 a month ago, 2,109,000 a year ago, and a five year average of 1,625,000.

Lard stocks increased to 116,824,000 pounds against 106,774,000 a month earlier, 68,435,000 a year ago and a five year average of 148,147,000. Excepting a year ago, lard stocks were smallest for Aug. 1 since 1919.

Miscellaneous meats totaled 61,354,000 pounds, compared with 56,933,000 a month ago, 49,582,000 a year ago and a five year average of 64,593,000.

While the aggregate increase in meats was small during July, more than ordinary interest was shown in freezing beef for future selling, the survey showed. During July 16,314,000 pounds of beef were placed in the freezer, compared with 11,539,000 in June and 13,963,000 a year ago.

Following are Aug. 1 storage figures, in pounds, last three ciphers omitted:

Butter Stock Small.

Stocks of butter in cold storage on Aug. 1, aggregated 103,393,000 pounds, the smallest holding at this season since 1923. A year ago supplies were 149,628,000 pounds.

A total of 7,334,000 cases of eggs was in storage on Aug. 1, the smallest since 1920 with the exception of 1932 and 613,000 cases short of supplies on Aug. 1, 1935. Little change was shown in holdings of frozen eggs and of cheese as compared with a year ago. Frozen poultry stocks were about 8,000,000 pounds larger.

SHORTAGE FEARS LIFT PRICES OF CATTLE AND HOGS

Swine Net Farmers Best Return of Year.

Prices of hogs and cattle moved higher here yesterday as packers bought heavy quantities because of fears that a meat shortage may occur this fall as a result of recent liquidation of live stock recently in the wake of the drouth.

Prices paid to farmers for hogs set a new high for the year. The cattle upturn was accomplished despite the fact that receipts were the second largest for Wednesday since January, 1935.

Top hogs in eastern markets reached $12, paid in Buffalo. The Chicago top advanced 15 cents to $11.40, which was 90 cents higher than a month ago.

Average 15 Cents Higher.

The average price here was $10.05 yesterday, a gain of 15 cents, although there were numerous instances of 25 cent upturns in better grade lights under 180 pounds and in the top classes of butchers over 250 pounds. The latter kinds sold closer to the top quotations, with the spread in prices the narrowest in about two weeks.

Hogs bringing the top quotations averaged 210 to 240 pounds, although prime 270 pound butchers sold as high as $11.15 and some 285 pound stock reached $11.

Cattle Top $10.

The top price for cattle yesterday was $10, paid for 1,123 to 1,212 pound steers, this mark equaling the highest sale since April. Demand continued to favor lighter steers and yearling stock that provide the lightest carcasses and smallest cuts of beef.

Some medium and long fed steers declined as much as 25 cents. Beef cows and hefers held steady. Canners and cutters were firm.

The break in the lamb market was halted. Top native and western range stock sold at $10. The culls from the range lambs sold to farmers for fattening upward to $8.25, as high as any time this year.

CROPS MATURING EARLY BECAUSE OF HEAT, DROUTH

Because of extreme heat and dryness in almost all leading agricultural states, main grain crops are completing their period of growth earlier than usual this season, according to the weekly weather report of the department of agriculture. Corn continued to deteriorate except in parts of the extreme east, the bureau said.

Much of the corn crop is being cut for fodder and silage, and in places it is being used for emergency stock feed. either after cutting or by pasturing. A large part of the crop is a total failure in the plains states, Missouri, and parts of Iowa.

Pastures Dried Out.

Most pastures either have dried out completely or are badly burned, except in some sections east of the Mississippi river. Second and third cuttings of alfalfa and second crops of clover have been cut short. Grain sorghums, said the report, have made poor progress and are in poor condition over most of the southwest.

Soy beans and other late crops have shown improvement in parts of the southeast. Feed and water shortage have forced a heavy movement of live stock eastward from the plains states and some adjacent sections. Potatoes and truck crops deteriorated in most of the northern, western areas and a part of the southeastern sections.

ILLINOIS PROSPECTS SLASHED.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Illinois corn prospects were reduced 40 per cent by July's heat and drouth, the Aug. 1 report of the agricultural department announced today in indicating a crop of 197,434,000 bushels.

"With the exception of 1934, when the crop totaled 167,808,000 bushels, this would be the smallest corn crop harvested in Illinois since 1887," said A. J. Surratt, agricultural statistician.

Since the Aug. 1 survey, further corn deterioration has been reported, although slight improvement due to recent showers in some places was noted today by the weather bureau.

LARD CLOSES AT TOP WITH GAINS OF 27½ TO 32½ CENTS

Aggressive commission house buying of lard futures, based on the strength in corn and expectations that the shortage in the crop of that grain would result in a market reduction in production of lard, carried prices up rapidly yesterday. Despite hedging pressure and profit taking final prices were the best for the day, showing net gains of 27½ to 32½ cents per 100 pounds.

Trade was heavy. Considerable buying was said to have been made for investment purposes.

Clear bellies [salt pork] closed nominally unchanged. Cash lard was quoted at $12.02½ per 100 pounds; loose, $11.30; leaf, $11.25, and clear bellies, $13.50. Range of futures prices per 100 pounds follows:

quota of emergency jobs for distressed farmers, and reported that 56,893 farmers had been given work in nine great plains states.

Howard Hunter, assistant administrator, added that 25,000 job quotas for each of the Dakotas would be adjusted to "meet conditions as they developed." He said jobs would be provided by the end of the week for farmers in Iowa and Wisconsin, and that the first of 25,000 southern Illinois farmers to be employed probably would be put to work Monday.

WALLACE PLANS PARLEYS

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, was in Chicago again yesterday conferring with agricultural leaders concerning preliminary plans for calling fall regional agricultural conferences throughout the United States to formulate state and federal rural aid programs for 1937. Definite dates have not been set, but all of these meetings probably will be held before the presidential election on Nov. 3. They will be fashioned after similar conferences held by the present administration during the last three years.

Although these farm gatherings are ostensibly non-political, the ones planned for this fall are expected to have an important bearing on the election. They will give Secretary Wallace and his aids an opportunity to review the attempts New Dealers have made to help farmers in the last few years and to tell farmers what they plan to do for them in the future.

Works on Crop Insurance.

The secretary, now familiarly known among farmers as Corn Wallace, expects his new crop insurance plan to be more fully ripened so that it can be brewed in the pot with other proposed agricultural remedies. The administration's new $500,000,000 soil conservation program for 1937 will be given much time at the regional meetings.

These and other subjects that are to come up at the fall conferences were discussed yesterday by the secretary with Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, a supporter of the Roosevelt administration's agricultural policies. The two conferees pointed out that since the federal government must turn over the administration of the soil conservation program to the various states after Jan. 1, 1938, steps must be taken to make the shift from Washington to the agricultural colleges after next year, as originally planned.

States Must Pass Soil Laws.

Secretary Wallace said that during the coming winter it will be necessary for state legislatures to pass laws providing for local administration of the soil program if federal assistance is to be obtained. At the fall regional meetings the secretary and his assistants along with farmers, will thrash out the details of the permanent soil program to guide state legislators in drafting their laws.

"In making plans for 1937 the situation is complicated to some extent by the drouth," said Mr. Wallace. "In holding the regional conferences the department of agriculture is following its practice of consulting farm leaders and technical people about fundamental policies."

The secretary stopped here en route to Washington after an address in Council Bluffs, Ia., and a trip through his home state of Iowa to see the crops. He estimates that corn in western Iowa will yield 10 bushels or less per acre, while in the eastern part of the state it is "very much better."

LARGER SUPPLIES HAY AVAILABLE FOR DROUTH AREA

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 12.—(AP)—E. O. Pollock, in charge of the federal live stock feed agency here, said today his office had listed 189,000 carlots of hay and other roughage available for farmers in the nation's drouth sections. Asserting the feed situation at present is much more encouraging than during the drouth of two years ago, Pollock pointed out that the largest listing made in 1934 was 162,841 cars, compiled in October of that year.

"The farmers are going at the matter of preserving feed supplies in a businesslike manner," Pollock reported. "They are saving all of their grain straw, planning to conserve as much corn fodder as possible."

"It has been reported from reliable sources that about 630,000 head of cattle and 1,200,000 head of sheep will be liquidated in Wyoming, Montana, and North and South Dakota."

RFC Gets Large Premium on Sale of PWA Issues

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation announced today it had realized a premium of $261,830. From the sale yesterday of 37 issues of bonds purchased from the Public Works administration. Face amount of the bonds was $4,084,200, the RFC said, and they brought, $4,346,030, or an average price of 106.41.

Canadian Wheat Carryover Falls 94 Million Bushels

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Dominion bureau of statistics today issued complete figures for the nation's wheat carryover at the end of the crop year, July 31, placing it at 108,747,059 bushels, a decline of 94,525,957 since the end of the 1934-'35 crop year and the lighest figure in seven years.

OLDEST CHICAGO LOOP CINEMA TO CLOSE DOORS

Shoe Chain to Take Space Next May.

BY AL CHASE.

Taps will be sounded next May for Chicago's first "high priced" movie theater, the Orpheum, at 112 South State street. Kitty Kelly Shoes, a New York corporation operating a chain of footwear shops, yesterday leased the five story building used by the theater, and after extensive remodeling will occupy it next spring with its first Illinois store.

For nearly thirty years the Orpheum, a 640 seat house, has been showing pictures on State street. It has outlasted every other downtown cinema which was operating when it opened its doors in 1907.

One Time Nickel Show.

Up to five years ago Jones, Linick & Schaefer operated the house. Since then it has been subleased and operated by Warner Brothers. Originally showing several short reels for an admission fee of five cents, the managers, J., L. & S., in 1912 decided to boost the price 100 per cent—to ten cents. It was the first Chicago moving picture theater to charge more than a nickel and the first to show features. Later the price schedule was raised to the present level.

According to Aaron J. Jones, Jones, Linick & Schaefer leased the theater in 1907 from the owner, the Ledyard Realty Trust, of which James C. Ayer, Charles F. Ayer, and Frederick Ayer Jr. are trustees, for 15 years at a gross rental of $47,500 annually. In 1922 they renewed the lease for ten years at $35,000 annually, plus taxes, which have averaged $18,000, and in 1932 it was renewed for five years at $40,000 plus taxes.

Plan Air Conditioned Store.

According to Russell Tyson of Aldis & Co., who represented the owners, the theater will be torn out next May and the basement and first and second floors completely remodeled into an air conditioned, modern shoe shop. The building is 40x120. The new lessees have not yet decided what to do with the upper floors, which are at present unused.

D. I. F. Murphy of Murphy & Co., Chicago, Joseph A. Aronson of the United States Realty company, Pittsburgh, and S. J. Waterman, vice president of the shoe company, represented the lessee. Neither the length of the lease nor the terms were disclosed. It was said that it is on a minimum guarantee and percentage basis.

LAKE MICHIGAN FERRY VIEWED AS FREIGHT AID

Water Route to Chicago Would Help Truckers.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The mouth of the St. Joseph river, first recognized as a logical shipping point by the early French explorers, now is proposed as an eastern terminal for a modern motor vehicle ferry across Lake Michigan to Chicago. The distance from the Municipal Pier at the foot of Grand avenue by water is 60 miles, while it is 95 miles here by way of the highway around the foot of the lake.

From the farmers' market here, said to be the largest in the world, approximately 300 trucks are departing daily to haul produce around the foot of the lake to Chicago, southern Wisconsin, northern Illinois, and to the Indiana industrial cities near Chicago. This pavement freighting is seen as part of the available trafic awaiting a ferry service.

Seen Aid to Producers.

R. D. Krieger, Benton Harbor market master, pointed out that cheaper transportation to Chicago consumers would increase the profits of the growers of Michigan fruit and vegetables. The consumers, of course, would benefit likewise.

Marine engineers estimate that highway trailers could be ferried across Lake Michigan for a small fraction of the cost of the trip by land around the foot of the lake. The truck trip by highway requires at least four hours one way. Indiana licenses must be purchased by the regular carriers. The heavy vehicles burn a gallon of gasoline every five or eight miles.

Tractors could push the trailers onto the ferry at a dock here or in the twin city of St. Joseph. The tractors and their drivers would not have to cross the lake. Other power units with other drivers would meet the ship in Chicago. Labor costs would thus be reduced.

Trucker Uses Similar System.

An operation similar to this is now functioning from Chicago over railroads. Jack Keeshin, manager of a fleet of common carriers, puts trailers on flat cars in Chicago at night to be unloaded in the morning at St. Paul and at Davenport.

The trucks moving south from here with fruits and vegetables form only a small part of the trafic awaiting the inauguration of a modern ferry service by private capital when political conditions are less discouraging to business enterprise. A 400 foot ship capable of navigating the 60 miles in three hours through winter ice as well as through the summer waters would cost approximately a million dollars, a sizable investment to expose to New Deal brain trust meddling.

Other possible trafic for the ferry from the tourist travel, from the automobile industry, and from general merchandising will be discussed in another article.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Virtually all classes of listed bonds moved forward today on the New York exchange on a slightly smaller turnover. Demand for United States government long term obligations carried seven issues to new all time high records.

Net gains of 1-32 to 6-32 point ruled among the treasury bonds at the close. The 2⅞s of 1955-'60 were the most active on the list and advanced ⅛ point to a new peak, while the higher coupon issues established new marks since their dates of issue.

Trading Highly Selective.

Trading among domestic corporation bonds was again highly selective although the conspicuous price movement was on the upside. The sharp advances in several domestic corporate loans was not reflected to any great extent in the combined group price average, however.

The International Telephone and Telegraph issues continued to rally on gains of 1¼ to 2¼ points. Eastern Cuban Sugar issues rose 1⅞ to 2⅛ points, Warren Brothers issues, 5 to 6½ points, and Lehigh Valley bonds 1 to 2⅞ points. Others held within restricted trading range with a firm undertone.

Foreign List Improves.

The market for foreign dollar bonds was materially improved under the leadership of Polish and Italian loans. The former rose 1¼ to 2½ points, while Italian government, municipal, and corporate issues responded to a better demand with moderate gains.

Cuban Public Works 5½s were also in brisk demand and moved up 3⅜ points. The rise was based on negotiations now going on in Havana toward the resumption of service on those bonds.

SILVER FUTURES.

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—(AP)—SILVER—Futures closed steady, unchanged to 5 points higher. No sales. Closing bids: September, 44.56c per oz; December, 44.75c; March, 44.75c.

North American Company.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me about North American stock. Is it speculative?—P. W.

Answer: North American company, one of the largest utility organizations in the country, controls four groups of operating companies in widely separated and industrially diversified sections of the United States. Territories served have a population of 5,000,000.

One subsidiary group operates in Milwaukee and neighboring cities and in the upper peninsula of Michigan, furnishing transportation service as well as electricity in Milwaukee. The Missouri-Illinois group furnishes electricity to St. Louis and 100 other communities of the Mississippi valley. The Ohio group provides electric service in Cleveland and 130 centers along Lake Erie. The District of Columbia group furnishes transportation in Washington as well as electric service there and in neighboring Maryland and Virginia.

In addition, the company has a 19 per cent interest in Detroit Edison, 74 per cent control of North American Power and Light [in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, and Kansas], and 33 per cent interest in Pacific Gas and Electric.

After an excellent record through 1931, earnings declined sharply in the next three years, but the company continued to operate on a distinctly profitable basis. The record follows:

	Gross revenue.	Net income.	Inc. com. share.
1935	$107,030,000	$13,431,000	$1.35
1934	101,387,000	10,792,000	1.04
1933	100,953,000	11,552,000	1.19
1932	107,412,000	16,416,000	1.94
1931	117,922,000	24,273,000	3.29

In the twelve months ended June 30, 1936, gross was $111,640,000 and net was $14,881,000 or $1.52 a share.

Further expansion of earnings is expected as business improves generally. Higher taxes and other costs, however, stand to act as a brake. Electric output set a new record in 1935, and is continuing upward this year. Larger volume is required to produce profits, rates having been reduced considerably in recent years.

A policy of paying dividends in stock from 1923 to 1934 and building up properties out of earnings has given the company generating capacity preparing it to take care of increased business with no large expenditures for some years to come.

North American has 606,359 shares of 6 per cent $50 par preferred stock which is rather high grade. The 8,575,335 common shares appear to be of fairly good grade now.

FOREIGN MONEYS CONTINUE TO RISE AGAINST DOLLAR

Foreign currencies continued to rise in terms of American funds in the foreign exchange market yesterday. The improved international outlook was apparently responsible for the further improvement. Until recently European currencies were under pressure because of widespread speculative selling based on the threat of the Spanish civil war to international peace.

French and Swiss francs were slightly higher in the New York market. The French franc closed at 6.58⅞ cents compared with Tuesday's price of 6.58¾ cents. Swiss francs were quoted at a point higher at 32.62 cents. The British pound closed at $5.02½ as compared with the previous close of $5.0242¾. The Dutch guilder was exception to the trend and declined 2 points to 67.92 cents.

A shipment of $4,700 gold from Guatemala was received at New York and placed under earmark for foreign account. At San Francisco $545,000 gold arrived from Australia.

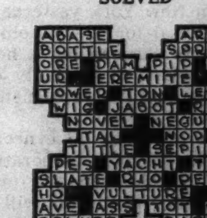
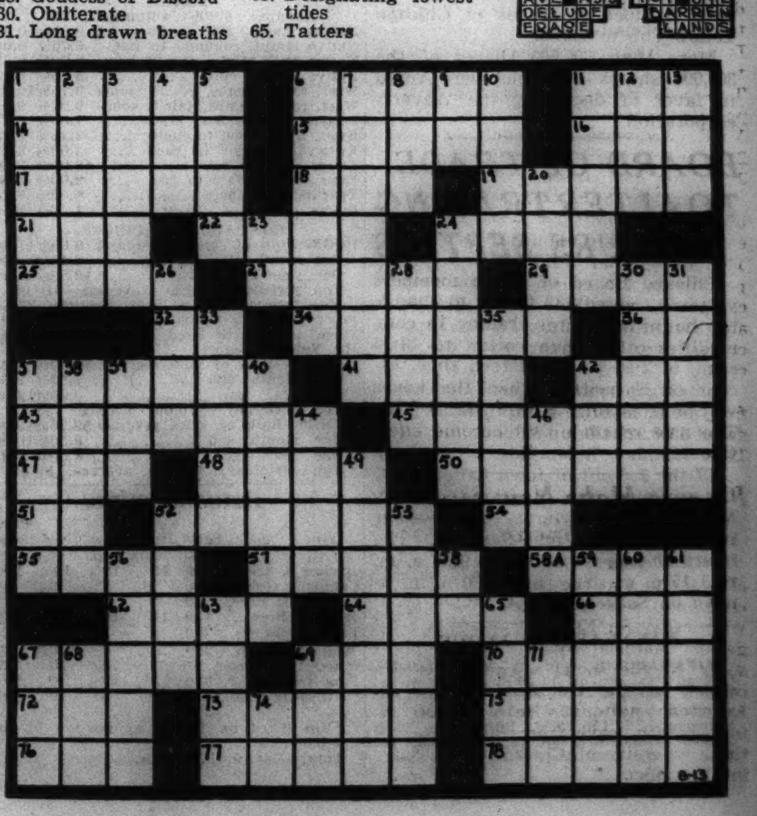
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





EUROPE FAVORED IN TRADE WITH U. S. DURING JUNE

Imports Top Last Year, but Exports Hold Steady.

American imports from Europe in June were substantially above the corresponding month of 1935, but exports to Europe showed practically no change, according to detailed figures on the month's foreign trade released yesterday by the United States department of commerce.

As previously reported in the department's preliminary statement for June, the country's total foreign trade for the month again tipped in favor of foreign countries. Total exports were $184,908,000, compared with imports of $190,387,000. In June last year the country had a favorable balance with exports of $170,244,000 and imports of $156,754,000.

European Trade Favored.

The "breakdown" of June figures in yesterday's report showed Europe sold $53,543,000 of goods to the United States during the month, compared with $42,568,000 in June, 1935. European purchases of American goods were $69,400,000, approximately the same as June, 1935, when Europe's purchases amounted to $69,380,000.

American trade with Canada in June showed a material expansion with both imports and exports registering increases. Exports to Canada were $34,875,000 against $27,642,000 last year. Imports of Canadian goods totaled $29,409,000, against $23,095,000 in June a year ago.

For the first six months of 1936 Canadian sales to this country increased faster under the reciprocal trade agreement than American exports to the dominion.

Trade Ratio Narrowed.

Exports for the period were reported by the department at $182,773,000 compared with $158,438,000 for the first half of 1935. Purchases of Canadian goods by the United States reached $158,111,000, against $130,400,000 in the first six months last year.

June exports of the United States to South American countries showed a small increase over a year ago but imports from the same countries declined. Exports were $15,828,000, against $14,046,000 last year. Imports totaled $20,052,000, compared with $21,052,000.

The United States' trade account with the southern American countries showed a balance in favor of the latter for the six months period as well as for June. Exports $94,965,000, against $85,359,000 in the first half of 1935, while imports were $142,938,000 against $139,367,000, respectively.

COPPER DEMAND INCREASES; PRICE LEVEL IS FIRM

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Breaking the lull since the record buying movement in July, domestic demand for copper increased sharply today, trade circles reported. Preliminary estimates of the day's transactions placed the tonnage at about 2,130 tons against 800 tons yesterday. The business was done at 9¾ cents, which has been the firm market since the ¼ cent advance last month.

Producing circles said they did not expect any immediate further advance in the price, but it was indicated that in the event of resumption of buying on a scale comparable to last month's it would be difficult to hold the price down. The July total sales approximated 175,000 tons, the largest shown in the available records.

JULY BUILDING PERMIT TOTAL DIPS 15.4 PER CENT

New York, Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The total value of building permits declined 15.4 per cent in July from the abnormally large June figure, Dun & Bradstreet reported today on the basis of its survey of 215 cities. This was more than the usual 10.5 per cent seasonal decrease, but if New York City were excluded a gain of 2.8 per cent was indicated for the July-June comparison.

Except for June, the contemplated building expenditures were the largest for July of any month in five years. The July dollar volume of building permits in 215 cities was $95,281,845, compared with $112,640,106 in June and $54,191,787 in July, 1935. The increase over last year was 75.8 per cent.

Miscellaneous.

MEN.

On account of the steady progress and growth of our company we are in a position to take on a few additional men from time to time; the requirements for these positions are quite reasonable, so that the average man of good habits and clean-cut appearance will stand a fair chance of being employed.

The company has been uniquely successful throughout this depression, due to extraordinary salability of our electric unit. In fact, 1936 is our seventh successive record sales year. In line with our steady gains in business, the earnings of our men are higher; not only are more men earning $30 and $35 a week in commissions alone, but in recent months we have issued many weekly pay checks running between $75.00 and $180.00; throughout the entire country. These earnings, of course, are generally made by more experienced men, but there are exceptions where new men have quickly advanced themselves to the higher incomes.

Similar positions are available in our local office to a few more men, ages 25 to 47, permanently residing in South Side, who are qualified to learn this work and who would be satisfied with earnings of $115.00 monthly while learning, provided they saw opportunities for increases with experience; the men accepted for these positions will be given a very thorough course of training free of charge.

For personal interview call Thursday, Aug. 13th, 2:30 to 3:00 p. m. only, 841 East 63d-street, Suite 400. Ask for Mr. Kramer.
